NOTIFICATION.

Dated 28th December 1896.

No. 5814-Ex.-223.—Tenders in the form hereunto appended are hereby invited for the exclusive privilege of the manufacture of Arrack for the territories of Mysore, inclusive of the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, for a period of five years from 1st July 1897 to 30th June 1902.

2. The contract for the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore is included in this Notification with the permission of the Resident in Mysore.

3. The privilege for which tenders are now invited will be conceded subject to the conditions specified in paragraph 8 of this Notification, and to the Excise Laws and Rules passed by Government from time to time It will not include the manufacture or sale of Toddy, or of "Foreign Spirits and Foreign Fermented Liquors," or of Country Beer.

4. The quantity of Arrack required is estimated to be between 46,000 and 48,000 gallons a month, the quantity actually issued from the Bangalore Distillery in the year 1895-96 having been 551,935 gallons No quantity is, however, guaranteed to the manufacturer, who is bound by actual requirements, be the same more or less than the estimated quantity.

5. Tenderers must specify the lowest rate per gallon at which they will supply all the Arrack required, of the strength of 20° under proof, during the whole period of the contract. The rate of price thus tendered for and accepted by Government shall be the price at which Arrack of 20° under-proof will be sold by the manufacturer to retail shop-keepers and to renters of the right of retail vend, during the currency of the contract granted under this Notification. For double-distilled spirits and other special liquors of greater or lesser strength than 20° under-proof, which may be specially manufactured and issued with the approval of the Government, the manufacturer will be allowed to fix his own prices; but for single-distilled spirits of greater or lesser strength than 20° under-proof, the price chargeable by him will be according to such strength proportionately on the rate fixed for Arrack 20° under-proof in accordance with Casella's Rules.

6. Each tender must be accompanied by a deposit of Rs. 5,000 in cash, or in Government securities, duly endorsed in favour of "The Dewan of Mysore," and enclosed in a cover superscribed with the words "Tender for the exclusive privilege of the Manufacture of Arrack," and must be sent to the Excise Commissioner at Bangalore so as to reach him before noon on Tuesday, the 2nd March 1897, after which date no tender will be received. The tenders will be opened by the Excise Commissioner at his office in Bangalore at 12 o'clock noon on the 2nd March 1897, in the presence of the applicants who may be present. The final disposal of the tenders will rest with the Government, who reserve to themselves full power to reject any or all of the tenders without assigning any reason. The deposits made by the applicants whose tenders are rejected will be returned to them on their application.

7. The applicant, whose tender may be finally accepted by the Government, shall, within eight days of the acceptance of his tender being communicated to him, deposit at the Huzur Treasury, Bangalore, a further sum in cash, or in Government securities, duly endorsed in favour of "The Dewan of Mysore," to make up with the deposit previously made the sum of one lakh of rupees; and shall execute an agreement in the prescribed form on proper stamp, binding himself to conform to the conditions hereinafter set forth, and if he fails or refuses to sign the agreement, or to make the deposit required, the deposit already made will be forfeited to Government, and the contract otherwise disposed of.

For the use of the Distillery buildings near Bangalore, together with the existing system of water-supply thereto, the contractor shall pay rent to Government at Rs. 500 per mensem. Such improvement or addition to the said buildings or water-supply as may be approved by the Government will be carried out at Government cost, subject to the payment by the contractor of such additional rent or rate as may be fixed by Government.

II.—The contractor will be required to have ordinarily a month's supply (46,000 gallons at the present rate of consumption) and never less than 23,000 gallons of admissible spirits in terms of 20° under-proof in store at the Distillery.

III.—The contractor will be allowed to purchase spirit from any Sugar Factory which may be established in Mysore, and which may be authorized by Government to distil Arrack Should the contractor himself establish a Sugar Factory and distil Arrack therein, with the permission of the Government, he will be bound to keep in stock such quantities of spirit at such Factory as may be fixed by Government.

IV.—In outlying tracts where, owing to small consumption or other causes, there is reason to suspect illicit distillation, Government will be at liberty to establish out-stills, giving the contractor the first refusal of so doing.

V.—The contractor shall, upon receipt by him of price at the rate fixed by his contract, sell the spirit at the Government Distillery or other place where he may be allowed to manufacture. Such sales shall only be—

1st.—For the supply of such Bonded Depôts as Government may, from time to time, establish and maintain;

2nd.—To separate shop-keepers licensed to sell in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, in the Cities of Bangalore and Mysore and in other places to which the Separate Shop System may be extended;

4th.—To the licensees for the wholesale and retail vend of "Foreign Spirits and Foreign Fermented Liquors" and for the sale of the same in Refreshment-rooms and in Hotels and Boarding-houses.

No spirit shall be allowed to be removed from the Government Distillery, or other authorized place of manufacture, or from a Bonded Depôt, unless the purchaser produces a Treasury receipt for the amount of duty paid therefor.

VI.—The contractor shall be bound to conform to the provisions of Act XXII of 1881 (the Excise Act), as in force in the Civil and Military Station and as introduced into Mysore with certain modifications by Regulation III of 1885, as well as to the Rules framed thereunder by Government from time to time.

VII.—The out-going contractor shall give, and the in-coming contractor shall take over, any Arrack or other Country Spirits not exceeding a month's supply, which may remain as stock in hand on the last day of the expiring contract, the latter paying the former for the same such value as may be fixed by the Excise Commissioner.

VIII.—Should the in-coming contractor so require by at least one week's previous notice in writing, the out-going contractor shall cease preparing "Wash" during the last month of the expiring contract, and vacate the buildings so as to admit of the in-coming contractor commencing operations. Should no such notice be given, the out-going contractor may continue distilling till the end of his contract, after which further distillation must cease.

IX.—Should the out-going contractor so desire, the in-coming contractor shall be bound to purchase all apparatus and stock and block belonging to the out-going contractor at the Government Central Distillery, Bangalore, at a fair and equitable price, to be fixed by the Excise Commissioner, calculating the original cost and deducting therefrom depreciation for the period of user at such average rate as may be determined by Government, and of which timely notice will be given to the out-going contractor, and to intending bidders by a Notification to be duly published in that behalf.

X.—Improvements of a permanent nature shall be retained and not be disturbed except with the approval of the Executive Engineer.

CHINA, EAST COAST—Yang Tse Kiang.

Extension of Middle ground to the northward.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 733 of 1896) that information has been received that, on 3rd October 1896, a steam-vessel of 12 feet draught, was observed to be aground in a position with Kiu Toan light-vessel, bearing N. W. ¾ N., distant about 6 cables.

Approximate position, lat. 31° 16′ 35″ N., long. 121° 47′ 55″ E.

A depth of 1½ fathoms has been placed in the above position on the Admiralty chart, and the 3-fathom line from Middle ground has been extended round it

It has also been reported that the south-east end of the spit northward of Kiu Toan light-vessel has been washed away. It therefore appears that considerable changes in the banks in this locality are in progress, and great caution is necessary when navigating this channel.

Hué river entrance—Anchorage beacons and bar signals.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 744 of 1896) that in order to avoid damage to the submarine cables, which are landed on the west side of the entrance to Hué river, about N. 64° W., distant 1,280 yards from Fort Nord flagstaff, the undermentioned four beacons have been erected to indicate the anchorage:—

Each rear beacon is a large triangular, truncated pyramid, painted white; and each front beacon a pole, surmounted by a triangle.

(1) The eastern rear beacon, 18 feet high, is situated about 22 yards northward of Fort Sud; and the eastern front beacon, 18 feet high, bears N. 10° W., distant about 209 yards from the rear one.

(2) The western rear beacon, 15 feet high, is situated N. 70° W, distant 1,200 yards from Fort Nord flagstaff; and the western front beacon, 18 feet high, bears N. 40° E., distant about 98 yards from the rear one.

Approximate position, western rear beacon, lat. 16° 33′ 10″ N., long. 107° 36′ 55″ E.

The intersection of the lines of the western beacons in line and the eastern beacons in line indicates the anchorage.

Also, the undermentioned bar signals are made at the flagstaff at Fort Nord:—

(a) Four balls indicate that the bar is in good condition.

(b) Three balls indicate that it is practicable.

(c) Two balls indicate that it is practicable with difficulty.

(d) One ball indicates that it is dangerous.

NOTE.—The bar is subject to change, and should not be crossed without a pilot, unless previously examined.

AUSTRALIA, SOUTH—GULF OF ST. VINCENT.

Port Adelaide river lighted by electricity and system of buoys and light beacons re-arranged

THE President, Marine Board, Port Adelaide, has given notice (No. 6 of 1896) that on or about February 1st, 1897, the Port Adelaide river will be lighted by electricity, in consequence of which the whole system of buoys and light beacons will be re-arranged.

Light beacons Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 of the present system will be discontinued.

All buoys marking the channel will be removed, except the two outside of the light-house, two black buoys near the Old Boat Channel, and the two mooring buoys (for vessels with explosives) in Lipson Reach.

The new system will consist of five pairs of leading lights, and eight single light beacons.

The pairs of leading lights and single light beacons will in future be numbered from seaward, instead of in the opposite way, as it present; that is to say, No. 12, and the light behind it of the old system will be No. 1 of the new, and so on.

The near light of each lead will be red, and the far one white, except in the case of No. 1 lead, where the far light will be red, as at present, and the near one white; these two have not been altered because the red light of No. 1 on with No. 2 is an established lead over the Ocean Steamers' Mooring Buoy; and the white light of No. 1 on with No. 2 leads over the Bell Buoy on Wonga Shoal.

The two lights of No. 1 lead through the Outer Cutting near the light-house, as at present.

The single lights, Nos. 2 to 9 inclusive, will mark the edge of the Channel from opposite the Old Boat Channel to Mutton Cove.

Nos 10, 11, 12, and 13 are leads, i.e., pairs.

No. 10 is placed on the shore, abreast of the two Mooring Buoys for vessels with explosives, and leads from Mutton Cove half way up Lipson Reach.

No 11 is placed near the Torpedo Station, and leads up the other half of Lipson Reach to the North Arm.

No. 12 is placed on the Swamp south of the False Arm, and leads from the North Arm to the False Arm.

No. 13 is placed on Snowden Beach, and leads from the False Arm to Luff Point.

Sailing directions and further notice as to the exact date of the alterations will be issued in due course

This affects Charts Nos. 2339 A. and B., plan 1750.

Reported icebergs.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 722 of 1897) that the Commander of the Royal Mail Steamship Tongariri reports having passed 200 icebergs, some of which were very large, between the positions lat. 45° S., long 50½° E. and lat 47° S., long. 79½° E.

Icebergs in this locality are rare, more especially in large quantities, and Mariners are warned that in the Southern Indian Ocean, the ice would appear to be farther north than usual.

SCARCITY IN BENGAL.

No. 162Agri. (Fam.).—The 22nd January 1897.—The following papor is published for general information.

M. FINUCANE,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 118Fam. (Agri.), dated Calcutta, the 15th January 1897.

From—M. FINUCANE, Esq., Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Revenue Dept.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Dept.

IN continuation of this office letters No. 5259Agri., dated 16th December 1896, and No. 5552Agri., dated the 30th December 1896, I am directed to submit herewith a copy of a report from the Commissioner of the Patna Division, No. 13G., dated the 5th/6th January 1897, with enclosures, and statements A and B required by section 29 of the Bengal Famine Code, containing information regarding famine and relief operations during the four weeks ending 26th December 1896 in the districts of the Patna Division, together with the following remarks on the present position of affairs in that Division. I am also directed to append in paragraphs 11 to 15 below a brief statement of the prospects in other Divisions.

2. The recent rainfall and its effects.—As the Government of India are aware, rain fell in all the districts of the Patna Division between 25th December and 1st January. The following statement shows the rainfall during the period at each head-quarters and subdivisional station :—

Patna ...	Bankipore	...	·23	Saran ...	Chapra	...	·21

The rain fell in those light and broken showers which are especially beneficial to rabi crops, and, as a consequence, the Commissioner is able to repeat with greater confidence his estimate of the outturn of these crops which was reproduced in paragraph 3 of my letter of the 16th December, and which was based on the hope of a normal winter rainfall such as has now commenced and may be hoped to continue. That estimate is repeated in the margin for facility of reference. The rainfall has not, however, had the effect of lowering the prices of food-grains. These are on the whole stationary, but in Saran, Muzaffarpur, and now in Champaran the price of maize has risen and approximates closely to that of rice. It is consequently impossible to reduce, but has rather been found necessary to increase, the estimates of areas likely to be affected by distress. These tracts depend for the most part upon the rice crop, and for that the recent rain was of course much too late to be of any benefit. It may be said, in short, that prospects in the Division are generally unchanged since the submission of the last monthly report, but that the timely rainfall has tended to confirm the previous forecast of the rabi crop.

3. Estimates of areas and population affected.—Patna district.—The area of 229 square miles, with a population of 420,092, which was reported as affected by distress in paragraph 5 of my letter of 16th December, must still be so regarded. Four test works were open in this tract during the last week of the period now under report.

Shahabad district.—In paragraph 4 of my letter of 15th December it was stated that the rainfall of November might possibly be found to have removed from the fear of distress an area in the Bhabhua subdivision of Shahabad, which was then being visited by Mr. Bourdillon; this area, of 400 miles with an estimated population of 115,000, was, however, included in Famine Statement A for November. This area and population have again been included in the statement now submitted; but only one relief work was open in the tract on the last day of the period under report, with 795 labourers, and it is clear that the demand for work there is not now urgent.

Saran district.—In paragraph 6 of my letter of 15th December, the affected area in Saran was estimated to be 766 square miles, with a population of 665,830. Mr. Earle, the Collector, and Mr. Bourdillon, the Commissioner, have now raised their estimate to an area of 880 square miles, with a population of 779,705. The increase in area is due chiefly to the inclusion of certain scattered rice-producing tracts in the Sadar subdivision, but the present estimate is only provisional, pending the completion of a detailed scarcity map which is being prepared by the Settlement Department, and as such the Lieutenant-Governor has accepted it.

Champaran district.—This district continues to be the most seriously affected of all. In paragraph 7 of my letter of 15th December it was reported that three tracts (Ramnagar, Araraj, and Madhuban), with an area of 570 miles and a population of 271,415, required immediate relief; and an area of 2,022 square miles, practically the whole remainder of the district, was placed in the "less seriously affected" class. The local officers now estimate the area immediately affected at 1,242 square miles, with a population of 729,120; and the Lieutenant-Governor is compelled to accept that estimate. This area is more than one-third the total area of the district, and is of the same general description as the three tracts in which serious distress first appeared; it is divisible into three well-defined portions, each of which has one of the three tracts above mentioned for its centre.

Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga districts — The estimates of area likely to be affected in these districts have not been changed since the previous month.

A revised famine map of the Division is annexed.

4. Relief works in the four northern districts.—During the last week of the period under report there was a great and sudden increase in the numbers employed on relief works in the districts of Champaran and Darbhanga, with the result that the arrangements for the maintenance of discipline were to some extent thrown out of gear, and that the tasks exacted were consequently insufficient. Maximum and minimum wages are being paid, which are calculated in accordance with section 104 of the Famine Code upon the prices of food-grains shown in columns 12 to 16 of Famine Statement A hereto annexed. When the people flock in crowds to relief works there must inevitably be some confusion at first; but every effort has been made to restore discipline, and Sir Alexander Mackenzie understands that this end has now been generally attained. The Lieutenant-Governor has, in my letter No. 75Agri., dated 12th January 1897, of which I am directed to submit a copy herewith, passed orders which he trusts will secure that sufficient, and as far as possible uniform, tasks will be exacted in all the affected districts, and that the provisions of the Famine Code will be strictly adhered to in all respects. Tables of tasks prepared by the Hon'ble Mr. J. G. H. Glass, C.I.E., Chief Engineer to this Government, have recently been circulated. His Honour has also, in the letter of the 12th January, accepted the view of the Commissioner and Collector, that, having regard to the peculiar circumstances of Saran—its dense population and the very large proportion of its adult males who are absent at work in other districts—the programme of relief should there be, first, poor-houses, secondly, charitable relief, and thirdly, large central relief works.

The number of relief works open in the four districts at the close of the period was 56, and on the 2nd January, 84; they consisted mostly of road-making and the excavation of tanks.

The mapping-out of relief charges and circles has been completed in Champaran and Darbhanga, and practically completed in Saran and Muzaffarpur. The Collectors of the two former districts have had some difficulty in securing Circle Officers of the proper stamp.

5. Private relief works.— Private relief works were established on a large scale and at their own cost by leading indigo-planters and by the Bettiah Raj in Champaran, as was reported in paragraph 7 of my letter of 16th December. A daily average of 9,165 persons was relieved at these works during the second fortnight of December. These works, which were opened temporarily in order to provide for the immediate necessities of the people, are now being replaced by works carried on at the public expense; but Government is under an obligation to the gentlemen who came forward to fill the gap before its own arrangements could be completed. In Darbhanga district relief works have been opened by the Maharaja, but returns are not yet available. In Saran, the Hutwa Raj (now under the Court of Wards) has opened six works, and a few small works have been opened by zamindars in this district and in Muzaffarpur.

6. Poor-houses and village relief.—No Government poor-houses were working during the period under report, but some have been opened since its close, and more are being actively organized. They are especially needed in Saran; as has above been observed. Private poor-houses have been opened in a few places Measures are being organized for the provision of work to artizans and women in their own homes.

7. Charitable relief—Gratuitous relief was, at the close of the period under report, being distributed to 5,214 male units in the three districts of Saran, Champaran, and Darbhanga. In Darbhanga the average daily number of persons in receipt of charitable relief was 61·08 per cent. of the average daily number on relief works, and the Lieutenant-Governor sees reason to fear that in that district gratuitous relief may have been given on too large a scale. The matter is being enquired into. A further contribution of Rs. 4,000 (in addition to Rs. 30,000 already sent) has been received from the Bengal Distress Relief Fund, and a sum of Rs. 500 from Syud Huzoor Meerza of Murshidabad. These sums have been sent to the Commissioner of Patna for distribution in charitable relief.

8. Physical condition of the people.—No deaths from starvation are reported, and the distress has not as yet had the effect of increasing the death-rate anywhere. The mortuary returns for the month of November represent the state of things usual at that season of the year. It is thought, however, that the very poor classes begin to show signs of deterioration, and this opinion is to some degree supported by the slightly inferior condition of prisoners admitted to the jails at Motihari and Darbhanga.

9. Loans.—Advances both for agricultural improvements (permanent as well as temporary) and for the purchase of rabi seed have been freely given in Saran and Champaran, but the returns are incomplete. The Lieutenant-Governor has recently, with the sanction of the Government of India, conveyed in Mr. Ibbetson's No. $\frac{8\text{-F}}{6-14}$, dated 22nd December 1896, issued orders relaxing for the distressed tracts the conditions upon which loans are granted under the Land Improvement Loans Act.

10. Food-stocks and importation of grain.—The general balance of the food-grains traffic in the Division is now on the side of imports which, during the fortnight ending 26th December, for the first time exceeded the exports (by 28,775 maunds). In the previous fortnight the exports exceeded the imports by 72,054 maunds. These figures are unfortunately, it must be noted, incomplete even as regards the rail-borne trade. Sir Alexander Mackenzie has already, in my letter No. 25Fam., dated the 7th January 1897, placed before the Government of India his apprehension that the stocks of food in remote areas, such as the Ramnagar tract in north-east Champaran, may not be sufficient to support the population. His Honour is satisfied that the Commissioner and District Officers are alive to the necessity for the most careful watching of the movements of food-grains, and has, in my letters No 76Agri., dated 31st December 1896, and No. 75Agri., dated 12th January 1897, drawn their attention to the provisions of section 35 of the Bengal Famine Code, under which they have power to appoint contractors for the supply of grain for gratuitous charitable relief, and to the orders of the Government of India, conveyed in paragraph 8 of their letter No. 104F., dated 4th January 1897, in which it is indicated that contractors may be similarly employed for the supply of grain on relief works in areas in which private trade may fail to do so, on the principle enunciated by the Famine Commissioners in paragraph 159 of their report.

The following paragraphs deal with the other Divisions:—

11. Orissa Division.—Except as regards Angul, no further communication has been received from the Commissioner of the Orissa Division since the date of the last report of this Government; but information received from officers of the Settlement Department and other sources goes to show that the situation has not yet undergone any change for the worse. In Angul, which has been recently visited by the Commissioner, Mr. R. C. Dutt, the local stocks of food-grains are considered sufficient for the requirements of the people. Exports are, however, still going on, and may cause some deficit and consequent distress among the landless classes who, happily, do not number more than twenty thousand in this part of Orissa. The Commissioner sees no reason to apprehend anything more serious than some slight pinch among these classes in April, May and June next.

12. Rajshahi, Chittagong and Dacca Divisions.—In the Rajshahi Division, Rajshahi and Pabna are still the only two districts where distress requiring relief measures is considered likely to appear. In Pabna loans are being given under the Land Improvement and Agriculturists' Loans Acts, and a grant of Rs. 10,000 has recently been made for this purpose. The worst tract in the district of Rajshahi is the Gangetic tract, consisting of deara lands bordering on the rivers Padma and Burrul. The total area is about 700 square miles with a population of about 500,000 persons. The outturn of the winter rice crop in this area has not been more than 4 annas, but the inhabitants are fortunately somewhat above the average of Bengal in wealth, and during a recent visit paid by him to this tract the Commissioner observed that they were greatly and really alarmed, but that the signs of actual suffering were few. Distress may also appear in parts of another tract called the Barind, with a total area of about 500 square miles, the soil of which is stiff red clay, and where the outturn of the winter rice crop has been from 6 to 8 annas. No actual relief measures, beyond the grant of loans, were found necessary in any part of the district of Rajshahi during December 1896, but the Collector intends starting relief works about the middle of the present month.

No change in the position, as regards the Dacca and Chittagong Divisions, has come to the notice of this Government.

13. Presidency Division.—The tracts mentioned in paragraph 15 of my last report, in the districts of Khulna and Nadia, have recently been visited by Mr. B. C. Basu, Assistant to the Director of Land Records and Agriculture, who was specially deputed by Government to make careful enquiries as to the outturn of the crops and the condition of the people. This officer's reports and those received from the local officers leave no room for doubt that a part of the population of these tracts is really in distress. The Commissioner and the Collectors have not yet submitted reports and statements under Part II of the Famine Code, but these have now been called for. In the Satkhira subdivision of Khulna, the re-excavation of two khals has been taken in hand by the Public Works Department, in order to afford employment to the needy, and the District Board has opened works of its own. Measures have been taken for the distribution of gratuitous relief, and to ensure effective administration of famine relief, Mr. C. A. Bell, I.C.S., has been placed in charge of the Satkhira subdivision, and has been directed to give his entire attention to this work. In the Nadia district the affected area is confined to the north-west portion of the district bordering on Murshidabad. Loans are being given freely, and works have been open for some time, on which the number of labourers is rapidly rising. In Jessore the only tract in which relief is immediately needed is the north-east part of the Magura subdivision. Mr. B. C. Basu will soon visit the tract, and the local officers have been called upon to submit full reports, as required by the Famine Code.

14. Bhagalpur Division.—No distress has yet made its appearance in any part of the Bhagalpur Division, but there may be partial distress later on in all the districts of the Division. Purnea, Malda and Monghyr will, it is believed by the local officers, be able to meet their requirements from their own local funds. In parts of the district of Bhagalpur and in the Sonthal Parganas it is reported that there is likelihood of more widespread distress which will require Government aid.

15. Chota Nagpur Division.—It has just been reported to this Government by the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpur Division that there is no reason for any apprehension in regard to the three districts of Singhbhum, Manbhum and Lohardaga. The districts of Hazaribagh and Palamau are still giving cause for anxiety, although in Hazaribagh some test relief works which were opened failed to attract labourers and have for the present been closed. In Palamau some relief works recently opened are not now attended by any considerable numbers.

REPORT ON THE INDIGO CROPS OF BENGAL FOR 1896.

THE following is published for general information.

REV. DEPT., The 26th January 1897.

M. FINUCANE, Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Report on the Indigo Crops of the Lower Provinces of Bengal for the year 1896.

Explanatory.—Estimates of the areas cultivated with indigo and of outturn have been hitherto shown in the reports issued by this Department for the bhadoi crops of these Provinces. In accordance with recent orders of Government, a separate report for this crop is now published for the first time by this Department.

Area under cultivation —Indigo is cultivated in 23 of the 45 districts of these Provinces over an aggregate area estimated, as shown in the attached returns for 1896, at 530,500 acres, but in five districts, viz , Dinajpur, Faridpur, Patna, Gaya and Cuttack, the district cultivation is from 100 to 500 acres only, and in six more districts, viz., Burdwan, Bankura, Rajshahi, Rangpur, Shahabad and the Sonthal Parganas, the district cultivation is from 2,200 to 8,000 acres only.

About 247,000 acres of the cultivation are contained in the Saran (51,000), Champaran (48,000), Muzaffarpur (65,500), Darbhanga (70,300), Monghyr (11,900) districts; Bhagalpur,* Purnea* and Malda* have, respectively, 12,300, 46,000 and 20,000 acres; and Midnapore, Nadia, Murshidabad and Jessore have, respectively, 48,100, 57,300, 51,300 and 17,500 acres.

Comparing the total area cultivated in 1896, viz., 530,500 acres against 552,700 cultivated last year, a decrease of nearly 22,000 acres is shown. The only noticeable falling off is in Darbhanga, and it is probable that the decrease there shown is due rather to correction of estimates than to a real falling off in cultivation.

2. Character of the season of 1896.—In North Bihar the sowings are made in February and March. In Lower Bengal sowings are made in char or deara lands when the floods subside in October, and a sowing is made on higher lands in April.

The crop is cut from June to September.

* These three districts are grouped with Lower Bengal districts in Messrs. W. Moran and Company's Market Reports.

On account of the early cessation of the monsoon of 1895 and the scantiness of the showers of the early months of 1896, moisture was generally deficient in the indigo districts at the time of sowings. In May rainfall was generally normal, but from May onwards rain was deficient in most of the indigo-growing districts.

In Bihar the first cuttings were generally poor, but the dry weather gave unusually good second cuttings (Khunti.)

3. Outturn of crop.—From the district returns appended, it will be seen that four districts, viz, Burdwan, Faridpur, Gaya and Bhagalpur, return the crop as 14 annas. Four districts (Rajshahi, Champaran, Sonthal Parganas and Cuttack) return the crop as varying from 12 to 13 annas; and the ten districts, viz., Bankura, Midnapore, Nadia, Jessore, Dinajpur, Patna, Saran, Darbhanga, Purnea and Malda, estimate the crop at 10 to 11 annas. In Murshidabad, Rangpur, Shahabad, Muzaffarpur and Monghyr the crop is returned as less than 10 annas.

On the whole, and allowing for a tendency to underestimate outturn which has been generally observed in crop reports, an outturn of 14 annas may be roughly estimated for the whole Province. A statement is appended showing the outturn of indigo in the last 14 years in these Provinces as returned in the General Administration Reports. It will be noticed from the appended statement that the North Bihar crop of 1896 is in fact not far short of the average of 14 years, and that the Bengal crop is considerably the shorter of the two.

It has been usual in this Department to assume as the average outturn of indigo to the acre the figures of yield given by Dr. G. Watt, Economic Reporter to the Government of India, in his Pamphlet on Indigo, viz., 12lbs. an acre in Bengal and 20lbs. an acre in Bihar.

Applying these figures of yeild district by district to the areas under cultivation in 1896 as shown in the present returns, and diminishing them in proportion to the amount by which the yield is estimated to fall short of 16 annas, or an average yield, the following results are obtained:—

For North Bihar, viz., Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga and Monghyr (as included in Messrs. Moran's return), 3,158,700lbs., or about 1,410 tons, or 42,300 factory maunds. For the remaining districts 2,514,200lbs., or about 1,122 tons, or 33,660 factory maunds. But I have no doubt that this is too high. Whether the acreage under indigo has been overstated on the average yield I am unable to say.

In their Circular No. 58 of the 30th September, Messrs. Moran and Company estimate the outturn for 1896 as follows:—

	Factory Mds.
For Bihar	60,000
For Bengal	17,000

This Department is not in a position to make so good an estimate of the crop as made by Messrs. Moran. There is no sufficient guarantee that the returns of cultivation and estimates of outturn of the indigo crop as furnished by District Officers for Bihar and Bengal are even approximately correct; and I have no hesitation in recommending that Messrs. Moran's estimate of outturn be accepted, rather than the estimate resultant from the District Officers' returns.

W. C. MACPHERSON,

Director of the Dept. of Land Records and Agriculture, Bengal.

Mr. E. Macnaghten, Secretary to the Bihar Planters' Association, says the yield of 1896 is 15,500 factory maunds, or 1,157, 832lbs., and the anna outturn 14 annas. Mr. Macnaghten is no doubt correct.

* Estimated by the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, Bengal. The arithmetical means resultant from the District Officers' returns would be 10½ and 10½ for Bihar and Bengal, respectively.

† Taken from Messrs. Moran's returns compared with average of 14 years' yield, as shown in Bengal General Administration Reports.

‡ Obtained by addition—area × yield, as explained in paragraph 3 of note. But the area returned are probably excessive, and it is advised that Messrs. Moran's figures should be accepted in preference.

§ Or 1,09,700 factory maunds as against Messrs. Moran's final estimate of 99,173 factory maunds. No doubt Messrs. Moran's returns is the more correct.

WATER-SUPPLY.

No. 335L.S.-G.—The 21st January 1897.—The following reports of the progress made in the several districts of the Chittagong and Dacca Divisions in collecting and placing on record the chief facts regarding water-supply are published for general information.

H. H. RISLEY,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. 37M., dated Chittagong, the 11th January 1897.

From—The Commissioner of the Chittagong Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

WITH reference to Government Circular No. 58L.S.-G., dated the 12th ultimo, calling for progress reports on water-supply in the districts of this Division, I have the honour to submit herewith copies of the marginally noted letters from the Magistrates of Tippera and Noakhali with enclosures in original.

No. 1M., dated the 2nd January 1897, from the Magistrate of Tippera.
No. 21M., dated the 6th January 1897, from the Magistrate of Tippera.
No. 1440, dated the 28th December 1896, from the Magistrate of Noakhali.

2. The report from Chittagong has not yet been received. The delay has been explained by the Collector, a copy of whose letter is enclosed.

No. 1M., dated Comilla, the 2nd January 1897.

From—J. KENNEDY, Esq., Officiating Magistrate of Tippera,
To—The Commissioner of the Chittagong Division.

WITH reference to your memorandum No. 1318M., dated the 16th December 1896, forwarding copy of Government Circular No. 58L.S.-G. of the 12th idem, I have the honour to submit the following report, showing the progress made in the district in collecting and placing on record the chief facts regarding water-supply, and the steps taken by the District Board to improve the existing sources of water-supply, and to open new ones.

2. Register No. I.—There are 710 villages, containing more than 100 houses each. The tahsil panchayats of these villages were furnished with a form for compiling the information required for filling up the register. Information regarding 680 villages has been received, the defaulting panchayats of the remaining 30 villages having been ordered to submit their returns at once.

3. Register No. II.—There is only one tank in Chandirchar, which has been set apart for drinking purposes under section 90 of the Local Self-Government Act.

4. A sum of Rs. 6,000 has been sanctioned for the Pasteur Filter at Chandpur. A further allotment of Rs. 1,100 will be required for bringing in the water from the river, the present source of supply being a very filthy tank. This point will be considered in the next meeting of the District Board on the 4th January 1897.

5. The reports of the two municipalities have not been received yet. They will be submitted as soon as received.

No. 21M., dated Comilla, the 6th January 1897.

To—The Magistrate of Tippera.

WITH reference to your memorandum No. 1908, dated the 22nd instant, I have the honour to report that, during the quarter ending 31st December 1896, a list of the tanks and khoas under Government Circular No. 7, dated 15th May 1896, have been prepared.

2. There are four tanks already in existence, set apart for drinking purpose, which I think sufficient at present for this municipality, the area of which is only four square miles. Besides these tanks, there is the Gumpti river on the north of the town, which is also used by the people of ward (c). The water of some tanks besides the reserved tank is also good and used for drinking purposes.

1. Bhatpara tank.
2. Jail tank.
3. Municipal Office tank.
4. Tank in Kandirpar, situated to the south of Boraja Babu's house.

3 One of the municipal tanks, called Meherjan's tank, in Kandirpar, has been set apart under section 199 for washing animals and clothes, &c., and the other four municipal tanks marginally noted for bathing purposes.

4. Under section 119A, the Civil Surgeon has been requested to examine the water of the tanks situated within the municipality and to certify as to which of the tanks may be used for drinking purposes, and which of them, if used for drinking, would engender or cause the spread of any dangerous disease.

5. As an experimental measure, some notices were served upon the owners of certain tanks and khoas to re-excavate them and some notices for filling them up. Of these tanks, one has already been re-excavated and one filled up. Most of the owners have come forward with petitions of objection, which are now under the disposal of the Joint Committee formed under section 37A of the Municipal Act. Steps have been taken by some of the owners to re-excavate their tanks.

No. 136L.F., dated Brahmanbaria, the 31st December 1896.

From—The Chairman of the Brahmanbaria Municipality,
To—The Magistrate of Tippera, through the Subdivisional Officer.

REFERRING to your memorandum No. 1909M., dated the 22nd December 1896, I have the honour to report as follows.

There are twenty mahallas in all in this municipality, in none of which tanks and other sources of water-supply are insufficient. The quality of water, however, is not good in all the tanks. Two municipal tanks and seven private tanks containing pure water have been reserved for drinking purposes. In wards where there is no tanks containing drinkable water, wells would be soon sunk. Moreover, one tank is to be soon excavated in Kasharypatty for supplying drinkable water to the inhabitants thereof. Water-supply Form No I is annexed herewith.

No. 1806G., dated Brahmanbaria, the 1st January 1897.

Memo. by—The Subdivisional Officer of Brahmanbaria.

COPY, with the General Register of Sources of Water-supply, submitted to the Magistrate of Tippera.

No. 1440, dated Noakhali, the 28th December 1896.

From—S. K. AGASTI, Esq., Officiating Magistrate of Noakhali,
To—The Commissioner of the Chittagong Division.

WITH reference to your No. 1319M., dated the 16th December 1896, forwarding, for report, copy of Government Circular No. 58L.S.-G., dated 12th idem, on the subject of water-supply in the district, I have the honour to state as below.

2. Within the municipal area there are three reserved tanks under the direct management of the Municipal Commissioners and one under the District Board, which supply good drinking water to the rate-payers. One of these tanks, known as Baradigi, situated in the circuit-house ward of the town, is a splendid one. This is very close to the Fakirtala ward. The second is also one of considerable dimensions in the Kalitara ward, which is protected from pollution from surface drainage by an embankment of a moderate size. The third tank, known as Bruce's tank, is situated in the Barabazar section of the town. The District Board tank, otherwise known as the Dispensary tank, although situated in the Kalitara ward, is very close to the Taltala ward. From this it will appear that there is a copious supply of good drinking water for the rate-payers of all the five wards in the town. The municipal reserved tanks are carefully guarded by men appointed for the purpose at the expense of the municipality. The dispensary tank is also very scrupulously looked after.

3. Besides the four tanks mentioned above, there are upwards of 300 tanks which are resorted to by the people of the municipality for bathing, culinary and other ordinary purposes. Of these latter there are some 50 tanks, which are of considerable size, and are resorted to by a large number of inhabitants. Of the smaller ones, there are many which are of no good, and there are others which are decidedly unwholesome.

4. The Municipal Commissioners have for the last seven or eight years been pressing upon the rate-payers the necessity of re-excavating or filling up those tanks which were found to be a source of permanent nuisance, and during the above period, 44 tanks have been re-excavated, and a few have been filled up. The town abounded in cesspools and dobas of various sizes. Some 51 of the more offensive ones have been filled up, either by the Municipal Commissioners or by the owners thereof at their requisition.

5. The extensive ditches in front end in the south of the big house of Maharaja Durga Charan Law, C.I.E., formerly owned by Mr. Courjon, have almost been filled up on the Chairman's issuing a requisition to that effect last year. The little that remains to be done will very likely be completed during the current year. During the present year, the Administrator-General of Bengal, who is in the executor of the estate of the late Kumar Indra Chandra Sinha Bahadur, has undertaken to re-excavate three of their tanks and fill up one, which latter was a permanent source of nuisance to the people in the neighbourhood. The work has been already commenced.

6. The Chairman has also issued notices on the proprietors of five tanks in four wards to re-excavate them, and also on the owner of another tank to have it filled up, as they are in a filthy state. The work will be commenced in the course of a short time.

7. There are no wells in the town. In my opinion there is an abundant source of water-supply within municipal limits. We have only to see that the unwholesome tanks and dobas are gradually made into wholesome ones Some of them also may be filled up with advantage. To both these points the Municipal Commissioners have directed their special attention for the last few years. No new source of water-supply in my opinion need be opened Two registers in Forms Nos. I and II in connection with water-supply have been maintained in the Municipal Office, and they are examined by the Chairman at intervals.

8. The works executed up to date during the current year by the District Board in improving the existing sources of water-supply are shown below.

The following tanks have been cleared:—

(1) Jubilee tank at Lakhipur.
(2) Thana tank at Lakhipur.
(3) Tank at Raipur.
(4) Tank at Begamgunj.
(5) Tank at Ramganj.
(6) Tank at Chandraganj.
(7) Rajajhi tank at Feni (being cleared).
(8) Tank at Fenny ghat.
(9) Tank at Chhagalnaia.
(10) Tank at Munsir Hat, Parshuram Road (being cleared).
(11) Tank at Sundip (being cleared).
(12) Tank at the compound of the Noakhali Dispensary.

I have seen 10 out of these 12 tanks (excluding Nos. 9 and 10) in the course of my tour, and I have found the water generally good.

9. Estimates for excavating new tanks at Ichakhali and Nadona have been sanctioned, but the work could not be taken in hand, as the land will have to be acquired under the Act. Estimates for clearing some other tanks are in preparation

10. Tube-wells have been tried many times, but they do not succeed here.

11. Apprehending scarcity of drinking water at least in certain parts of the district during the next summer season, I have had orders issued to get number of tanks informally reserved (without the owners definitely making over the control of the water in them to the District Board). A copy of my note is forwarded for your perusal. I have also had a vernacular letter of instruction freely circulated among the people of the district. Copy of this is also enclosed for your information. Action is being taken in this direction, and progress made will be reported in due course.

12. Registers in Forms I and II are under preparation.

The rainfall has been very short this year, and serious scarcity about drinking water is apprehended, at least in certain parts of the district during the next summer season. It is reported from Hatiya that difficulty is already beginning to be felt. An additional reason in the case of Hatiya and also of Sundip is the salt-water inundation of 27th July last, which overflooded many tanks. The water of these was never baled out, and is decidedly brackish even now, and would soon become unfit for drinking. Similar difficulties may be experienced in Siddhi, Ramgati, parts of Bamni, south-western side of Fenny and in the littoral tract, generally more or less.

2. About improving water-supply, it should be borne in mind that wells never succeed in this district. Experiments have been made with tube-wells at head-quarters on many occasions, but without any satisfactory result. If these wells do not succeed in Sudharam, they will never do in Hatiya, which is of still more recent (alluvial) formation. Even in Sundip which is of older origin, work with tube-well would be uncertain. The leather of the pumps gives way very soon in these sandy soils, and altogether the experiment must fail from one cause or another in this district. The Sanitary Commissioner is also of opinion that tube-wells are not suitable to alluvial soils like those of Noakhali, Backergunge, Chittagong, &c.

3. Masonry wells have been suggested as a mode of improving water-supply. This is both expensive and uncertain. One well of even moderate size would cost at least Rs. 500, and it is evident that we cannot do much in this way. It is even doubtful how far well-water would be or continue to be potable. The people again are so lazy that they will never care to fetch water from a well which may be good, if they have even a dirty tank close by, which can satisfy their immediate wants. They may do well in parts of Fenny and Chhagalnaia, but this last thana is very well off as regards tanks, and these are both big and in fair preservation generally Digging tanks will not do as a mode of improving the general water-supply of this district, except, of course, in selected localities where the difficulty is chronic, and where the District Board should have tanks of its own reserved for drinking purposes. This must in any case be a work of time. Our needs are pressing however, and something should be done to enable the people to tide over the difficulty that is apprehended in the next summer.

4. The number of tanks in the district is extremely large. Indeed, so far as number is concerned, there is absolutely no reason to complain. Throughout large tracts in several thanas it might almost be said that almost every family, of any importance, has got a tank of its own. Excepting therefore in certain selected localities and at hâts, markets, and such like public places, new tanks are not at all necessary.

5. The only method that suggests itself to me, after careful consideration of the whole question, of improving the water-supply of the district and enabling the people to meet the coming difficulty, is to make the most of the existing sources; and that can be done by leaving a selected number of tanks reserved for drinking purposes for each locality. Tanks with fairly good water should be selected, at least one should be reserved for each moderate-sized village of, say, 80 to 100 families living fairly closely together; for sparsely populated villages of, say, 80 to 100 families, and for larger villages, two or three or even a larger number may be necessary. I believe that, on proper enquiry being made, it will be found that almost every village has got at least one fairly good tank that can be reserved. But the difficulty is that the owner of the tank will not allow it to be reserved. He will use the water both for drinking and for other purposes; and though he may not object others using the water for drinking, he does not wish to part with his full control over his property. It is not easy to pursuade the people to make a little sacrifice for the public good, for public spirit is all but unknown here, and every one's concern is for himself. The idea that by having the general water-supply deteriorated, the risk to public health, and necessarily to every individual's health, is increased, never finds a place in the minds of the vast majority of the people in this district.

6. The District Board has been trying for several years past to get a number of tanks reserved, on which it would spend for cleaning and occasional bank repairs, &c., but hitherto without any marked success.

7. I think the question should now be approached from another point of view. Irrespective of the provision of the law, let a number of fairly good tanks be selected and informally reserved for drinking purposes. Unless we went to the length of appointing a guard for each tank, adequate precaution could never be taken to prevent pollution; but this of course is out of the question. Let a signboard, declaring the tank to be reserved, be hung up at a conspicuous part of the bank, and the police, panchayats, and chaukidars be directed to see, so far as possible, that these tanks are kept free from all grosser form of pollution. Letting loose cattle should of course be prohibited, so also bathing; but if an individual dips his feet when fetching water, this will have to be connived at, until at least a little idea of sanitation prevails among the people; also fishing will be allowed, as at present, without any restriction. I hope the owners will not object to such an arrangement.

8. I think the District Board has got lists of tanks supplied by the police and the Department of Public Works staff under Government Circular issued last year (1895-96). Each police officer in charge of a thana or outpost will now, in consultation with panchayats, chaukidars, &c., and after such enquiries as appears suitable to him, report the names (with owners' names) of tanks which in his opinion may be reserved in the way indicated above. He will be supplied with an equal number of signboards (to be hung up in a conspicuous part of the bank), and the panchayats and chaukidars will be required to see that the water is preserved, so far as possible, from pollution. It is not to be understood that I wish to throw the brunt of the burden of this work on the police, but they must take the initiative. The subordinates of the District Engineer's Department will be principally in charge of the supervising work. The help of the District Magistrate will be necessary at almost every step, and this of course will be willingly rendered.

9. It is necessary that this order should be freely circulated among the police, panchayats, and through them to chaukidars, also among zamindars, khas mahal and Court of Wards officers. The co-operation of all departments will be absolutely necessary for the purpose. All inspecting officers of whatever department in the district will be required to pay attention to this matter and report instances of default, when, so far as possible, suitable measures will be taken by the Magistrate-Chairman to remedy the defects.

10. The District Engineer will please let me know what would be the best and cheapest material for sign-boards. These should have some simple and suitable direction painted on them, such as "this tank is reserved for drinking purposes, and letting loose of cattle on it, washing clothes, household utensils, &c., is prohibited, &c., &c.

11. A copy of this note will be forwarded to the District Superintendent of Police, Noakhali, Subdivisional Officer, Feuny, Sub-Deputy Magistrate-Collector, Sundip, Munsif, Deputy Magistrate, Hatya, Khash Tahsildar and Manager, Wards Etates, for information and guidance.

12. I think a Bengali parwana, giving the substance of the above, should be got printed and circulated widely among the people. We can have 500 copies printed for the present. The Head Clerk, Magistracy, will please see to this. The order in the meantime should be circulated to the Police and Sub-Overseers of the District Board.

From—J. D. ANDERSON, Esq., Collector of Chittagong,
To—The Commissioner of the Chittagong Division.

WITH reference to your reminder No. 1362M., dated 28th December 1896, I have the honour to report that registers, showing the sources of water-supply, have been opened in the various Tahsil offices. But as there are at least 70,000 tanks in this district, it will take some time to submit the first progress report, inasmuch as it cannot be compiled, unless all such tanks have been inspected by responsible officers, and the requisite information collected in the form prescribed by Government. I have asked the khas tahsildars to expedite the matter, and shall submit my report as soon as possible.

Personally, I venture to doubt whether the collection of these figures is worth the labour involved in a district where there are only too many tanks, and where no deficiency of drinking water has been felt even in this year of unexampled drought.

During the week under report, 52,506 cwts. of rice were imported from Burma alone. Between 1st November 1896 and 14th January 1897, so much as 2,16,016 cwts., or 2,94,022 maunds of cleaned rice, were shipped from Burma for Calcutta, and this grain is now being carried by rail to all parts of the country Shipments of rice and paddy from Balasore showed an increase of 19,988 cwts., while those from Chandbali exhibited a decrease of 5,740 cwts. as compared with 1896. Under gram and pulses, the Madras Presidency exported the largest quantity, viz., 3,791 cwts., against only 72 cwts. in 1896.

Exports.—In the following statement the total quantity of each kind of food-grains exported by sea during the 2nd week of January 1897 is compared with the figures for 1896 :—

In 1896 large shipments of rice were made to Germany, Abyssinia, Aden, Arabia, and Ceylon, but during the week under report nothing was exported. The quantity sent to the United Kingdom showed an increase of 10,936 cwts., while in the case of the Maldives, New Zealand, and Fiji Islands small quantities were despatched against nothing in 1896. Of the Indian ports, there were heavy decreases in the consignments sent to Bombay and Madras Presidencies. The decrease under gram and pulses was due to smaller shipments to the United Kingdom, Madras, and Burma.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below.

In 1895, Trinidad received 21,990 cwts. of rice from Chittagong, while 24,461 cwts. of rice were shipped from Cuttack for Columbo, Galle, and ports in Madras, Bombay, and Travancore, but nothing was shipped from either Chittagong or Cuttack during the period under report. The exports to Calcutta from the Balasore ports showed a decrease of 8,725 cwts. of rice, and an increase of 4,069 cwts. of paddy, and of 443 cwts. of gram and pulses. In the case of Narayanganj and Puri, there was no trade whatever in food-grains during the periods under report.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

STATISTICS OF THE FOOD-GRAIN TRAFFIC OF CALCUTTA CARRIED BY ALL ROUTES (INCLUDING SEA).

No. 196 Statistics.—The following memorandum and statements are published for general information.

M. FINUCANE,
Secy to the Govt. of Bengal.

STATISTICAL DEPT,
The 26th January 1897.

Memorandum.

The total quantity of food-grains carried to and from Calcutta by internal routes and by sea during the 10 months from January to October 1896, as compared with the figures for the corresponding period of 1895, was as follows:—

Specification of routes.	Imports.		Exports.
	1895.	1896.	1895.	1896.
	Mds.	Mds.	Mds.	Mds.
By internal routes, i.e., by rail, road, river (country boat and steamer) and canal	2,14,10,452	1,76,32,848	18,26,173	39,83,110
By sea (both foreign and coasting) ...	9,25,331	21,80,618	1,44,78,038	91,92,783
Total ...	2,23,35,783	1,98,13,466	1,63,04,211	1,31,75,893

Imports.—The decline in the import trade was 11·2 per cent., and it would have been even greater but for the large imports by sea, the figures for which were 135·6 per cent. in excess of those for 1895. The following statement compares the total quantities of each kind of food-grains imported during the periods under review:—

	1895.	1896.
	Mds.	Mds.
Rice	1,36,44,542	1,12,68,848
Paddy	14,68,923	19,20,320
Wheat	31,80,657	19,62,068
Gram and pulses	37,42,202	41,91,125
Other food-grains, such as barley, kodo, shama, marwa, Indian-corn, oats, millets, &c.	2,99,459	4,71,105
Total ...	2,23,35,783	1,98,13,466

As was to be expected, the largest falling off occurred in the rice trade. The decline was general, and not limited to any one part of the Lower Provinces. The largest decrease is shown in the consignments from Backergunge, namely, 26,18,585 maunds against 44,78,684 maunds in 1895, and the largest increase in those from Midnapore, which contributed 23,58,972 maunds against 15,03,046 maunds. The only other district from which the imports were larger than in the preceding year was Balasore, which supplied 14,99,806 maunds against 8,82,194 maunds in 1895. Practically the entire traffic from this district was sea-borne In the case of all other districts, there were decreases more or less, the most prominent among them being 24-Parganas (4½ lakhs maunds), Burdwan (4 lakhs maunds), Noakhali (nearly 3 lakhs maunds), Khulna (2 lakhs maunds), Jessore (1¾ lakhs maunds), Faridpur (1¼ lakhs maunds), and Dinajpur (nearly 1 lakh maunds). In the case of paddy, the supplies from the Balasore district rose from 63,772 maunds to 7,12,766 maunds, and those from Midnapore from 1,52,393 maunds to 5,74,854 maunds. From the 24-Parganas there was a falling off of 2½ lakhs maunds, and from Jessore, Khulna, and Burdwan, a lakh of maunds each.

Compared with 1895, the importation of wheat from the North-Western Provinces fell off by 8¾ lakhs of maunds, and that from the Panjab by 1 lakh of maunds. Of the Bengal districts, the Presidency and the Bhagalpur Divisions showed a decline of nearly 2 lakhs maunds and 1½ lakhs maunds, respectively. Concerning gram and pulses, there were increases in the shipments from Nadia (9 lakhs maunds), Faridpur, Patna, and Monghyr (a lakh of maunds in each case), Murshidabad (¾ lakh of maunds), and Rajshahi (nearly ½ a lakh of maunds), while the despatches from the North-Western Provinces and the Panjab together fell off by 9¾ lakhs of maunds. The advance under Miscellaneous food-grains is attributable to increased despatches from Nadia, Murshidabad, and Patna.

Exports.—The decrease under this head aggregated 19·1 per cent., the falling off being most conspicuous under rice and wheat, as will be seen from the details given in the following table :—

	1895	1896.
	Mds.	Mds.
Rice	1,19,62,042	92,59,699
Paddy	8,17,758	11,77,101
Wheat	14,95,659	2,03,680
Gram and pulses	18,94,014	23,70,867
Other food-grains, such as barley, kodo, shamu, marua, Indian-corn, oats, millets, &c.	1,34,738	1,64,648
Total ...	1,63,04,211	1,31,75,995

The bulk of the exports shown above relates to the sea-borne trade, in which the total decrease during the past 10 months amounted to 36·49 per cent. The falling off in the exports to Foreign ports was 35·28 per cent., and to Indian ports 40·61 per cent. The places of destination in respect of this section of the traffic have already been published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 25th November 1896. As regards the trade with the interior, the chief feature is the distribution of rice and paddy to almost every district in the Lower Provinces, the total quantity carried from Calcutta being 11,67,165 maunds of rice and 11,23,661 maunds of paddy, against 3,05,848 maunds and 6,15,993 maunds, respectively. Assam also was supplied largely, viz., 7,08,794 maunds of rice against 70,702 maunds in 1895. The fluctuations in the case of the other articles call for no special notice.

Detailed statements, showing the source of supply and the places of destination, as well as the various channels through which the supplies were carried, are published below.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h. and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed, open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official Tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

H. H. RISLEY,

NOTIFICATION.—No. 740F.

The 30th January 1897.—The following rules relating to money-orders other than revenue money-orders in favour of officers of Government and local bodies entitled to bank at treasuries or sub-treasuries have been approved by the Lieutenant-Governor in supersession of those published under notification No. 3528L.S.-G., dated the 11th November 1893, in Part IB, pages 187 to 195 of the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 15th November 1893, and are published for general information.

H. H. RISLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Rules relating to money-orders, other than revenue money-orders, in favour of officers of Government and local bodies entitled to bank at treasuries or sub-treasuries.

PART I.

Procedure in the office of issue.

Whenever a money-order presented for issue is drawn in favour of any officer of Government or of a local body in his official capacity, it will be the duty of the money-order clerk or sub or branch postmaster to see that the proper form of money-order is used.

2. If the remittance is for land revenue, road cess, public works cess or zamindary dâk cess, the revenue money-order form must be used, and the rules relating to revenue money-orders must be observed.

3. If the remittance is for any other purpose, the ordinary inland money-order form must be used.

4. The rule prohibiting the inclusion of pies (fractions of an anna) is not applicable to money-orders in favour of any officer of Government or local body in his official capacity. Such money-orders may contain any fraction of an anna not less than one pie Remittances of amounts including fractions, of pies are not allowed. The limit of the amount of a single money-order is the same as of any other ordinary money order.

5. If a remitter of land revenue, road cess, public works cess, or zamindary dâk cess desires to remit at the same time any sum due to Government on any other account, he must use a revenue money-order for the remittance of land revenue, road cess, public works cess, or zamindary dâk cess, or for so many of these dues as he wishes to remit, and a separate ordinary inland money-order form for each of the other remittances.

6. A separate money-order form must be used for each Government due remitted by the ordinary inland money-order, and remittances on two accounts may not be included in one ordinary money order.

7. (a) If the remittance is on account of income tax, the remitter must be furnished with one of the special income-tax coupons (Form I—G.M.O.), and must fill up all the particulars indicated thereon.* The remitter is responsible for the correctness of the entries, but it is the duty of the money-order clerk or sub-postmaster or branch postmaster to refuse any money-order in which all the particulars are not entered.

(b) If the remitter is illiterate, the money-order clerk or sub or branch postmaster should give him any aid he may require to fill up the entries. The money-order clerk or sub or branch postmaster must give this aid freely, and may not demand or accept any gratification in return on pain of dismissal.

(c) The income-tax coupon should then be carefully and strongly pasted by the money-order clerk or sub or branch postmaster to the blank space provided on the coupon of the money-order form. Care must be taken that the coupon is not pasted over any part of the acknowledgment.

8. If the remittance is on any account other than income-tax, the money-order clerk or sub or branch postmaster must see that particulars of the object of the remittance are entered clearly on the ordinary coupon of the ordinary inland money-order form. If the object of the remittance is not clearly stated on the coupon, the money-order clerk or sub or branch postmaster should not accept the order until the omission is rectified and the object clearly stated. The money-order clerk or sub or branch postmaster should give any aid that the remitter may require to fill up the coupon, and may not demand or accept any gratification in return on pain of dismissal.

9. After the money-order has been properly filled up, it should be received and dealt with in the same way as any other ordinary inland money order.

10. Every remitter of a money-order, other than a revenue money-order, in favour of an officer of Government or of a local body, should be informed that, instead of the usual money-order acknowledgment signed by the payee, he will ordinarily receive the usual departmental receipt, which will be forwarded to him direct by post, and that he should address the payee regarding it if he do not receive it in due course. He should also be advised to keep the carbonic receipt carefully until he receives either the formal departmental receipt from the payee or the usual money-order acknowledgment.

* It may happen that a remitter does not know, and cannot conveniently ascertain, the number of list K, or has not received or has lost the notice L. In such a case the remitter should be asked to enter "Not known," or words to that effect, against item 5, on the coupon, and on his doing so the money-order should be accepted, provided all the other particulars are given. Whenever it is practicable for him to do so, the remitter should, however, be required to fill in item 5, as well as the other items.

PART II.

Procedure in the post office of payment.

11. These rules only apply to post offices (head or sub) at the head-quarters of districts and subdivisions. Other post offices which receive for payment ordinary money-orders in favour of officers of Government or of local bodies in their official capacities will pay them in cash under the procedure applicable to money-orders in favour of private individuals.

12. All money-orders in favour of the Magistrate or Collector (or Deputy Commissioner), or in favour of the Deputy Collector or other officer in charge of any department under the Magistrate or Collector (or Deputy Commissioner), or in favour of the Subdivisional Officer or any officer in charge of any department under the Subdivisional Officer, will be paid by book transfer. All money-orders in favour of any other officer of Government in his official capacity will also be paid by book transfer when a written requisition to that effect has been received by the post office from the Treasury or Sub-Treasury Officer.

With the exception of money-orders in favour of a cantonment committee, all money-orders in favour of any local body entitled to bank at the treasury or sub-treasury will also be paid by book transfer.

13. When the ordinary money-orders in favour of the officers of Government and local bodies named in rule 12, and any other officers whose money-orders are, according to the requisition of the treasury or sub-treasury officer, to be paid by book transfer, are in all respects ready* to be handed over to the postman, a list in triplicate† (Form 2—G. M. O.) should be made out by the money-order clerk, and the entries in the money column of the list should be carefully totalled. The original copy of the list will take the place of the journal of money-orders paid, the duplicate of the list will be sent to the treasury under the procedure described below, and the triplicate of the list will be the list for the Comptroller.

No money-order should be included in the list unless the object of the remittance is entered on the coupon.

14. The postmaster should then check the entries in the list with those on the money-orders, and also check the total of the money column. He will then give the postman the duplicate of the list, the money-orders, and a treasury or sub-treasury voucher representing the total value of the money-orders as entered at the foot of the list. The amount represented by the treasury or sub-treasury voucher will not be charged against the letter of credit, and will be paid quite independently of the balance of any letters of credit held by the treasury in favour of the post office.

15. The postman will take the duplicate list, the money-orders and the treasury or sub-treasury voucher to the treasury or sub-treasury officer, and will receive back from him the money-orders without the coupons and acknowledgments, and will be careful to see that he receives back all the money-orders, and that they are all duly receipted by the treasury or sub-treasury officer.

16. The paid money-orders received back from the treasury or sub-treasury will be examined by the money-order clerk in the same way as other ordinary money-orders, and the total amount of the money-orders will be entered in the journal of money-orders paid by a single entry, thus—'As per G. M. O. list— | | | |.'—The classification columns of the triplicate list will then be filled up, and the money-orders will be disposed of in the usual way. As the official payees of the money-orders will furnish the remitters with departmental receipts, the acknowledgments will not be returned by the treasury or sub-treasury officer for transmission to the remitters. The original and triplicate lists will be kept with the journal of money-orders paid until the next list of ordinary money-orders paid is sent to the Comptroller, when the corresponding (triplicate) lists of official money-orders paid will also be sent, the paid money-orders being arranged in order and attached to the lists. The original lists will then be filed, a separate file of original lists being kept with each journal of money-orders paid, so that the dates of the journal and file of official money-order lists correspond.

17. The amount of the treasury or sub-treasury voucher will be entered in the post office accounts on the receipt side as drawn from the district or sub-treasury, as the case may be, and will be included in the sum entered on the payment side under the head "Amount of money-orders paid." In the case of a head office the amount will also appear in column 11 of the head office pass-book (A/c-8). All these entries must be made on the same date.

18. If it should happen that a money-order for any officer or local body named or indicated in rule 12 is received at the office of payment without the object of the remittance being entered on the coupon, the money-order will, as stated in rule 13, not be included in the day's list. The postmaster will retain the money-order in deposit and make a reference to the office of issue to ascertain the object of the remittance. On the receipt of a reply he will attach it to the coupon, and the reply will be considered as part of the coupon. The money-order will then be included in the next list sent to the treasury or sub-treasury. If,

* Only the total number and amount of official money-orders received for payment need be entered in the register of money-orders received. In order, however, that the record may be complete, it will be necessary to make a note in the last column of the register whenever all the official money-orders received in one day are not included in the list of that date. For example, if in the register of money-orders received on the 5th July there are shown 500 official money-orders for Rs. 10,000, but 300 of these orders for Rs. 7,000 were received too late for inclusion in the list sent to the treasury on the 5th, there should be an entry in the last column of the register in this form—notwithstanding a reference to the office of issue, the object of the money-order cannot be ascertained, the postmaster of the office of payment will treat the money-order as refused, and return it, under the usual procedure, to the office of issue, noting across the coupon the words "Refused, as object of remittance not stated." Every case in which a money-order is received without the object being entered on the coupon should be reported by the office of payment to the superintendent of the division in which the office of issue is situated.

200 for Rs. 3,000 included in the list of 5th.
300 for Rs. 7,000 included in the list of 6th.

† The duplicate and triplicate will be prepared by carbonic paper, and a hard pencil must be used in writing the list.

19. On the 1st of every month the money-order clerk or sub-postmaster of the head-quarters or subdivisional post office will prepare a return (Form 3—G. M. O.) of official money-orders, other than revenue money-orders, received during the previous month. The returns of postmasters at sub-divisional stations will be submitted to the postmaster of the district head-quarters on the 1st of the month, and the return of the head-quarters post office will be submitted to the head of the circle on the 5th of the month, together with the returns of any offices at sub-divisional stations in the district.

PART III.

Procedure to be followed in the Treasury or Sub-Treasury.

20. When any officer of Government, not specified in rule 12, requests that money-orders in his favour may be paid by book transfer, a written requisition to that effect will be addressed by the treasury or sub-treasury officer to the postmaster at the treasury or sub-treasury station.

21. On receipt of the list, money-orders, and treasury or sub-treasury voucher (see rule 15), the treasury or sub-treasury officer will check and compare the documents. If there is any error, he will return all the documents to the post office with a note of the error or errors. When the documents are correct, the treasury or sub-treasury officer will at once cut off the strip of each money-order containing the coupon and acknowledgment, sign and date the money-orders as payee, and return them to the postman. The treasury or sub-treasury officer will retain the strips, including the coupon and acknowledgment, the duplicate list of money-orders (Form 2—G. M. O.) and the treasury or sub-treasury voucher.

22. The treasury or sub-treasury officer will on the same day adjust the amount of the treasury or sub-treasury voucher by transfer, debiting the amount to the post office and crediting the amounts of the several money-orders as shown in the list and on the acknowledgments to the appropriate departments or local bodies. If the amount of any money-order cannot for any reason be credited at once to the proper head of account, it should be entered in the body of the cash-book with such particulars as are available, and a reference should be at once made through the department concerned for further particulars, on receipt of which credit to the proper head should be effected in communication with the Accountant-General.

In the case of sub-treasuries a note should be made in the "Remarks" column of the duplicate list showing on what account each money-order was sent as indicated on the coupon. This column will be blank when received from the post office. The duplicate list will be forwarded to the district treasury with the sub-treasury "daily sheet."

23. To each department or local body in favour of which any money-order or money-orders have been received and credited, the treasury or sub-treasury officer will on the same day send an advice list in the form (4—G. M. O.), together with the corresponding strips, consisting of the coupons and acknowledgments. In the case of officers and local bodies to whom daily advice lists are sent of other receipts on their accounts, the total amount of each money-order advice list will be entered (with a reference to the money-order advice list) in the daily advice list.

The treasury or sub-treasury officer will be responsible that the total of the amounts of the money-order advice lists is equal to the amount of the treasury or sub-treasury voucher received from the post office and debited to the postal department.

24. No money-order received from the post office may be refused.

PART IV.

Procedure in the offices of the payees of the money-orders.

25. When any officer of Government, not separately specified in rule 12, desires that money-orders in his favour be paid by book transfer, he will make a written request to that effect to the treasury or sub-treasury officer for communication to the postmaster.

26. On receipt of an advice list (see rule 23) with the corresponding strips consisting of the acknowledgments, the usual entries will be made in the prescribed registers, and the prescribed receipts will be sent to the remitters by post, the postage being prepaid by service or ordinary stamps, according as the department or local body is or is not entitled to use service stamps.

27. The prescribed form of receipt should be sent to each remitter at latest on the first open day after the receipt of the advice list from the treasury or sub-treasury.

28. If the amount of a money-order is more than is due from the remitter, the excess should be entered as an advance on account of future dues, or be dealt with in such other way as the rules of the department or local body may prescribe; if the amount is less than is due, it should be credited as a payment in part; if the period on account of which the remittance is made is specified, the amount should be credited on account of the period; if the period is not specified, the remittance should be set off against those dues which have been longest outstanding.

Systems of working trains.

Systems of working trains.

2. All trains working between stations must be worked on one of the following systems, namely:—

"Line-clear and caution message" or "Combined Line-clear and Pilot Guard system;"

in accordance with the rules laid down in Chapters IV and V, respectively.

CHAPTER III.

Rules applicable generally to all systems of working trains.

Time.

3. The working of trains between stations shall be regulated by Madras time, which must be sent to all the principal stations on the railway.

Following trains, working on certain systems.

4. No train shall be allowed to leave a station to follow another train on the same line,—

(a) in the case of a passenger train to follow a goods train, or a goods train to follow a slow passenger train, unless—

(i) the Driver has been properly warned of the time of departure of the (Part I, Chapter III.—Rules applicable generally to all systems of working trains.—Rules 5-7. Chapter IV.—Working of trains on the "Line-clear and caution message" system.—Rules 8-11.)

preceding train and of the place at which it will next stop, and

(ii) an interval of seven minutes (or, if the distance to the next station in advance exceeds ten miles, such longer interval as shall be prescribed by special instructions) has elapsed since the departure of the preceding train, or

(b) in any other case, unless either—

(iii) it has been ascertained that the preceding train has arrived at the next station in advance, or

(iv) an interval of seven minutes has elapsed since the departure of the preceding train.

Double and single line working.

5. (1) Where there is a double line, every train must be run on the left hand line:

Provided that if one of the lines should be blocked so as to necessitate the passing of all Up and Down trains on a single line, such special instructions as may be necessary shall immediately be issued for establishing single-line working.

(2) Where trains are being run on a single line, no train shall be allowed to leave one station for another until it has been ascertained that the line between such stations is clear of trains coming from the opposite direction and, except as contemplated in rule 4, of all other known impediments.

(a) When telegraphic communication is interrupted between any two stations, and the usual "Line-clear" message cannot, in consequence, be obtained direct, every effort must be made to obtain it by communicating through the station next beyond or next back, but should the interruption be of such a nature as to render this impossible, the Station Master may allow a train to proceed under a caution order (green form), provided that no train is due in the opposite direction, and that the Station Master has reason to believe that the line in the direction in which the train is proceeding is clear. This caution order to proceed must state fully the reason why "line clear" has not been obtained, and must restrict the speed to 7 miles an hour.

Running of trains or trollies.

6. No train or trolly shall be allowed to leave a station unless previous notice has been given, when practicable, to all other stations concerned.

CHAPTER IV.

Working of trains on the "Line-clear and caution message" system.

Procedure before allowing train to leave station.

8. (1) Where trains are worked on the "Line-clear and caution message" system, no train shall be allowed to leave one station for another unless it has been ascertained by telegram that the line on which the train is to travel between the two stations either—

(a) is absolutely clear of trains and all other known impediments, or

(b) is occupied only by trains running in advance in the same direction at time intervals.

(2) In case (a) a line-clear certificate or a written permission to proceed, and in case (b) a caution certificate or a written permission to proceed with caution, must be issued, and the Driver shall not move the train from the station unless he has such certificate or permission in his possession.

(3) In case (b) the following conditions must also be observed, in addition to those prescribed in rule 4, namely:—

(c) permission must first be obtained, in each case, from the station to which the train is proceeding,

(d) the time at which the preceding train left the station must be entered in the caution certificate or written permission, and

(e) if a flag station, or a station without telegraphic connection, intervenes between the two stations, such special instructions as may be given must be followed.

Who to despatch telegrams and issue certificates and written permissions.

9. No telegram shall be despatched, and no certificate or written permission shall be issued, under rule 8, clause (1) or clause (2), except by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by the authorised officer.

Time for despatching telegram.

10. Except from train terminal stations, no telegram enquiring whether any train may run shall be despatched from any station under rule 8, clause (1), until advice has been received at that station that such train has left the station in rear:

Provided that where, in consequence of the short distance between the two said stations, the train might be delayed by the observance of this rule, such telegram may be despatched at any time prescribed by special instructions.

Delivery of certificate or written permission to Driver.

11. (1) Every certificate or written permission issued at a station under rule 8, clause (2), shall be delivered, by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by the authorised officer,—

(a) if the train runs through the station without stopping, to the Driver, and

(b) if the train stops at the station, in the case of passenger trains, to the Guard in charge of the train, and in the case of goods trains, to the Driver.

(Part I, Chapter IV.—Working of trains on the "Line-clear and caution message" system.—Rules 12-16.)

(2) When any such certificate or written permission is delivered to the Driver under clause (a) of this rule, a duplicate shall be given in case of passenger trains to the Guard in charge of train.

(3) When any such certificate or written permission is delivered to the Guard in charge of the train under clause (b) of this rule, it must be either—

(c) handed to the Driver by the Guard, or

(d) countersigned by the Guard and then handed to the Driver either by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by the authorised officer.

(4) When any such certificate or written permission is delivered to the Driver under clause (a) of this rule, the Station Master shall be responsible—

(e) that it is properly filled up,

(f) that the date and time of the receipt of the line-clear or caution telegram upon which it is based are noted thereon,

(g) that it applies to the particular train to which such telegram referred, and

(h) that it is signed in full and in ink.

(5) When any such certificate or written permission is delivered to the Guard in charge of the train under clause (b) of this rule, the Guard must, before it is handed to the Driver, satisfy himself on the several points mentioned in clause (4) of this rule.

(6) If the train stops at the station, the Driver must, before starting, satisfy himself, so far as he may be able to do so, on the several points mentioned in clause (4) of this rule.

(7) If the train stops at the station,—

(i) a certificate or written permission issued under rule 8, clause (2), shall not, except in accordance with special instructions, be handed to the Driver until the train is ready to start, and

(j) if the train is waiting to pass another train, such certificate or written permission shall not be handed to the Driver until the whole of the latter train has come in and is clear of the points.

Examination of facing-points of approaching train.

12. When a train is to run through any station without stopping, the Station Master of that station, or some railway servant appointed in this behalf by the authorised officer, must proceed to the facing-points and satisfy himself that they are properly set and either secured or manned.

Cancellation of telegram.

13. (1) Any telegram despatched under rule 8, clause (1), may, if necessary, be cancelled.

(2) When a line-clear or caution telegram has been despatched from any station, conveying permission for a train to proceed to that station, and such telegram is subsequently cancelled, no train shall be allowed to leave that station in the opposite direction on a single line until a telegram has been received at that station, acknowledging such cancellation and stating that the train for which permission to proceed had been given will be detained.

Forms for telegrams, certificates and written permissions and books of forms.

14. (1) All telegrams despatched, and certificates and written permissions issued, under rule 8, clause (1) or clause (2), shall be written on forms specially provided for the purpose by the railway administration.

(2) Such forms shall be bound up in books, and kept at each station by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by the authorised officer.

(3) Each of such books in use at a station shall contain a certificate, signed by the person by whom the book is kept, showing the number of pages contained therein.

(4) The pages of each such book shall be progressively numbered in print; and when any telegram, certificate or permission written on any page is cancelled, the whole page, together with the counterfoil, must be marked as cancelled, and the page must be carefully preserved by doubling it on the counterfoil.

Special numbering of telegrams.

15. (1) In addition to the progressive printed number, every telegram despatched under rule 8, clause (1), from each station to stations on each side must be specially numbered from midnight to midnight, commencing with number one to each station; and such special number must be treated as a portion of the telegram, and entered on the counterfoil. This number must also be entered in the Log Book.

(2) When a telegram is in reply to another, each station's number must be quoted at the beginning of the reply telegram.

(3) When a telegram bears reference to a prior telegram to the same station, the number of such prior telegram must be quoted at the beginning of the latter telegram.

Contents of telegrams.

16. (1) Every telegram despatched under rule 8, clause (1), must distinctly describe the train to which it relates, as, for instance, "No. 10 Down Mail," or "No. 1 Up Goods," and so on.

(2) For every train a separate enquiry and reply must be sent; and an enquiry telegram and a reply telegram shall never be written on one form.

(3) Every telegram despatched from a station under rule 8, clause (1), enquiring whether the line is clear, must specify the time at which the last train in the opposite direction arrived at that station.

(4) There are four kinds of train messages:—

A.—Line-clear enquiries.
B.—Line-clear messages.
C.—In reports.
D.—Out reports.

These must be written on the forms specially provided for the purpose.

A—is the enquiry message from the station at which an engine or train is waiting or is expected, asking the station next beyond, if the line is clear for the train to proceed and must be worded thus—

From—S.M. G.M.	To—S.M. D.J.

No. 3.—Is line clear for No. 5 Up Mail left S.A.D. at 14-20 hours. No. 10 Down Mail arrived at 10-33 hours.

This message must be written by the Station Master in the Log Book printed in red for Up stations, and in black for Down stations, and in all cases he must state on the message the last train that has arrived from the opposite direction. The Log Book must be sent to the signaller who will signal the message, noting on it the time received by him and the time despatched; he will then initial the entries and return the book to the Station Master.

When a line-clear reply has been received, it must be written for Up stations in the red Log Book (Form T 1A) and for Down stations in the black Log Book (Form T 1B). The Station Master, when he receives a "Line-clear" from the signaller, must sign across the original message in the Log Book and satisfy himself that it is correct, before handing it to the Guard or Driver.

Line-clear Log Books for Up stations are printed in red and for Down stations in black.

B—is the "Line-clear" or reply from the station to which the enquiry message has been sent; it must be worded thus—

From—S.M.	To—S.M.
D.J.	G M.

No. 3—Your No. 3—Line is clear for No. 5 Up Mail.

Line-clear messages must, after being copied into the Log Book, be written for Up trains on the red form and for Down trains on the white form. The line-clear message must be written in the Log Book at the station where it is given by the Station Master who gives it.

C—The "In report" is an entry made by the Station Master in the "Arrival" column of the Train's arrival and departure notice book (Form T 6)—showing the time and train arrived at his station. The book containing this entry must be sent by the Station Master, immediately a train arrives, to the signaller, who must, at once, telegraph the information to the station from which the train has just come, initial the entry, showing against it time despatched, and return the book to the Station Master.

A signaller on receipt of an "In report" must enter it in the "Time arrival" column of his "In report book" (Form T 7) which he must at once send to the Station Master, who will, after copying the entry into "Arrival at next station" column of the Train's arrival and departure notice book, initial the entry in the "In report book" and return it to the signaller.

NOTE.—The above must be strictly acted up to, in addition to the rule already laid down.

In the case of slips, etc., blocking the line, "Out report" should, as usual, be sent to the station beyond the slip.

D—The "Out report" is an entry made by the Station Master in the "departure" column of the Train's arrival and departure notice book, showing the time the train left his station. The book containing this entry must be sent by the Station Master directly the train has started to the signaller, who must immediately despatch the information to the station to which the train is proceeding and then initial the entry, showing the time the message was signalled, and return the book to the Station Master.

A signaller on receipt of an "Out report" must enter it in the "Time left" column of his "Out report book" (Form T 8) which he must at once send to the Station Master, who will initial the entry and return the book to the signaller after copying the information into the "departure from next station" column in his Train's arrival and departure notice book.

When a "Line-clear" message has been given for a train by one station to another and it is afterwards found necessary to cancel it, in order to allow a train running in an opposite direction to take precedence, an enquiry message, worded thus, must be sent :—

From—S.M.	To—S.M.
G.B.E.	T.D.H.

No. 4.—Cancel my No. 3.—Detain No. 3 Up Goods at yours and give "line clear" for No. 4 Down Goods left M.H.N. at 11-16. No. 1 Up arrived at 9-4.

If No. 3 Up Goods for which G.B.E., in the first instance, gave "line clear" had not started from T.D.H. before the receipt of this message, Station Master, T.D.H., would write "cancelled" across the face of the "line clear" granted for No. 3 Up Goods, return the message to signaller and reply to G.B.E. as under :—

From—S.M.	To—S.M.
T.D.H.	G.B.E.

No. 4.— Your No. 4.—No. 3 Up Goods is and will be detained here. Your No. 3 cancelled. Line is clear for No. 4 Down Goods.

Station Master, T.D.H., would then again ask "line clear" for No. 3 Up Goods, which message he would word thus :—

From—S.M.	To—S.M.
T.D.H.	G.B.E.

No. 5.—Your No. 4 and my No. 4.—On arrival of No. 4 Down Goods here, will line be clear for No. 3 Up Goods waiting here?

to which enquiry, Station Master, G.B.E., would reply as follows :—

From—S.M.	To—S.M.
G.B.E.	T.D.H.

No. 5.—Your No. 5.—On arrival of No. 4 Down Goods at yours line will be clear for No. 3 Up Goods.

This message however would be a "conditional line clear" and could not be made use of by Station Master, T.D.H., until he had certified across the face of the message that No. 4 Down Goods had arrived at his station.

When one train has to follow another cautiously, the messages should be worded as follows :—

From—S.M.	To—S.M.
G.B.E.	T.D.H.

No. 6.—Your No. 5.—May No. 2 Down Goods follow No. 4 Down?

From—S.M.	To—S.M.
T.D.H.	G.B.E.

No. 7.—Your No. 6.—No. 2 Down Goods may follow No. 4 Down cautiously.

The message received from the preceding station must be written in the Log Book and sent to the Station Master, who will write the order on Form T4 endorsing on it the time of departure of the preceding train. The Driver's signature as also the Guard's, if there is one, must be obtained on the counterfoil. The interval of time as laid down in Chapter III of the Book of General Rules must be observed.

(Part I, Chapter IV.—Working of trains on the "Line-clear and caution message" system.—Rules 17-22. Chapter V.—Working of trains on the combined "Line-clear and Pilot guard" system.—Rules 23-27. Chapter VI.—Additional rules as to working of Ballast trains.—Rule 28.)

Writing-up and signing of telegrams, certificates and permissions.

17. All telegrams despatched, and certificates and written permissions issued under rule 8, shall be written up in ink or with some other indelible substance, and shall be signed in full by the person authorised to despatch or issue the same.

Telegrams, certificates and permissions not to be written or signed before required.

18. No telegram despatched, or certificate or written permission issued, under rule 8, clause (1) or clause (2), shall be written out, either in full or in part, or signed, before it is required for use.

Telegrams to be wholly written out before being despatched or acted upon.

19. No part of a telegram framed under rule 8, clause (1), shall be despatched or acted upon until the whole telegram has been written out, except in view to the prevention of an accident or in some other case of emergency.

Time for keeping telegrams, certificates and permissions.

20. No telegram despatched, or certificate or written permission issued, under rule 8, clause (1) or clause (2), shall be destroyed in less than a fortnight after such despatch or issue.

Signals.

21. In working trains on the "Line-clear and caution message" system, Hand or other signals must be used, whenever and wherever occasion may require.

Working of trains in case of accident.

22. In case of accident to the line or to any train, or of failure or interruption of telegraphic communication, trains must be worked between stations in accordance with special instructions.

CHAPTER V.

Working of trains on the combined "Line-clear and Pilot guard" system.

Application of system.

23. This system will only be used when trains are booked to cross at intermediate stations where there is no telegraph office.

Following trains.

24. Trains may follow one another in the same direction between stations subject to the conditions prescribed in this Chapter, in addition to those prescribed in rule 4.

Pilot Guard's dress or badge.

25. The Pilot Guard must be distinguished by a red badge.

(a) No train shall be started from a station unless the Driver has, in his possession, a line-clear certificate or caution certificate, and unless the Driver sees that the train is accompanied by, or that the signal for starting is given personally by the Pilot Guard wearing the badge prescribed by rule 25.

Trains to be accompanied, or personally started, by Pilot Guard.

26. Except as herein provided, the Pilot Guard must accompany every train and must, in all cases, ride on the engine:

Provided that when it is necessary to start two trains from a station following one another under rule 4, the Pilot Guard shall accompany the last train and shall personally give the signal for starting the prior train.

Pilot Guard's ticket.

27. (1) When the Pilot Guard does not accompany any train, he shall, before giving the signal for starting, deliver to the Guard in charge (or, if there be no Guard in charge, to the Driver) a Pilot Guard's ticket (on a printed form) properly filled up and signed.

(2) Every such ticket shall apply only to the single journey to the station named on it.

(3) If the train is in charge of a Guard, he shall, before the train is started, deliver the ticket to the Driver.

(4) All the "Line-clear and caution messages" given under these rules will have printed upon them the word "Pilot" in large red letters on the white form, and black letters on the red form.

(5) All Pilot Guard's tickets will be sent in by the Drivers attached to his Journal.

EXAMPLES—

(a) If Mahanudy asks Kurseong "line clear" for the Up Mail and Kurseong, to avoid detention to a Down train, gives "line clear" to Giddapahar Siding only, the Pilot Guard at Mahanudy, under the instructions of the Station Master, must start and accompany the Up Mail, having in his possession a written order on "line clear" (Form T5) for the train coming from the opposite direction, which should be worded thus:—

"On arrival of No. 5 Up Mail at Gidda-"pahar Siding, line will be clear for "No. 4 Down Goods" and so on.

(b) If Teendaria wishes to send forward a train with extra wagons to Choonbatty to be followed by the Down Mail which attaches these wagons at that station, and Rungtong at the same time wishes to despatch an Up train as far as Loop No. 2, the procedure will be as follows:—

Teendaria would ask Rungtong for return line clear to Choonbatty, and on arrival of Down Mail at Choonbatty the engine would return to Teendaria. The Pilot with caution line clear for Up train proceeds to Loop No. 2 by Down Mail and returns to Teendaria by that train from No. 2 Loop.

For two Up trains and one Down train—

(c) The Pilot Guard leaving Teendaria proceeds by the 24 Down train with two line-clear messages, and on arrival at Choonbatty he hands the one for No. 1 Up to the Driver and then goes on to Loop No. 2 and hands the line clear to Driver of No. 3 Up and returns to Teendaria with that train.

(d) Rungtong gives No. 1 Up line clear to Choonbatty only, and No. 3 Up to Loop No. 2 only, one Pilot Guard accompanies the first train with line clear for No. 24 Down from Choonbatty to Loop No. 2; the latter train with the second Pilot with line clear from Loop No. 2 to Rungtong.

In the "line clear" given by Teendaria to No. 3 Up from Loop No. 2, the Driver is informed to follow No. 1 Up cautiously.

The same procedure is adopted for two Down trains and one Up train.

CHAPTER VI.

28. Ballast trains must be worked in accordance with the rules contained in this Chapter,

The Jemadar Brakesman must be left in charge of such vehicles until they are again coupled on to the engine.

(2) The coupling and uncoupling of vehicles must be done by the Jemadar Brakesman only, under the orders of the Driver. No vehicle in a train is to be uncoupled without such orders.

(3) In case of fire, the first precaution to be taken is to secure the wheels of the last vehicle by a sprag or wedge independent of the brakes and then detach the wagon or wagons on fire, spragging them also, every effort being made to keep fire within the smallest limit. The train must also in all cases be protected by signals in both directions.

Vehicles which have been off the line.

112. No vehicle which has been off the line shall be allowed to run between stations until such vehicle has been examined and passed by a competent Carriage and Wagon Examiner:

Moving passenger train or mixed train after it has been stopped at station.

116. When a passenger train or a mixed train has been brought to a stand at a station, whether alongside, beyond or short of the platform, the Driver shall not move it for any purpose whatever, except upon instructions from the Guard in charge of the train under orders of the Station Master, and the Guard in charge of the train shall not give the signal for moving the train until he has satisfied himself that no passenger is getting into or out of the train.

Two trains not to enter station at same time on a single line.

117. Where there is a single line, two trains shall not be allowed to enter a station at the same time, but the train having precedence must be admitted first, and the signals applying to the other train must be kept at "danger" until the first train has been brought to a stand at the station.

Train obscured by steam or smoke.

118. Whenever the Driver of a train observes a train obscured by steam or smoke on any line or siding, he must sound the engine-whistle, and must approach the obscured train cautiously, to enable him to stop his own train if necessary.

Duties of Driver and Guard observing obstruction, etc., on the line.

119. (1) Whenever the Driver or any Guard of a train observes—

(a) any obstruction on the line on which the train is running, or

(Part I, Chapter IX.—Additional rules as to the movement of rolling stock and the duties of railway servants in connection therewith.—Rules 120-128.)

(b) any defect in, or irregularity in the working of, any signal, or

(c) any defect in the permanent-way, works, or telegraph, or

(d) any other unusual circumstance, he must make a report of the facts to the Station Master at the first station where the train stops and at the end of the journey.

The Station Master will communicate such report at once to the Heads of Branches concerned and will also see that all necessary precautions are taken for the protection of traffic.

(2) If any of the circumstances mentioned or referred to in clause (1) of this rule and observed by the Driver or any Guard involve danger to the traffic, then—

(e) if it is necessary for the safety of the traffic to do so, the Driver must stop the train as soon as practicable.

Report to stations in case of obstruction to train.

120. (1) Whenever a train is obstructed, the Guard in charge of the train must take steps to secure a report of the circumstances being made, in the quickest possible manner,—

(a) to the Station Master of the nearest station, or

(b) if the telegraph be injured, or if there be no telegraph, to the Station Masters of the stations on each side of the place at which the obstruction occurred.

(2) Any Station Master receiving any such report must, as soon as possible, arrange for all necessary assistance being sent to the train, and, in order that approaching trains may be stopped, must report the circumstances, by telegraph, or if the telegraph be injured, or if there be no telegraph, then by the most expeditious means available, to the next station on the other side of the place at which the obstruction occurred, unless he has received information that such a report has already been made under clause (b) of this rule

Driver observing train following too closely.

121. Whenever the Driver of a train observes a train following his own train too closely, he must sound the engine-whistle and show a "danger" signal to warn the Driver of such following train.

Train parting.

122. If any portion of a train should become detached when in motion, the Driver shall not stop the front portion until the rear portion has been stopped, and the Guard in the rear brake-van and the Brakesmen on the rear portion of the train must promptly apply their brakes.

Train stopped on single line.

123. (1) When a train is from any cause stopped outside station limits, the Guard in charge of the train must protect the train by showing a "danger" Hand signal both in rear and front of the train at a distance of 300 feet from the train. The fireman or other competent person may, if necessary, be sent out for this purpose.

(2) The persons going out to protect the train must constantly show the "danger" Hand signal and must remain at the distance prescribed, showing the "Danger" Hand signal until recalled by engine-whistle or otherwise.

(3) The rear portion of the train must be protected first.

(4) This rule shall not apply to incidental stoppages, made under instructions from Station Master of preceding station.

Engine stopped on line.

124. If any engine without vehicles attached should, while on the line outside station limits, be unable to proceed, the Driver must see that the precautions prescribed by rule 123 are taken for the protection of the engine, employing the Fireman or some other competent person to assist him.

125. (1) When a portion of a train is left on the line outside station limits, in consequence of an accident or of the inability of the engine to take the whole train forward, the Guard in charge of the train must put down the brakes, and, if necessary, otherwise carefully secure the said portion of the train to ensure its remaining stationary.

(2) The Guard must then take the precautions prescribed by rule 123, for the protection of the said portion of the train.

(3) When the front portion of the train is taken forward, the Fireman, or if there are two Guards with the train, the second Guard must, if it is practicable and safe to do so, ride upon the last vehicle of the said front portion of the train until it is placed in a siding. For the purposes of this rule, Brakesmen are to be looked upon as Guards.

(4) The Driver shall not take the engine back on the same line to pick up the portion of the train left on the line, except upon instructions from the Guard in charge of the train.

(5) When the engine is so taken back, the Guard must, until the arrival of the engine, continue to take the precautions referred to in clause (2) of this rule, for the protection in the rear of the portion of the train left on the line, and shall not permit a following train to move any of the vehicles under his charge.

Protection of trains approaching train stopped, or portion of train left, on line.

126. (1) If more than one train should approach a train or a portion of a train stopped or left on the line outside station limits, the Guard in charge of the train which last arrives, or if there be no Guard, the Driver of such train, must see that the precautions prescribed by rule 123 are taken for the protection of such train in the rear.

(2) When such precautions have been taken, all persons who went out to protect in the rear any train except such last train as aforesaid may return to their own trains.

Danger to be avoided in shunting or crossing.

127. The Station Master must see that the shunting of trains, or the crossing of trains from one line to another, is performed only at such times and in such manner as will not involve danger.

Shunting on incline.

128. When any vehicle is being shunted on a steep gradient, the railway servant in charge of the operation must see that a sufficient number of brakes are put on, that sprags or hand scotches are used when necessary, and that any other necessary precautions are taken to prevent the vehicle from running down the incline. The instructions given in rule 45 must also be observed where scotch blocks are provided.

Vehicle escaping from a station.

129. If any vehicle escapes from a station, the Station Master must take immediate steps to warn the other stations concerned and to prevent, as far as practicable, the occurrence of an accident.

Fly shunting.

130. Fly shunting of any vehicle against a loaded passenger train or of any vehicle containing passengers or live-stock, is prohibited.

Securing vehicles in sidings.

131. (1) The Station Master must see that vehicles standing at the station in sidings are properly secured in accordance with special instructions, and that scotch blocks, where provided, are fastened,—

(a) All vehicles detached from running trains and left in siding are to be secured so as to prevent them from being blown out in a storm or escaping in any other way, by passing a chain under the rail and round one or more of the wheels of the vehicle nearest to the points of the siding in which the vehicles are standing, and then after fastening the chain by a padlock coupling up the other vehicles to the vehicle so secured.

(2) No railway servant shall leave any vehicle in a siding outside station limits unless the wheels thereof are properly secured and the vehicle is clear of all running lines.

Searching of vehicles shunted off at station.

132. The Station Master shall be responsible that all vehicles shunted off at the station as empties are carefully searched.

Closing of windows of empty compartments on siding.

133. The Station Master shall be responsible that the doors and windows of all empty compartments are closed when the carriages are standing on a siding and that all purdahs are fastened down.

Private vehicles entering main line.

134. No engine or other vehicle, the property of a private owner, shall be allowed to enter upon the main line except under special arrangements.

Driver not to leave engine when on duty.

135. No Driver shall leave his engine when on duty, whether at a station or on the line, except in case of absolute necessity and after a competent man has been placed in charge of it.

Guard not to leave train till handed over.

136. No Guard in charge of a train shall leave it until it has been properly handed over in accordance with special instructions.

Duties imposed on Guard to be undertaken by Driver of train not provided with Guard.

137. Such of these rules as impose duties on the Guard in charge of a train for ensuring the protection and safe working of the train shall, so far as they are applicable, apply to the Driver of all trains not provided with Guards.

CHAPTER X.

Permanent-way and Works.

Responsibility of, and reports by, Inspector of Permanent-way.

138. Each Inspector of Permanent-way shall be responsible for the condition of the permanent-way and works in his section and must promptly report to the Engineer in charge of the line all accidents thereto, and defects therein which such Inspector may consider likely to interfere with the safe running of trains.

Reports by railway servants of failure of works.

139. Every railway servant observing any failure of any part of the works must, if he considers that the same is likely to interfere with the safe running of trains, report the circumstances as soon as possible to the nearest Inspector of Permanent-way and to the Station Masters of the stations on each side of the point at which such failure has occurred.

Inspection of permanent-way and works.

140. (1) Every portion of the permanent-way must be inspected daily on foot by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by the authorised officer.

(2) All bridges and other works must be regularly inspected in accordance with special instructions.

Ganger in each gang.

141. In each gang of Platelayers or other workmen employed on the permanent-way there shall be a Ganger.

Supply of gauge, tools and implements to Gangers and signals and lamps to gangs.

142. Each Inspector of Permanent-way shall be responsible—

(a) that every Ganger employed in his section is supplied with a permanent-way gauge and all necessary tools and implements, and

(b) that every gang of Platelayers, or other workmen employed on the permanent-way in his section is supplied with two sets of flag signals and two Hand signal lamps.

Inspection of such gauge, tools, implements, signals and lamps.

143. Each Inspector of Permanent-way must, at least once a month, inspect the gauge, tools, implements, signals and lamps supplied under rule 142 to Gangers and gangs, and ascertain whether the gauge is correct, whether the tools, implements, signals and lamps are in good order, and whether any of the said articles have been lost.

Responsibility of Ganger as to signals.

144. Each Ganger shall be responsible that the signals supplied to himself and to the gang under his charge are kept constantly in proper order and ready for use.

Permanent-way to keep register of Gangers.

145. Each Inspector of Permanent-way must keep a Register of the names and places of residence of all Gangers employed on his section to enable him to call upon them to summon their gangs whenever their services may be required.

Ganger to collect his men.

146. Each Ganger must immediately collect the men of his gang whenever their services may be required.

Inspector of Permanent-way to see to observance of rules.

147. Each Inspector of Permanent-way must see to the due observance of such of these rules as affect the Platelayers or other workmen employed on the permanent-way in his section.

Telegraph posts and wires, and signal wires.

148. (1) Each Ganger must report to the Inspector of Permanent-way whenever any telegraph post on his length of line appears to be in an unsafe state, or whenever any of the telegraph or signal wires on his length of line are broken, slack or entangled, or touch each other or any building.

(2) Where the maintenance of the telegraph is under the control of the Government Telegraph Department, the said Inspector shall forward to that Department every such report relating to the telegraph posts or wires.

(3) Each Ganger must see that all grass, creepers, boughs of trees and rubbish are removed from the signal wires, and (where the maintenance of the telegraph is not under the control of the Government Telegraph Department) from the telegraph wires, on his length of line.

Cleaning of signals and points.

149. Each Ganger must see that the working parts of points on his length of the line are kept clean, unless that duty is imposed on some other railway servant by the authorised officer.

Keeping of permanent-way materials and tools and implements.

150. (1) Each Inspector of Permanent-way shall be responsible for the security of all rails, chairs, sleepers and other permanent-way materials in his section, and for seeing that such of them as are not actually in use are kept clear of the line and properly stacked.

(2) Each Ganger must see that all rails, chairs, sleepers, pieces of iron or wood and other permanent-way materials and all tools and implements under his charge, are carefully placed so as to be quite clear of the line and at least five feet away from the rails.

Replacing of defective materials.

151. Each Inspector of Permanent-way or authorised officer must see that all broken or defective rails, chairs, sleepers, or other permanent-way materials on the length of line under his charge are removed from the road with the least possible delay, and that sound materials are substituted for them.

Line to be kept clear and safe, and fencing in repair.

152. Each Ganger must—

(a) keep his length of line clear and safe, and

(b) keep the fences thereof in repair.

Flood.

153. If, owing to heavy rain, a flood occurs on the railway, each Ganger must carefully examine the action of the water through the culverts and bridges on his length of line; and should he see any cause to apprehend danger to the works, must immediately show the proper signals for trains to proceed with caution or to stop, as necessity may require, and inform the Inspector of Permanent-way of the circumstances; and until the said Inspector arrives, must take precautionary measures for securing the safety and stability of the line.

Fire.

154. If a fire occurs on or near any portion of the railway where Platelayers or other workmen are employed on the permanent-way, the men must take immediate measures for putting it out.

Permission required before putting in points or crossings.

155. No person shall put in any points or crossings without the written permission of the authorised officer, previously obtained.

Work involving danger to trains or traffic.

156. (1) No person shall commence or carry on any work which will involve danger to trains or to traffic without the previous sanction of the Inspector of Permanent-way or of some competent person appointed in this behalf by the authorised officer, and except in cases of emergencies or of trifling repairs which can be executed between trains, 24 hours' notice in writing must be given to the Traffic Branch before the work is commenced.

(2) The Inspector of Permanent-way or other person who sanctions any work under clause (1) of this rule must himself be present to superintend such work and shall be responsible that the provisions of rule 157 are observed;

Provided that in cases of emergency, when it may be necessary for safety to commence any such work before such Inspector or other person can arrive, the Ganger may commence the work at once and must himself see that the provisions of rule 157 are observed.

Ordinary work necessitating showing of a "danger" signal.

157. (1) No Inspector of Permanent-way or authorised officer shall change or turn a rail or commence any operation which would obstruct the line and necessitate the showing of a "danger" signal,—

(a) if within station limits,—

until he has obtained the permission of the Station Master and has seen that special signals as per rule 46 are clearly exhibited and necessary signals have been placed at danger, or, until he has seen that "danger" signals have been plainly shown in both directions at a distance of 300 feet.

(b) if outside station limits,—

(2) In case (a) the signals must be kept at "danger" until the Station Master has been informed by the Inspector of Permanent-way or authorised officer that the line is again clear and safe for traffic.

(3) In either case the Inspector of Permanent-way or authorised officer must himself be present at the spot until the line is clear.

Use of signals in other cases, when line is unsafe.

158. If any Ganger becomes aware that the line outside station limits is unsafe from any cause not referred to in rule 156 or rule 157, he must proceed to the spot and see that "danger" signals are plainly shown at a distance of 300 feet.

Ordinary work outside station limits, necessitating showing of a "proceed" signal.

159. When repairing or lifting the line outside station limits or performing any other operations outside station limits which will make it necessary for a train to proceed cautiously, the Ganger must—

(a) himself be present at the spot, and

(b) send a man in each direction at least 300 feet and as much further as the circumstances of the case may render necessary to show a signal to proceed with caution, so as to be plainly visible to the Driver of an approaching train, and

(c) show another such signal at the site of the operation:

Provided that if the Ganger has any doubt as to the line being in a fit state to pass a train at slow speed he must see that a "danger" signal is shown instead of showing signals to proceed with caution.

Time for performing work.

160. (1) No rail shall be displaced, and no other work which is likely to cause obstruction to the passage of trains shall be performed in thick or foggy or tempestuous weather, except in cases of absolute necessity.

(2) The times for effecting repairs or performing any other work which will involve the stopping of trains must be so selected as to interfere as little as possible with the passage of the traffic.

(Part I, Chapter X.—Permanent-way and Works.—Rules 161-170.)

Work to be stopped when train is approaching.

161. When a train is approaching, all Platelayers and other workmen employed on the permanent-way must stop work and stand clear of all the lines.

Lifting permanent-way.

162. In lifting the permanent-way,—

(a) no lift shall be made of more than 1½ inches at once,

(b) every lift must be made so as not to occasion any sudden change of gradient,

(c) both rails must be raised equally and at the same time.

Ballast.

163. (1) Ballast shall not be thrown up between the rails higher than rail level and must be thrown as much as possible on the outside of each line or between the two roads.

(2) The rails must be kept clear of ballast, gravel and other material.

Blasting.

164. No railway servant shall carry on any blasting operations on or near the railway without the permission of the authorised officer.

Placing of lorries and trollies on the line, and responsibility for them.

165. (1) No lorry used for the conveyance of materials, or trolly used for the conveyance of men, may be placed on the line, except by a railway servant appointed in this behalf by the authorised officer.

(2) Such railway servant shall be responsible for the proper protection of the lorry or trolly, and for its being used in accordance with special instructions.

Lorry or trolly when to be run; when lights to be used.

166. (1) No lorry or trolly shall be run, if it can be avoided, except during daylight and when the weather is sufficiently clear for a signal to be distinctly seen at a distance of 200 yards.

(2) Whenever it is necessary to run a lorry at night or in thick or foggy or tempestuous weather, it must be protected by lamps showing "danger" signal in both directions and the speed shall not be allowed to exceed six miles an hour.

Protection of lorry or trolly on line and rules for working trollies.

167. (1) A lorry, whether loaded or empty, which is used for conveying materials, or a light trolly so loaded that it cannot readily be removed from the line,—

(a) must be followed and preceded at a distance of not less than one hundred yards by a man with "danger" Hand signals; this rule does not however apply to trollies working under rule 167 (4).

(2) There are two classes of trollies, large and small; the attaching of the latter to passenger trains or goods trains must be avoided as much as possible.

(3) Small trollies must only be attached to passenger trains in cases of great emergency, when an officer or Platelayer records in writing to the Station Master at the station at which it is desired that the trolly shall be attached that it is necessary for his work and important that his trolly should be returned by the first train to a certain point.

(4) Large trollies, when used by officials of the railway, shall be worked in accordance with the rules laid down for trains as regards "Line clear and Pilot guard."

(5) Officials and others must, as a rule, return their small trollies to their destination by goods trains if load allows.

(6) When a small trolly is being hauled uphill, the Trollyman in charge must precede it 100 yards with a red flag. The same precaution must be observed by the conductor of a large trolly, should it be necessary to haul it uphill.

(7) Every effort must be made to avoid attaching small trollies to passenger or other trains over the length of line upon which there are reversing stations, viz., between the 16th mile and the 24th mile, so that cutting off and running back the trollies up the Reverses immediately in front of the passenger train may be avoided.

(8) The attaching of any trolly or other vehicle to a special passenger train is strictly prohibited, without the special authority of the Superintendent of Working, and no such authority should be given when the train is working late. This will not prevent an officer or Platelayer travelling by the special train.

(9) No one, excepting an employé of the Company, shall be allowed to travel by trolly without special authority. It is the duty of Station Masters to report any infringement of this rule.

(10) When there is any prospect of meeting an engine or train from the opposite direction, a trolly must invariably be preceded at a distance of 100 yards by a man with a red flag and the speed must be limited to 6 miles an hour.

(11) The employé in charge of a trolly will be responsible for always having in charge of the flag, a smart, well-trained Trollyman who shall thoroughly understand the duties required of him.

(12) No Engineer, Permanent-way Inspector, or any other person authorised to use a trolly, is to leave a station with his trolly until he has ascertained the movements of trains coming from the direction in which he intends running and until the Station Master at the next station has been advised that the trolly is leaving in order that he may warn all Drivers that the trolly is on the line between the two stations. The Station Master is responsible for sending this advice to the next station. This rule holds good under all circumstances whether the line is blocked by slips or other obstructions.

Removal of lorries and trollies when not in use.

168. All lorries and small trollies, when not in use, must be taken off the rails and placed well clear of the line, the wheels being secured with chain and padlock.

Lorries or other impediments on main line when to be removed.

169. No lorry or other impediment shall be allowed to remain on any part of the main line within an interval of ten minutes of a train being due or expected.

Work when to be completed.

170. Except in cases of accident or of absolute necessity, all repairs or other work must be completed, and the line made clear and safe for the passage of trains before the commencement of the interval mentioned in rule 169.

(Part I, Chapter XI.—Additional rules as to the duties of railway servants in connection with the working of the railway generally.—Rules 171-185. Chapter XII.—Conduct of railway servants.—Rules 186-190.)

(b) if he does not understand English, a translation, in a language which he understands, of the said rules, or such of them as relate to his duties.

(2) No person shall be employed as Guard, Brakesman or station Pointsman unless he has been passed by the officer in charge of the Traffic Branch as conversant with his duties and the rules laid down for his guidance.

Station Masters, Inspectors of Permanent-way and Gangers responsible that their subordinates have made themselves acquainted with rules.

186. (1) Every railway servant must, on the demand of any of his superior officers, produce the copy or translation of rules supplied to him under rule 182.

N. B.—"Explosive" as defined in section 4, Act IV of 1884, and as used in these rules—

(a) means gunpowder, nitro-glycerine, dynamite, gun-cotton, blasting powder, fulminate of mercury or of other metals, coloured fires, and every other substance, whether similar to those above mentioned or not, used or manufactured with a view to produce a practical effect by explosion or a pyrotechnic effect; and

(b) includes fog-signals, fireworks, fuzes, rockets, percussion caps, detonators, cartridges, ammunition of all descriptions, and every adaptation or preparation of an explosive as above defined. It also includes any dangerous substance which may have been ordered by the Governor-General in Council, under section 17 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, to be deemed an explosive.

1. Except as is hereinafter provided for, no vessel shall have on board, within the limits of the port, any explosive, as defined in section 4, Act IV of 1884, except 15lbs. common gunpowder in addition to 12 rockets and 12 blue-lights. All explosives which vessels are by this rule permitted to keep on board shall be stored in a copper magazine, out of risk of fire and explosion.

All explosives which by this rule may be ordinarily retained on board vessels in port shall be discharged before a vessel is taken into dry dock.

2. All inward-bound vessels carrying explosives in excess of 15lbs of common gunpowder, in addition to 12 rockets and 12 blue-lights, are prohibited from proceeding above Budge-Budge, and the master of any vessel lying within the port which shall have on board any explosive in contravention of these rules shall be liable to a fine which may extend to the sum mentioned in clause (a) or clause (b), as the case may be, of the proviso to section 5 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884.

3. Explosives of classes 1, 6, and 7, as laid down in the rules issued under Government of India Notification No. 1417, dated 24th June 1887, that is to say, gunpowder, ammunition and fireworks in excess of the quantity prescribed in Rules 1 and 2, shall be landed and deposited in the magazine at Moyapore.

4. For the convenience of vessels having ship's gunpowder on board, a properly constructed powder-boat will be always in attendance off the magazine for landing and shipping the powder. No charge will be made for the use of the boat for landing ship's powder, but the responsibility of the keeper in respect of the ship's powder shall not commence until it is landed on the bank, and shall cease as soon as it is shipped on board the boat. Every precaution will be taken to insure the safety of the powder while in the boat, but the landing and shipping shall be at the risk of the vessel.

5. Vessels bringing consignments of trade explosives shall be allowed the use of the magazine boat; but should passing vessels require the use of the boat to put out or take in ship's powder, such vessel shall be accommodated before the boat can be used to discharge explosives brought as cargo. The landing of such consignments, whether the station boats or private boats are employed, shall be at the risk and expense of the consignees of the explosives, and no liability shall be accepted for damage sustained while in course of landing or until the consignments are stored in the magazine.

6. Explosives specified in the first division, class 6 of the rules published under Government of India's Notification No. 1417, dated 24th June 1887, viz, safety cartridges, safety fuzes for blasting, railway fog-signals, percussion caps and, under certain conditions, fuzes for shells and tubes friction for guns brought as part of a general cargo, and which have been placed on board the vessels while lying in dock at ports of shipment, may be brought into port and landed at the docks or jetties in accordance with the regulations prescribed in that behalf in the Port Commissioners' Bye-laws.

7. In order to avoid unnecessary detention, masters of vessels requiring the use of the powder-boat shall hoist a flag at the fore-topmast head on coming in sight of the magazine as a signal to the keeper to have the boat and coolies in attendance.

8. Masters of vessels shall mark the names of their respective vessels on the barrels and packages of ships' gunpowder previously to their being landed: if not marked, they shall not be received by the magazine boat.

9. Explosives shall not be landed or received into, or delivered from, the magazine when artificial lights are required to be used.

10. The magazine-keeper shall give to the master of any vessel landing explosives at the magazine a receipt for the number of packages, and the magazine-keeper shall be accountable to such master for the re-delivery of such packages.

11. Before entering the limits of the port, the master of every vessel having explosives on board shall make and sign a declaration in writing that to his knowledge and belief there is not on board any explosive exceeding the quantity prescribed in these rules.

12. A clerk shall be always in attendance in the powder-boat, and shall receive from the master the declaration specified in the foregoing rule.

13. If any vessel shall be prevented, by stress of weather, or by being in distress, from landing or depositing such explosives in excess of the quantity allowed as aforesaid, such vessel may be permitted to come up to the lower limits of the port, but shall not proceed above Matteabrooj Ghat, and the master of such vessel shall forthwith give notice to the Harbour Master of his having such explosives on board, and shall obey the Harbour Master's directions relating to the same.

14. Masters of vessels outward bound, who may require ship's gunpowder for their outward voyage, shall not take such powder on board in any part of the river above Budge-Budge, with the exception of a quantity not exceeding 15lbs. of common gunpowder in addition to 12 rockets and 12 blue-lights.

15. Masters of vessels who have deposited ship's powder at the magazine shall inform the Harbour Master of the date on which the vessel will pass the magazine outward bound, and on receipt of this information orders shall be forwarded to the keeper to place the powder in the boat and send it off in such time as to avoid any detention of the outward-bound vessel. Before taking the powder on board, the receipt granted by the magazine-keeper shall be given up.

16. Boats shall be permitted to take on board at the Moyapore magazine and bring as far as Neemuck Mehal Ghat, under cover of passes to be granted by the Commissioner of Police and the Port Commissioners, 50lbs. of trade gunpowder, the property of dealers and consignees.

17. Delivery of trade powder into boats at the Moyapore magazine for conveyance to Calcutta shall only be granted upon orders issued by the Port Commissioners.

18. No boat containing powder under the provisions of Rules 17 and 18 shall be allowed to proceed above Neemuck Mehal Ghat. All such powder shall be landed at Neemuck Mehal Ghat, and no powder shall be landed at any other ghat, except with the special permission of the Port Commissioners.

19. No smoking, and no fire or light of any description, except the red lamp between sunset and sunrise, shall be permitted on board of any boat having explosives on board.

20. No explosive shall be landed within the port at any time when artificial lights are required to be used.

21. Masters of vessels having on board explosives belonging to the following classes, as laid down in the rules prescribed in the notification of the Government of India, Home Department, No. 1417, dated 24th June 1887, must make their own arrangements for the discharge of the explosives:—

CLASS 2.—Nitrate mixture.
" 3.—Nitro Compound.
" 4.—Chlorate mixture.
" 5.—Fulminate.

22. Explosives of the classes specified in the foregoing rule shall not be landed at the Moyapore magazine, and shall only be allowed to enter and pass through the port under the supervision of the Port Police and subject to such restrictions as may from time to time be ordered by the Commissioner of Police and the Port Commissioners in addition to the restrictions laid down in the rules promulgated by the Government of India under Notification No. 1417, dated 24th June 1887.

23. Boats containing explosives of the classes specified in the two foregoing rules shall in no case anchor within port limits, or be made fast at any part of the river bank or alongside any vessel, stage, jetty, or pier within the limits of the port. Such boats, if allowed to enter port, shall proceed direct through the port to the place licensed by the Local Government for the landing and storage of the explosives.

Note.—The above rules are, under orders of the Government of India, generally to be observed by Government vessels and employés who are exempted by section 14 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, from the operation of the Act. But men of war, ships of the Royal Indian Marine, and hired transports, equipped with specially fitted magazines for the storage of explosives, and carrying explosives within the capacity of their magazines, need not observe the rule prohibiting inward-bound vessels carrying explosives from proceeding above Budge-Budge (Rule 2). A.—Instructions for the guidance of public vaccinators under the provisions of Act V (B.C.) of 1880:—

Periods within which vaccination of unprotected children should be procured.

1. According to the provisions of this Act, the parent or guardian of every child born in any place in which the Act is in force shall, within one year after the birth of such child; and the parent or guardian of every unprotected child under the age of 14 years brought to reside, whether temporarily or permanently, in any such place, within six months after such child's arrival at such place, or if the child be at the time of its arrival less than one year old, within one year and three months after its birth, and the parent or guardian of every unprotected child living in any such place at the date of this Act coming into force, and whose age at such date exceeds one year, but does not exceed fourteen years, shall, within six months from the same date, take it, or cause it to be taken, to a public vaccine station to be vaccinated, or shall, within such time as aforesaid, cause it to be vaccinated by some public vaccinator. Provided that the Superintendent of Vaccination for the time being may, whenever he thinks expedient, serve the parent or guardian of such unprotected child with a notice in the form prescribed in the first schedule of Act II (B.C.) of 1887, requiring the parent or guardian, within fifteen days after the service of the same, to take such child or cause such child to be taken to a public vaccine station to be vaccinated, or within such period as aforesaid to cause it to be vaccinated by some medical practitioner or public vaccinator, and every such parent or guardian shall, within the said period, comply with the requisition.

Action to be taken by public vaccinators when they find unprotected children who ought to have been vaccinated according to the provisions of the Vaccination Act.

2. Whenever a public vaccinator finds that a child, who ought to have been vaccinated according to the above provisions, remains unprotected, he shall ask the parent or guardian of such child to have it forthwith vaccinated, and explain to him the liabilities he will incur if he declines to do so; and if the parent or guardian of such unprotected child does not comply with the vaccinator's requisition, the latter shall at once bring the matter to the notice of the Civil Surgeon or other principal Civil or Military Medical Officer of the district or cantonment, or other officers in charge of vaccination, or any other person whom the Superintendent of Vaccination may authorize for the purpose, in order that legal proceedings may be taken against the parent or guardian of such unprotected child.

Vaccinators must be very careful to supply Civil Surgeon, &c., with correct information.

3. Public vaccinators must be very careful to supply correct information, for if they fail to prove their statements before the Court, they will be liable to pay any damages which the Magistrate may order for the unnecessary trouble of the person whom they have caused to be prosecuted.

Action to be taken by vaccinators with reference to unprotected persons.

4. Whenever a public vaccinator finds that a person whose age exceeds 14 years is still unprotected, he shall ask such unprotected person to get himself forthwith vaccinated; and in the event of the latter declining to do so, the public vaccinator shall bring the circumstance to notice in order that the said unprotected person may be served with a notice in form of Schedule (D) annexed to the Act, requiring him, within fifteen days after the service of the same, to submit himself to a public vaccinator to be vaccinated.

5. Vaccinators should endeavour to ascertain—

(a) Whether children born in any place in which the Act is in force have had their births registered at the police-station of the section, and been served with notices. Information ought at once to be given to the Registrar in cases in which this duty has been neglected.

(b) Whether any child under 14 years of age, not protected by vaccination, inoculation, or small-pox, has been brought to reside in any place in which the Act is in force. In such case also information ought to be given at the police-station in order that a notice may be served.

Public vaccine stations opened at different places to facilitate vaccination of all unprotected persons.

Vaccinators are bound to vaccinate all unprotected persons that resort to public vaccine stations free of all charges.

6. When, in order to facilitate the vaccination of unprotected persons, public vaccine stations have been opened in the different parts of any municipality or other place or which the Act is in force, and the days and hours of public vaccinators' attendance at these public vaccine stations have been fixed and published as required by section 14, the public vaccinators attached to each of the vaccine stations must attend at them on the specified days and within the specified hours, and vaccinate all unprotected persons free of all charges.

Vaccinators to enter name in the vaccine register.

7. The name, age, caste, &c, of all persons vaccinated at public vaccine stations shall be carefully entered in the vaccine register provided for the purpose.

Inspection of vaccinated children.

8. Vaccinators shall instruct the parent or guardian of every vaccinated child to bring it back to the station at an appointed hour on the same day in the following week after the operation or earlier, if necessary, that they or any other person deputed for that purpose by the Superintendent of Vaccination may see whether all the points of the vaccination have taken. If there be a failure of one or more points vaccination should be repeated at those points, and this fact of re-vaccination should be entered in the remark column of the vaccine registers The vaccinators shall again direct the parent or guardian to bring the child once more on the seventh or eighth day, that they may ascertain and enter in the register the final result of the operation. It shall also be the duty of any public vaccinator, who has vaccinated a child elsewhere than at a public vaccine station, to visit the child at the time and for the purpose above mentioned, whether he is requested to do so or not, unless the Superintendent of Vaccination has deputed some other person to act for such public vaccinator in this behalf.

Vaccinators to grant certificate of successful vaccination.

When unsuccessful, vaccination to be repeated.

9. If the operation proves successful, the vaccinators must deliver to the parent or guardian a certificate to that effect in the form of schedule (C), with the serial number of the case in the vaccine register, inserted for easy reference and comparison at the time of subsequent inspection by Superintendent or his Deputy. If it proves unsuccessful, the vaccinators must forthwith again vaccinate the child, and issue instructions for its inspection as before.

Vaccinators to grant certificate of insusceptible vaccination.

10. If a vaccinator finds that a child whom he has three times unsuccessfully vaccinated is insusceptible of successful vaccination, he should deliver to the parent or guardian of such child a certificate in the form of Schedule (B).

Certificate of postponed vaccination to be given by vaccinators.

11. If a vaccinator shall be of opinion that a child is not in a fit state to be vaccinated, he shall forthwith deliver to the parent or guardian of such child a certificate in the form of Schedule (A).

12. This certificate shall remain in force for three months, but shall be renewable for successive periods of three months until the vaccinator shall deem the child to be in a fit state for vaccination, when the child shall, with all reasonable despatch, be vaccinated, and a certificate of successful vaccination given in the form of Schedule (C), if warranted by the result.

No fee to be charged for granting certificate.

13. A public vaccinator shall on no account charge any person for granting certificates of successful vaccination, of postponed vaccination, or of insusceptibility to vaccination, whether the same be granted at a public vaccine station or elsewhere

Duplicates of certificates to be sent to Registrar within 21 days.

14. Every public vaccinator, who gives to any parent or guardian a certificate in any of the forms of Schedules (A) (B), and (C) shall, within 21 days after giving the same, transmit a duplicate thereof to the Registrar of Births of the police section of the municipality where the birth of the child on whose account such certificate was given has been registered, or in which the child, if its birth has not been registered, resides.

15. When a public vaccinator attends at the request of the parent or guardian elsewhere than at a public vaccine station for the purpose of vaccinating a child, he shall charge a fee of four annas for every such vaccination. He is to inspect the child on the fifth and seventh or eighth day, and grant certificates as in cases of vaccination in the stations. No fee is to be charged for inspection and for granting certificates.

Vaccination at private houses.

Fees to be charged.

16. Public vaccinators are to grant printed receipts for amounts paid to them as fees. These amounts are to be deposited at the office of the Civil Surgeon or other principal Civil or Military Medical Officer, or other officer in charge of vaccination, or any other person authorized for the purpose by the Superintendent of Vaccination every Saturday, or oftener if that officer so orders. The vaccinators are warned not to misappropriate any portion of the fees to themselves, for if they do so they are liable not only to be dismissed from the department, but also to be criminally prosecuted.

Receipts for fees to be given to the parent or guardian, and the amount collected should be deposited at the office of the Civil Surgeon, &c., every week.

Punishment for misappropriation of fees.

17. To ensure successful vaccination, the following cardinal points are to be remembered by every vaccinator—viz., good virus, a clean lancet, and the healthy constitution of the person to be vaccinated. Vaccinators should use none but the best virus; they should remember that vaccination with bad virus is worse than no vaccination; for it not only does not protect the person from attack of small-pox, but brings discredit on both the vaccinator and vaccination. The vaccinators should not only use good virus, but take it from those persons only who are free from constitutional diseases, especially syphilis. Lymph should never be taken from a child who has an eruption on his skin, lumps about the anus or genital organs, bad teeth, or a sore throat or cold. In fact, none but perfectly healthy children should be used as subjects for conveyance of lymph. A clean lancet should invariably be used; when a foul lancet is used, it produces an amount of irritation in the vesicles which renders success doubtful. The lancet should be wiped with a wet rag after each operation. In ordinary times only persons in good health are to be vaccinated, but in times of epidemic every unprotected person, whether in sound health or otherwise, should be vaccinated, and revaccination should also be actively carried on. There is no fear in vaccinating pregnant women.

Selection of lymph.

Good virus should always be used.

Healthy persons are only to be vaccinated in ordinary times.

Exception in time of epidemic.

18. In cases of good and successful vaccination, the following phenomena are observed in the places where the virus is inserted:—No change takes place until the third day, when the points of insertion of the virus appear like red spots or mosquito bites. On the fourth day these spots look like little pimples. On the fifth and sixth days the pimples enlarge into vesicles and contain clear lymph. On the seventh day the vesicles are fully developed. On the eighth day areolæ form around the vesicles. There is sympathetic fever from this day. On the ninth day the contents of the vesicles become perfectly yellow, and the surrounding inflammation becomes more intense. After the tenth day a crust gradually forms, brownish-black in colour and of considerable thickness, and should fall off from the 18th to the 20th day, or two days earlier in the hot season. It should leave a well-depressed cicatrix, with marked edges and floor lined and pitted.

19. Lymph should be taken on the sixth and seventh days in the winter season, and on the fifth and sixth days in the hot and rainy seasons.

The period at which the lymph is to be taken.

20. In taking lymph the vesicles are to be punctured from the top, and not from the side. If the vesicles be punctured at the side, the inner septa of the vesicles would prevent the flowing of the lymph into the seat of puncture. The upper surface should not be scraped off. It should only be punctured, and if the lancet be placed flatly an abundance of lymph will flow on it.

Manner of taking the lymph.

The lymph thus taken on the point of the lancet is to be inserted in at least four different places, two on each arm, one above and the other below the insertion of the deltoid muscles, from an inch to an inch and a half apart from each other. The virus is to be inserted below the scurf or upper skin, but not deep enough to draw blood. Three such punctures are to be made in each place thus.

Manner of inserting the lymph.

21. The vaccinators must be kind and courteous towards the people that come to the public vaccine stations to have their children vaccinated. The people from their ignorance of the vaccine disease will ask many useless and tedious questions of the vaccinators, but the latter should not get annoyed at this. They should particularly explain everything which the parent or guardian of vaccinated children may want to know. While vaccinating at private houses, they should be equally kind and courteous in their manners, and although the law does not prohibit their taking any reward or present from persons able and willing to pay, they should make no demands.

B.—Instructions to Registrar—

1. The Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880 (Act V of 1880), requires of Registrars of Births the following duties connected with compulsory vaccination, in addition to those duties relating to the registration of births and deaths which the law imposes upon them:—

2. On the registration of the birth of a child, the Registrar shall deliver to the person giving information of such birth a printed notice in the form of Schedule E appended to the Act.

Section 18.

3. The Act further requires the parents and guardians of children under 14 years of age not born, but brought to reside, whether temporarily or permanently, in any place in which the Act is in force, to have them vaccinated within six months of arrival, or if at the time of arrival they are below one year of age, within 15 months of birth. On such cases coming to the knowledge of Registrars, a notice should be served in Schedule E, altered according to circumstances. Such cases should be included in the register of vaccination, column 4 being left blank.

4. These notices will be issued to Registrars in the form of a book, each notice having a counterfoil which will, when filled in, constitute the minutes of the notices required by section 20 of the Act.

5. Vaccinators are directed by the Act, when a person or child is successfully vaccinated, to transmit to the Registrar a duplicate copy of the certificate (Schedule C), the original of which has been handed to the parent, or guardian, or person. Similarly, when the vaccinator considers it advisable to postpone vaccination on account of ill-health or unfitness from any other cause, a certificate to that effect (Schedule A) is given to the parent, or guardian, or person, and a duplicate thereof sent to the Registrar; and when a person or child is found insusceptible of vaccination, a certificate (Schedule B) is given, and a duplicate sent to the Registrar Those duplicate certificates (Schedules A, B, and C) of postponed, unsuccessful, and successful vaccination should be filed in separate bundles, and the information conveyed by them entered in the proper columns of the registers.

6. A register of vaccination shall be kept in the following form, of which columns 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 will be filled up on issue of the notice (Schedule E), and the remaining columns on receipt of the duplicate certificate mentioned in the last paragraph :—

Section 21.

Register of vaccination for

Serial No.	Name of child.	Date of birth.	No of entry in register of birth.	Date of notice—Schedule E.	Date of certificate of successful vaccination—Schedule C.	Date of certificate of insusceptibility—Schedule B.	Signature of Registrar.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8

7. An additional column will be in future added to the ordinary "Register of Births," in which an entry will be made referring to the "Number in the Vaccination Register." Thus these two registers—the "Register of Births" and the "Vaccination Register"—will contain references to each other, and no difficulty can be experienced in ascertaining whether a certificate has been received regarding the vaccination of any child whose birth has been registered.

8. When a certificate has been received of the postponement of vaccination (Schedule A), an entry should be made in the special "Register of postponed vaccination" (Schedule F) prescribed by the Act. Care should be taken that a child, regarding whom a certificate of this kind is received, is eventually vaccinated, and unless a renewed certificate of postponement has been received, an entry should be made of the name in the return mentioned in the next paragraph.

Section 22.

9. As soon after the first of every month as possible, a return will be forwarded to the Civil Surgeon or other principal Civil or Military Medical Officer, or other officer in charge of vaccination, in the following form, showing the cases in which notice has been given or certificate of postponement has been received, and the period mentioned in the notice or certificate of postponement has expired without receipt of a certificate of successful vaccination or insusceptibility (Schedule B or C). A case once returned in this form need not be entered again, except in the instance of a fresh postponement:—

Return of cases in which notice of vaccination has been served, but certificate has not been received for the month of

Name of child.	Name of parent or guardian.	Residence.	Date of issue of notice.

10. It is obviously desirable, for the purpose of ensuring that every child born in any place in which the Act is in force shall be vaccinated, that every endeavour should be made to render the registration of births as perfect as possible. Every endeavour should therefore be made to ascertain and cause the registration of every birth occurring in any place in which the Act is in force.

NOTIFICATION.

Dated 28th December 1896.

No. 5814-Ex.-223.—Tenders in the form hereunto appended are hereby invited for the exclusive privilege of the manufacture of Arrack for the territories of Mysore, inclusive of the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, for a period of five years from 1st July 1897 to 30th June 1902.

2. The contract for the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore is included in this Notification with the permission of the Resident in Mysore.

3. The privilege for which tenders are now invited will be conceded subject to the conditions specified in paragraph 8 of this Notification, and to the Excise Laws and Rules passed by Government from time to time. It will not include the manufacture or sale of Toddy, or of "Foreign Spirits and Foreign Fermented Liquors," or of Country Beer.

4. The quantity of Arrack required is estimated to be between 46,000 and 48,000 gallons a month, the quantity actually issued from the Bangalore Distillery in the year 1895-96 having been 551,935 gallons. No quantity is, however, guaranteed to the manufacturer, who is bound by actual requirements, be the same more or less than the estimated quantity.

5. Tenderers must specify the lowest rate per gallon at which they will supply all the Arrack required, of the strength of 20° under proof, during the whole period of the contract. The rate of price thus tendered for and accepted by Government shall be the price at which Arrack of 20° under-proof will be sold by the manufacturer to retail shop-keepers and to renters of the right of retail vend, during the currency of the contract granted under this Notification. For double-distilled spirits and other special liquors of greater or lesser strength than 20° under-proof, which may be specially manufactured and issued with the approval of the Government, the manufacturer will be allowed to fix his own prices; but for single-distilled spirits of greater or lesser strength than 20° under-proof, the price chargeable by him will be according to such strength proportionately on the rate fixed for Arrack 20° under-proof in accordance with Casella's Rules.

6. Each tender must be accompanied by a deposit of Rs. 5,000 in cash, or in Government securities, duly endorsed in favour of "The Dewan of Mysore," and enclosed in a cover superscribed with the words "Tender for the exclusive privilege of the Manufacture of Arrack," and must be sent to the Excise Commissioner at Bangalore so as to reach him before noon on Tuesday, the 2nd March 1897, after which date no tender will be received. The tenders will be opened by the Excise Commissioner at his office in Bangalore at 12 o'clock noon on the 2nd March 1897, in the presence of the applicants who may be present. The final disposal of the tenders will rest with the Government, who reserve to themselves full power to reject any or all of the tenders without assigning any reason. The deposits made by the applicants whose tenders are rejected will be returned to them on their application.

7. The applicant, whose tender may be finally accepted by the Government, shall, within eight days of the acceptance of his tender being communicated to him, deposit at the Huzur Treasury, Bangalore, a further sum in cash, or in Government securities, duly endorsed in favour of "The Dewan of Mysore," to make up with the deposit previously made the sum of one lakh of rupees; and shall execute an agreement in the prescribed form on proper stamp, binding himself to conform to the conditions hereinafter set forth, and if he fails or refuses to sign the agreement, or to make the deposit required, the deposit already made will be forfeited to Government, and the contract otherwise disposed of.

8. The contract for which tenders are now invited shall be subject to the following conditions, namely:—

I.—The contractor will be required to manufacture within the enclosure of the Government Distillery near Bangalore, or at such other place as may be approved by the Government. For the use of the Distillery buildings near Bangalore, together with the existing system of water-supply thereto, the contractor shall pay rent to Government at Rs. 500 per mensem. Such improvement or addition to the said buildings or water-supply as may be approved by the Government will be carried out at Government cost, subject to the payment by the contractor of such additional rent or rate as may be fixed by Government.

II.—The contractor will be required to have ordinarily a month's supply (46,000 gallons at the present rate of consumption) and never less than 23,000 gallons of admissible spirits in terms of 20° under-proof in store at the Distillery.

III.—The contractor will be allowed to purchase spirit from any Sugar Factory which may be established in Mysore, and which may be authorized by Government to distil Arrack. Should the contractor himself establish a Sugar Factory and distil Arrack therein, with the permission of the Government, he will be bound to keep in stock such quantities of spirit at such Factory as may be fixed by Government.

IV.—In outlying tracts where, owing to small consumption or other causes, there is reason to suspect illicit distillation, Government will be at liberty to establish out-stills, giving the contractor the first refusal of so doing.

V.—The contractor shall, upon receipt by him of price at the rate fixed by his contract, sell the spirit at the Government Distillery or other place where he may be allowed to manufacture. Such sales shall only be—

1st.—For the supply of such Bonded Depôts as Government may, from time to time, establish and maintain;

2nd.—To separate shop-keepers licensed to sell in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, in the Cities of Bangalore and Mysore and in other places to which the Separate Shop System may be extended;

3rd.—To vend-renters to whom the Government may sell the right to vend Arrack in defined tracts and

4th.—To the licensees for the wholesale and retail vend of "Foreign Spirits and Foreign Fermented Liquors" and for the sale of the same in Refreshment-rooms and in Hotels and Boarding-houses.

No spirit shall be allowed to be removed from the Government Distillery, or other authorized place of manufacture, or from a Bonded Depôt, unless the purchaser produces a Treasury receipt for the amount of duty paid therefor.

VI.—The contractor shall be bound to conform to the provisions of Act XXII of 1881 (the Excise Act), as in force in the Civil and Military Station and as introduced into Mysore with certain modifications by Regulation III of 1885, as well as to the Rules framed thereunder by Government from time to time.

VII.—The out-going contractor shall give, and the in-coming contractor shall take over, any Arrack or other Country Spirits not exceeding a month's supply, which may remain as stock in hand on the last day of the expiring contract, the latter paying the former for the same such value as may be fixed by the Excise Commissioner.

VIII.—Should the in-coming contractor so require by at least one week's previous notice in writing, the out-going contractor shall cease preparing "Wash" during the last month of the expiring contract, and vacate the buildings so as to admit of the in-coming contractor commencing operations. Should no such notice be given, the out-going contractor may continue distilling till the end of his contract, after which further distillation must cease.

IX.—Should the out-going contractor so desire, the in-coming contractor shall be bound to purchase all apparatus and stock and block belonging to the out-going contractor at the Government Central Distillery, Bangalore, at a fair and equitable price, to be fixed by the Excise Commissioner, calculating the original cost and deducting therefrom depreciation for the period of user at such average rate as may be determined by Government, and of which timely notice will be given to the out-going contractor, and to intending bidders by a Notification to be duly published in that behalf.

X.—Improvements of a permanent nature shall be retained and not be disturbed except with the approval of the Executive Engineer.

XI.—In case of a breach of any of the above conditions, Government will be at liberty to cancel the contract and to declare the deposit of one lakh of rupees forfeited and also to recover from the defaulting contractor such further loss as may be occasioned by such breach.

9. The following items of information are appended :—

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

The first five volumes and Vol. VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made); packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, Rs. 2-6 per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross-references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G.; Vol IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year; but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

Hué river entrance—Anchorage beacons and bar signals.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 744 of 1896) that in order to avoid damage to the submarine cables, which are landed on the west side of the entrance to Hué river, about N. 64° W., distant 1,280 yards from Fort Nord flagstaff, the undermentioned four beacons have been erected to indicate the anchorage:—

Each rear beacon is a large triangular, truncated pyramid, painted white; and each front beacon a pole, surmounted by a triangle.

(1) The eastern rear beacon, 18 feet high, is situated about 22 yards northward of Fort Sud; and the eastern front beacon, 18 feet high, bears N. 10° W., distant about 209 yards from the rear one

(2) The western rear beacon, 15 feet high, is situated N. 70° W., distant 1,200 yards from Fort Nord flagstaff; and the western front beacon, 18 feet high, bears N. 40° E., distant about 98 yards from the rear one.

Approximate position, western rear beacon, lat. 16° 33′ 10″ N., long. 107° 36′ 55″ E.

The intersection of the lines of the western beacons in line and the eastern beacons in line indicates the anchorage.

Also, the undermentioned bar signals are made at the flagstaff at Fort Nord:—

(a) Four balls indicate that the bar is in good condition.
(b) Three balls indicate that it is practicable.
(c) Two balls indicate that it is practicable with difficulty.
(d) One ball indicates that it is dangerous.

Note.—The bar is subject to change, and should not be crossed without a pilot, unless previously examined.

Port Adelaide river lighted by electricity and system of buoys and light beacons re-arranged.

The President, Marine Board, Port Adelaide, has given notice (No. 6 of 1896) that on or about February 1st, 1897, the Port Adelaide river will be lighted by electricity, in consequence of which the whole system of buoys and light beacons will be re-arranged.

Light beacons Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 of the present system will be discontinued.

All buoys marking the channel will be removed, except the two outside of the light-house, two black buoys near the Old Boat Channel, and the two mooring buoys (for vessels with explosives) in Lipson Reach.

The new system will consist of five pairs of leading lights, and eight single light beacons.

The pairs of leading lights and single light beacons will in future be numbered from seaward, instead of in the opposite way, as it present; that is to say, No. 12, and the light behind it of the old system will be No. 1 of the new, and so on.

The near light of each lead will be red, and the far one white, except in the case of No. 1 lead, where the far light will be red, as at present, and the near one white; these two have not been altered because the red light of No. 1 on with No. 2 is an established lead over the Ocean Steamers' Mooring Buoy; and the white light of No. 1 on with No. 2 leads over the Bell Buoy on Wonga Shoal.

The two lights of No. 1 lead through the Outer Cutting near the light-house, as at present.

The single lights, Nos. 2 to 9 inclusive, will mark the edge of the Channel from opposite the Old Boat Channel to Mutton Cove.

Nos. 10, 11, 12, and 13 are leads, i.e., pairs.

No. 10 is placed on the shore, abreast of the two Mooring Buoys for vessels with explosives, and leads from Mutton Cove half way up Lipson Reach.

No. 11 is placed near the Torpedo Station, and leads up the other half of Lipson Reach to the North Arm.

No. 12 is placed on the Swamp south of the False Arm, and leads from the North Arm to the False Arm.

No. 13 is placed on Snowden Beach, and leads from the False Arm to Luff Point.

Sailing directions and further notice as to the exact date of the alterations will be issued in due course.

This affects Charts Nos. 2389 A. and B., plan 1750.

WATER-SUPPLY.

No. 487L.S.-G.—The 28th January 1897.—The following reports of the progress made in the several districts of the Presidency and Orissa Divisions in collecting and placing on record the chief facts regarding water-supply are published for general information.

H. H. RISLEY,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. 133G.—L.S.-G., dated Calcutta, the 21st January 1897.

From—E. V. WESTMACOTT, Esq., Commissioner of the Presidency Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

WITH reference to your No. 58L.S.-G. of the 12th December 1896, asking for a quarterly report on the progress made in each district of this Division in collecting and placing on record the chief facts regarding water-supply, and the steps, if any, that have been taken by Municipalities and District Boards respectively to improve existing sources of water-supply and open new ones, I have the honour to submit as follows.

2. The Magistrate and Chairman of the District Board of the 24-Parganas reports that the register in Form I has been prepared in accordance with the instructions laid down in Government Circular No. 8T.M. of the 15th May 1896, and that the District Engineer has been directed to prepare a map of each thana, showing the number of tanks in each village. This work, he says, has been done for some thanas, and it is reported that the registers are being checked. I have called for a report as to how and by whom the work is being checked. As regards the improvement of water-supply, the Chairman states that a sum of Rs. 6,631 has been spent since last April, as detailed in the margin.

	Rs.
(1) For digging 25 wells, 2 in Sadar, 22 in Barasat, and 1 in Basirhat subdivision	1,065
(2) For completing excavation of a tank at Kawrapukur in Barasat subdivision	724
(3) Grants for making excavation in the beds of 194 dried-up tanks	4,842
Total ...	6,631

3. The Magistrate and Chairman of the District Board of Nadia states that no steps have been taken by the District Board for improving existing sources of water-supply, but that it will, as usual, construct some masonry wells this year. The water-supply registers are being prepared through the Police Sub-Inspectors of the respective thanas. The reports of 16 thanas out of 21 are said to have been received. The reports are said to be fairly reliable, but the Magistrate intends to defer taking any action upon them until he can have them checked, which he thinks will not be possible until the famine is over.

4. The Magistrate and Chairman of the District Board of Murshidabad reports that during the quarter ending 31st December 1896, the sinking and construction of five masonry wells of 6 feet in diameter were taken in hand by the District Engineer for improving the water-supply. Of these, three wells are almost completed. Besides this, arrangements have been made by the District Engineer to manufacture and burn 3,000 earthen rings for wells. Necessary steps have been taken for the due preparation of the Registers I and II, and the work is still going on. It is stated that by the end of the rains the lists will be sufficiently complete to enable the District Board to decide what work should be taken up during the next cold weather, and to arrange a future plan of action.

5. The Chairman of the District Board of Jessore reports that steps have been taken for the due preparation of the two registers in Forms Nos. I and II, that the necessary information has already been collected by all the Local Boards except the Sadar, and that the register in Form I has been received lately from some of them. The work is expected to be finished shortly. As regards the progress made towards the improvement of water-supply, he states that the District Board, in consideration of the reports from the Subdivisional Officers regarding the scarcity of water-supply in some villages, and on the application of some villagers, has provided funds in the budget estimates for 1896-97 and 1897-98 for the purposes noted on the margin, to improve the existing sources of the water-supply of the district.

	Rs.
(1) Opening out of the Bhowanipur khal in the Jhenida subdivision	2,000
(2) Sinking wells in Bongaon	1,500
(3) Ditto in Magura	3,000
(4) Ditto in Jhenida	2,000
(5) Ditto in Sadar	3,000
(6) Re-excavation of a tank at Deara in Bongaon ...	500
(7) Ditto ditto at Sakole in Narail ...	850
(8) Ditto ditto at Dowlutpur in Sadar	480
(9) Ditto ditto at Madhupe in ,, ...	150

6. Zamindars, merchants and respectable villagers have promised subscriptions towards project No. I, viz. the opening out of the Bhowanipur khal, and the work has been commenced. Further steps for the improvement of other water-supply will be taken soon.

7. Sufficient progress does not appear to have been made in the matter in the district of Khulna. The District Board requested the Magistrate to furnish them with the necessary information. Up to this time the latter has been able to supply information only from six unions and three thanas. It is reported that the information is still being collected in other thanas through thana officers and panchayats. I have asked the Magistrate to report as to the manner the information is being collected, and whether it can be relied on.

8. As to the steps taken by municipalities, I beg to enclose copies of the reports noted in the margin, which contain in detail particulars of each municipality in the district of the 24-Parganas, Nadia, Murshidabad and Jessore. No report has yet been received from the Magistrate of Khulna on the subject. It will be submitted to Government as soon as received.

(1) Letter No. 235M., dated the 5th January 1897, from the Magistrate of the 24-Parganas.
(2) Letter No. 9J.M., dated the 6th January 1897, from the Magistrate of Nadia.
(3) Letter No. 486M., dated the 4th January 1897, from the Magistrate of Murshidabad.
(4) Letter No. 13L F., dated the 8th January 1897, from the Magistrate of Jessore.

No. 2357M., dated Alipore, the 5th January 1897.

From—E. W. Collin, Esq., Magistrate of the 24-Parganas,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

With reference to your No. 36M., dated the 14th December last, forwarding Government Circular No. 58L.S.-G., dated 12th idem, regarding water-supply in the municipalities and in places under the jurisdiction of the District Board, I have the honour to submit the following report as to the progress made in each of them in collecting and placing on record the chief facts concerning water-supply and the steps taken to extend or improve it. As there has not been time to call for reports from the municipalities, this report is compiled from such information as is available in the office. I have the honour, further, to report that in the beginning of November I issued a circular to all municipalities, urging them to consider the question of water-supply, and, if necessary, to apply for loans, so that tanks might be re-excavated and work thereby provided for those in want.

2. With regard to the preparation of Registers I and II, they have been compiled in ten municipalities, viz, Naihati, Garulia, Baraset, Barrackpore, Baduria, Maniktollah, North and South Dum-Dum, Taki, and Joynagore. Register II has been prepared in Baranagore. The Chairmen of the Basirhat, South Barrackpore, Goberdanga, and Titaghur Municipalities are preparing the registers. The Chairmen of the South Suburban, North Barrackpore, and Rajpore Municipalities have not submitted any reports. Of the municipalities in this district, Cossipore-Chitpur and Maniktolla have a filtered water-supply, which is fairly adequate.

Baranagore.—Register II has been opened. Information for Register I is in progress of collection. The wards lying near the river draw their supply from it. There are a number of tanks with wholesome water in the garden-houses owned by some wealthy residents of Calcutta from which the inhabitants are allowed to draw water. Sixty-five private tanks were filled with river-water last April and May by the Manager of the Baranagore Jute Mills. Proposals have been accepted by the Commissioners at a meeting for spending Rs. 30,000 on the acquisition and improvement of tanks. They are under consideration in this office.

Titaghur.—The registers are under preparation. The water-supply for drinking purposes is chiefly derived from the River Hooghly, and filtered water is laid on by the mills in the bazar. The supply is adequate.

Garulia.—Registers I and II have been opened. This is a riparian municipality, and draws its water from the river. There are 13 private wells and 16 private tanks, but they are not much used for drinking water. The Dunbar Cotton Mills provide filtered water to the public from a small hydrant connected with their mill filters. The supply is adequate.

South Barrackpore.—Registers are under preparation. The river-side wards draw water for drinking purposes from the river. The rural tracts are well provided with tanks in the gardens of wealthy residents, which do not dry up during hot weather. Their condition is fair, but they are not strictly reserved. This question is under consideration. The supply is not adequate.

Goberdanga.—Registers are under preparation. The source of supply is the River Jamuna, private tanks, and municipal wells. The latter cost Rs. 750, but they are not used, as the people prefer the tanks and river. Measures were taken this year to prevent steeping of jute in the river. The tanks have been reported by the Sanitary Department to be good. The Commissioners have submitted a proposal to take a loan of Rs. 2,000 from Government to acquire a piece of land and to excavate a tank on it.

Baduriah.—Registers I and II have been opened. The river-water is used for drinking and culinary purposes, and there are three private unreserved tanks. The Commissioners report that there is no lack of drinking-water, but the Deputy Sanitary Commissioner does not agree with this view. The Commissioners have allotted a sum for re-excavating a tank to be reserved for drinking purposes. The subject of water-supply is under consideration.

South Dum-Dum.—Registers I and II have been opened. The water-supply is from tanks, and the Commissioners are endeavouring to get an extension of the filtered water-supply from the Cantonment Reservoir. The tanks are fairly adequate. The Commissioners have submitted a proposal for the acquisition of a tank in the Digla busti.

North Dum-Dum.—Registers I and II have been opened. There are 49 perennial tanks and 25 intermittent. Of these, 35 are wholesome. There are 8 wholesome wells. The Commissioners have resolved to sink 6 wells at a cost of Rs. 250, and to excavate 5 tanks in Wards Nos. I and II. They intend also to apply for a loan of Rs. 2,000 for re-excavation and acquisition of tanks. The present water-supply is not adequate.

Basirhat.—The Registers are under preparation. The supply is from the Ichamatty river and from tanks. There are said to be six small wells, five reserved municipal tanks, one reserved tank belonging to the Public Works Department, and 196 non-reserved private tanks. The municipal tanks are reported by the Sanitary Department to be inadequately reserved, and the same authority reports the supply to be inadequate. The Commissioners, however, consider it to be sufficient, and do not propose to take any steps except to attempt to induce the owners of some of the existing tanks to re-excavate them under section 200 of the Municipal Act. A tank was cleansed and a new tank dug in 1895-96 at a cost of Rs. 250.

Barasat.—Registers I and II have been opened. The existing sources of supply are tanks and five Norton's tube-wells, which were introduced last March. Of these, three are working well. There are altogether 18 wells, of which 15 are unreserved ring-wells. There are two reserved tanks and 26 unreserved. The Commissioners are preparing schemes for the acquisition and re-excavation of one tank in each ward of the Municipality, and propose to take a loan for the purpose. In spite of considerable activity last hot season, there is still an insufficient supply of water.

Rajpore.—The Registers have not yet been prepared. The chief sources of water-supply are some tanks formed out of the old bed of the Ganges. There are other tanks, but they have not been reserved. The present supply is inadequate. There is at present a scheme before the District Board to open up the silted bed of the Ganges so as to make it a connected free channel. Steps are being taken to induce the persons who have encroached upon the bed to remove the obstructions. The Municipality proposes to excavate five tanks at a cost of Rs. 8,000, and is preparing plans and estimates.

Baruipur.—Registers I and II have been opened. There are three municipal tanks, of which one is reserved, but the others are not good. There are a number of private tanks, some of which contain good water. Suggestions have been made to acquire some tanks with a view to reserving them for drinking purposes, and the Commissioners, acting on those suggestions, have proposed to acquire lands for their tanks, and to sell the municipal tanks, which do not contain good water.

Naihatty.—Registers I and II have been opened. Water is supplied from the Hooghly. In the north and south filtered water is supplied from the Gowripur and Kakinarah Jute Mills. There are thirteen wells belonging to the Municipality. There are also some tanks which do not contain good water. The Commissioners have resolved to acquire several tanks with a view to re-excavating them, and propose to take a loan from Government for the purpose. The present supply is fairly adequate.

Joynagore.—Registers I and II have been opened. There are many private tanks in the Municipality which contain a fair supply of water, but which are not reserved. The Commissioners do not appear to have yet taken any steps to improve their condition, but no complaints have been received that the supply is inadequate.

South Suburban.—Registers are under preparation. The chief source of supply is from private tanks, but water is also taken from the River Hooghly and from Tolly's Nullah. The supply, though not insufficient, is not good. Attempts were unsuccessfully made to have the Calcutta pipes extended to some parts of this Municipality. No further efforts appear to have been made to improve the condition of the present supply. The inhabitants of wards which adjoin the Calcutta Municipality make use of the hydrants of that Municipality.

North Barrackpore.—The Chairman reported that the Commissioners passed a resolution to give effect to the Government circular No. 7T.M. The people draw water for drinking purposes from the river as well as from the tanks. The supply is not adequate.

Taki.—The Chairman has not submitted a report, but it is understood that Registers I and II have been prepared. There are 8 private wells and 57 private tanks, but none are reserved. The supply is deficient in one ward, but elsewhere adequate. The Deputy Sanitary Commissioner reports the supply as bad, but I find from my notes that it is fairly good except in one ward. The Commissioners have provided Rs. 400 for a new tank, but have not yet been able to select the site.

3. As regards the water-supply in places within the jurisdiction of the District Board, a separate report will be submitted from the office of the District Board.

No. 9J.M., dated Krishnagar, the 6th January 1897.

From—W. MAXWELL, Esq., Joint-Magistrate, in charge, Nadia,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

IN reply to your circular letter No. 36M., dated the 18th December last, and annexure, calling for a report showing the progress made in collecting and placing on record the chief facts regarding water-supply in the municipalities of this district, I have the honour to refer you to this office letter No. 769J.M., dated the 20th August last, submitting a statement showing the existing sources of water-supply of the municipalities in this district. As regards the steps taken to improve them, I have the honour to report as follows :—

1. Nadia Municipality.—The Chairman reports that owing to want of funds no steps have yet been taken to improve the water-supply of this town. The Commissioners intend to construct 8 masonry wells as soon as their budget for the ensuing year is sanctioned.

2. Kushtia Municipality.—The Vice-Chairman reports that no fresh improvement has been made except that one new tank is under excavation solely for drinking purposes. Steps are being taken for sinking as many tube-wells as are convenient in suitable places.

3. Krishnaghur Municipality.—The Chairman reports that an improvement in respect of water-supply has been made in the following way. The engine and pumping gear of Babu Nafar Chandra Pal Chowdhuri were recently utilized in lifting water from the Jalanghi River into the tanks in the bed of the Anjoona Khal by the existing drain of the Municipality, and also to the tanks on the eastern portion of the town at an estimated cost of Rs. 2,200. This has been of great benefit to the residents of Krishnaghur.

4. Santipur Municipality.—The Chairman reports that Rs. 2,000 has been sanctioned towards the improvement of the present sources of water-supply and opening new ones. Five new pucca wells are going to be sunk very shortly by the District Engineer, Nadia, who has undertaken the work.

5. Ranaghat Municipality.—Only one masonry well has been added this year to the existing sources of water-supply of the Municipality. It is in contemplation to re-excavate one tank and sink four masonry wells in the beginning of the next year.

6. Birnagar Municipality.—The District Engineer, Nadia, has been requested to sink as early as possible two masonry wells of his own patent in those parts of the town where the water-supply is deficient, as the Deputy Sanitary Commissioner recommended wells in preference to tanks.

7. Meherpur Municipality.—Two masonry wells and three ordinary kutcha wells have been added to the existing sources of water-supply of the Municipality.

8. Kumarkhali Municipality.—The Chairman reports that no progress could be made this year for want of funds. It has been determined to sink two masonry wells at the Durgapur and Elangi Wards, which are far off from the Gorai River. Adequate provision in the next year's budget will be made for this purpose.

9 Chakdaho Municipality.—One pucca well has been made at Ghosepura, and other kutcha and pucca wells are being fully cleansed.

No. 486M., dated Camp Hariharpara, the 4th January 1897.

From—E. V. Levinge, Esq., Magistrate of Murshidabad,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

With reference to your circular No. 36M., dated the 18th December 1896, regarding the improvement of the existing sources of water-supply in the municipalities of this district, I have the honour to report as follows.

2. All municipalities have prepared registers in the forms (I and II) annexed to the letter from the Government of Bengal in the Municipal Department, No. 7T.M., dated the 15th May 1896. Generally speaking, the municipalities of this district are favourably situated as regards the supply of drinking-water, as four out of the five are on the River Bhagirathi. The Kandi Municipality is the only one which is at a distance from that river, and the Municipality is chiefly dependent on wells and tanks for its supply of drinking-water.

3. The following progress reports have been submitted by the different municipalities:—

Berhampur.—The Chairman reports that the existing sources of water-supply are sufficient for the present requirements of the people. As the proposed scheme of water-works, the cost of construction of which will be borne by the Maharani Surnomaye of Cossimbazar, will be taken in hand at once, no further steps are necessary for any extension or improvement of the water-supply The cost of maintenance of the water-works will be borne by the Municipality.

Murshidabad.—The supply of drinking-water in this Municipality is reported to be sufficient, as all parts of the Municipality are easily accessible to the River Bhagirathi. There are also 16 wells and 14 tanks in the Municipality, the water of which is reported to be wholesome. The Chairman reports that he will spend Rs. 30 in cleaning some wells in a few weeks before the close of the year. Notices will also be issued on the proprietors to clean some of the other wells. I think that a good deal more might be done in the way of issuing notices on the proprietors of wells and tanks, but it is useless issuing such notices unless proper steps are taken to see that the orders are carried out. I will instruct the Chairman accordingly.

Azimganj.—The Chairman says that the water-supply is sufficient, as the municipal jurisdiction extends on both sides of the river. A few wells might with advantage be sunk in the outlying portions of the Municipality, and this will be done in the present year.

Jangipur.—The Chairman reports that he has recently sunk two wells, and that others will be sunk in the present year. The Municipality is situated on both sides of the River Bhagirathi. Babu Jogendra Narain Roy of Lalgola has promised to excavate a tank within the municipal limits. The Chairman does not say whether he is issuing notices on the owners of wells and tanks to keep them clean. He will be reminded of the necessity of doing this.

Kandi.—The Municipality depends chiefly for its water-supply on wells and tanks. The tank-water is generally very good, but in some tanks it has been very low owing to the dryness of the season. Enquiries are being made with a view to acquiring the rights in one or two tanks, and reserving them solely for drinking purposes. Several notices have recently been issued on proprietors of tanks to keep them clean, and in some instances the proprietors have been prosecuted for failing to comply with the orders. Two wells have lately been sunk, and a Norton's tube-well has been ordered as an experimental measure. I lately inspected the Municipality, and I think that the Commissioners are taking proper steps to improve the water-supply.

No. 13L.F., dated Jessore, the 8th January 1897.

From—Babu Sasi Bhusan Bose, Deputy Magistrate in charge, Jessore,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

With reference to your No. 36Cir.M., dated the 18th December 1896, regarding quarterly progress report about improvement of the existing sources of water-supply in the municipalities, I have the honour, in the absence of the District Magistrate on tour, to report as follows :—

1. Jessore Municipality.—Since the previous report there have been no further additions to the sources of water-supply. Attempts were, however, made to sink four tube-wells in accordance with Government circular No 22L.S.-G., dated the 2nd April 1896, but none of them proved successful. The Chairman intends to introduce a few of these wells to a certain part of the Municipality to see how they work.

2. Kotchandpur Municipality.—The Chairman writes that no action was required to be taken to improve the existing sources of water-supply within the Municipality. A private tank was re-excavated by the owner after he had been served with a notice under section 200 of the Municipal Act. The River Bhairab supplies good water.

3. Maheshpur Municipality.—One tank in the Municipality has been cleared of the rank vegetation and earthwork done on its bank, and attention has been paid to prevent two other tanks and a reserved tank from pollution of their water. Besides, the owner of a private tank has been served with a notice to either re-excavate or fill up his tank, the water of which has become unwholesome.

No. 318.-G., dated Cuttack, the 22nd January 1897.

Memo. by—H. G. Cooke, Esq., Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

Copy, with that of its enclosure, forwarded to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal for information, with reference to his circular No. 58L.S.-G., dated the 12th December 1896.

2. Reports from other districts will be submitted on their receipt.

No. 309, dated Balasore, the 24th December 1896.

From—Babu Radha Charan Das, Vice-Chairman in charge, Balasore Municipality,
To—The Magistrate of Balasore.

With reference to your memorandum No. 2071, dated the 21st instant, I have the honour to report that, with regard to the water-supply in this town, the Municipal Commissioners have taken strict measures to keep the tank reserved for drinking purposes from being polluted, and no new works have been done in the current quarter, as there has been no necessity for them.

No. 1013, dated Balasore, the January 1897.

From—Raja Baikuntha Nath De Bahadur, Vice-Chairman, District Board, Balasore,
To—The Magistrate of Balasore.

With reference to your memorandum No. 2071, dated the 21st ultimo, forwarding Bengal Government circular No. 58L.S.-G., dated the 12th December 1896, I have the honour to state that the District Board has allotted Rs. 2,000 for the improvement of existing sources of water-supply and to open new ones, and have arranged to take up the following works in hand during the current year :—

(1) To dig a tube-well in Bhograi. Estimate for the work has already been prepared, and the work will be taken up in January 1897.
(2) To re-dig two tanks near Chandbally. Estimates are under preparation.
(3) To re-dig a tank at Jagannathpur. Work partly done.
(4) To re-dig a tank at Gopalpur, pargana Remna. Work just commenced.
(5) To re-dig a tank at Gabgan. Estimate under preparation. Work will be commenced in the latter part of January 1897.
(6) To re-dig a tank at Talpada. Estimate under preparation.

As to the progress made in collecting and placing on record the chief facts regarding water-supply, I beg to state that the information received up to date from the Local Boards is incomplete, and so fresh reports have been called for.

Besides the above allotment from the District Board fund, there exists an endowment fund of Raja Baikuntha Nath De Bahadur and Babu Satyendra Nath De, which is to be spent for the above tank-digging purpose before the close of the year.

No. 43, dated Balasore, the 6th—7th January 1897.

Memo. by—Babu Rash Behari Naik, for the Magistrate of Balasore.

Copy, together with copy of the Vice-Chairman in charge, Municipality's No. 309 of the 24th ultimo, forwarded to the Commissioner of Orissa Division, Cuttack, for information, with reference to his No. 398S.-G. of the 17th idem.

INDIAN FAMINE CHARITABLE RELIEF FUND.

BENGAL PROVINCIAL COMMITTEE.

The following papers are published for general information.

M. FINUCANE,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Dated Calcutta, the January 1897.

From—E. N. BAKER, Esq., Honorary Secretary, Bengal Provincial Executive Committee of the Indian Famine Charitable Relief Fund,
To—The District Magistrate and Deputy Commissioner of

I AM directed by the Executive Committee for Bengal, of the Indian Famine Charitable Relief Fund, to invite your attention to the proceedings of a public meeting held in Calcutta on the 14th instant, over which His Excellency the Viceroy presided, and at which the Resolutions quoted in the margin were unanimously passed. The proceedings of that meeting have been reported in the public press, and will doubtless have been perused by you.

Resolution :—That the meeting recognises the fact that the time has come when a Charitable Fund should be formed for the relief of distress in the famine-stricken districts of India, such relief being supplementary of the operations of Government and designed to meet cases not clearly or adequately covered by those operations, and that to this end subscriptions should be invited from the well-to-do throughout this country, and contributions from abroad be thankfully received.

Resolution :—That this meeting accepts the statement of the objects to which private subscriptions may legitimately be devoted, as set forth by Government in the Gazette of India of the 9th January, and the organization there suggested for the collection and administration of subscriptions to the Fund: and resolves that a General Committee composed of the following gentlemen* be appointed with power to add to their number, and to appoint an Executive Committee to administer the Fund.

* Vide list annexed.

2. At the instance of the Central Executive Committee which was appointed under the second of the two Resolutions referred to, a meeting was held on the 22nd instant, under the presidency of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, at which it was resolved to form a Provincial Committee for Bengal composed of the gentlemen named in enclosure A of this letter; and an Executive Committee composed of the gentlemen named in enclosure B was appointed to administer the Charitable Relief Fund in Bengal.

3. The Executive Committee for Bengal would now request that steps may be taken for the formation of Local Committees in each district of the Province and for the raising of subscriptions to be administered by those Committees in accordance with the principles approved by Government and accepted by the Central Committee. Enclosure A contains the names of gentlemen resident in your district who are on the Provincial Committee, who it is thought may appropriately be invited to serve on the Local Committee for ( ) with any others who may be co-opted by them. It will be understood that this list is a nucleus only. The Executive Committee have no doubt that in the district of ( ) there are many other gentlemen of good position who will be willing to serve, and they regard it as important that the co-operation of all such should be secured, in order that the Local Committee may be as strong and representative as possible. In the opinion of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, in which the Executive Committee fully concur, the Local Committee should be essentially non-official in character, and this should be borne in mind when determining its composition. It should, however, be associated with the district and subdivisional officials. This is considered desirable in order to ensure that funds supplied by private charity shall not interfere with or overlap the operations of Government officers, who are responsible for doing all that is necessary to save the lives of the people in tracts in which famine prevails. The Executive Committee hope that no time may be lost in arranging for the appointment of a Local Committee for ( ) in accordance with these suggestions, and they request that, when this has been done, the names of the gentlemen of whom it is composed may be communicated to them. Any changes in its composition from time to time should be similarly reported.

4. In addition to the Local Committee for the district, it will probably be desirable to form one or more Sub-Committees to deal with subdivisions or other smaller areas. This is a point on which your experience and the views of the leading residents will be the best guide. If you should consider this course desirable, the same principles which have been indicated in respect of the district committee should, mutatis mutandis, be observed. The Executive Committee would be glad to be informed what course is decided on in this matter.

5. As soon as the Local Committee has been appointed, it is desirable that a meeting should be called at a very early date, at which you should explain the place which it will hold in the machinery for dispensing charitable relief, the objects with which it has been formed, and the principles to be observed by it in the discharge of its functions. In this connection, your attention is invited to enclosures C and D of this letter. The first of these contains a sketch of the organisation which has been devised for the collection and administration of private subscriptions: the second is a statement of the objects to which private subscriptions may legitimately be devoted.

6. The primary objects with which it is proposed to establish Local Committees are (a) the raising of subscriptions, and (b) the detailed administration of the relief funds raised by private charity in concert with the local authorities. With regard to the former, the Executive Committee suggest that subscribers should be informed that their subscriptions can be devoted (i) to the needs of all parts of India which may be distressed, or (ii) specially to meet the needs of the province of Bengal, or of any particular district or area. His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor has expressed the opinion that, having regard to the circumstances of the case, it is preferable that subscriptions raised in Bengal should be applied to the relief of distress in this province, and the Executive Committee desire to endorse this view. Effect will, however, be given to any wishes that may be expressed by individual subscribers in this matter. The local knowledge and influence of the District Committee should be invaluable in inviting subscriptions and administering the funds; and the Executive Committee rely confidently on their assistance in making the appeal successful. The authority of Government has been obtained to depositing all sums received in the district treasury to credit of an account to be entitled the "( ) Branch, Indian Famine Charitable Relief Fund." An account should be submitted at the end of each fortnight, beginning from the 1st February 1897, in the form hereto annexed (enclosure E), showing the amounts collected from time to time. Each Committee should keep a register in a suitable form showing separately all sums received by it under each of the three heads of enclosure E, and the corresponding remittances to the Executive Committee, and other expenditure. At the end of each fortnight all sums designated by the subscribers as devoted for the needs of India generally, or to those of the province of Bengal, should be remitted to the Executive Committee by Remittance Transfer Receipt.

7. The funds to be administered by the Local Committee will consist of (i) subscriptions designated by the donors as intended for the relief of distress within the district: and (ii) sums allotted by the Bengal Executive Committee. The objects on which these funds may properly be expended are set forth in enclosure D of this letter and are four in number. It is considered that the Local Committee should have a free hand in the administration of these funds, and there is no intention to dictate any course of action beyond laying down the general injunction that the principles formulated in enclosure D should be observed. I am directed, however, to invite special attention to the third clause of the enclosure, which runs as follows, viz.:—"In relieving the numerous poor but respectable persons who will endure almost any privation rather than apply for Government relief, accompanied as it must be by official inquiry into and by some kind of test of the reality of the destitution which is to be relieved." His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor and the Executive Committee believe that in present conditions the funds at the disposal of the Local Committee can be most usefully laid out in this manner, and I am to suggest that applications for aid under the three other permissible heads may properly be deferred until the Committee has dealt with all reasonable claims on behalf of the respectable poor, and of purdah ladies and other persons who, by the custom of the country, are unable to apply for Government relief.

8. In order to ensure that, as far as possible, no case of these kinds shall be overlooked, I am to suggest that each member of the Local and Sub-Committees should be invited to take personal charge of a suitable area, and that he should arrange to visit, either in person or through some reliable agent, every village in such area at frequent intervals. For this purpose the Committee will no doubt be able to enlist the services of members of Local and District Boards and Union Committees, members of panchayets, and the like. It cannot be doubted that such visits will bring to light many persons whose caste, usages and feelings preclude the application of a labour test—women of good family and others—who may be in great though silent distress. In dealing with cases of this class, the Local Committee may find it advisable to provide light forms of employment, such as spinning, weaving, and the husking of rice, occupations which can be carried on in the people's own homes. In some cases relief might most conveniently take the form of selling grain, under due precautions, at less than cost price. This system should, however, it is considered, only be sparingly resorted to. Grain should not of course be sold in this way to the public generally, but only to persons of the class described in this paragraph, i.e., to the respectable poor and to ladies, who, in the opinion of the Local Committee, are unable to come on to the State Relief Works.

9. The extent and intensity of distress vary in different districts of Bengal, and are greater in some places than in others. If your district is among those which are more severely affected, it is probable that whatever sums may be subscribed within it, and more, will be required for local expenditure. If, on the other hand, it is happily among those which are more fortunately circumstanced, the Local Committee will, it is hoped, recognize the justice of setting free much of what they are able to collect for the relief of more pressing necessity elsewhere. Even in those districts which are least affected by the failure of the rains, the high range of prices must be the cause of some distress, and occasions will still arise for the issue of relief in the manner described above.

10. In addition to the fortnightly statement of subscriptions collected (enclosure E), the statements in the annexed forms F and G should be submitted at the end of each fortnight, beginning from the 1st February next. These are required for transmission to the Central Committee.

11. An early opportunity should be taken by each Local Committee to appoint office-bearers, including a Chairman, Secretary, and Treasurer, who will be responsible for the keeping up of the necessary accounts, for submitting the prescribed returns, and making the authorised disbursements.

ENCLOSURE C.

Sketch of the organisation which is suggested for the collection and administration of private subscriptions.

(1) A Central Committee, to be termed the Indian Committee for the provision and administration of Charitable Relief, to be established in India. The General Committee to be unlimited in numbers, and nominations of representatives from each Province likely to be affected by famine to be invited.

The General Committee to nominate an Executive Committee consisting of not more than members to undertake the actual administration of the business of the Committee.

The head-quarters of the Committee to be at Calcutta. The functions of the Central Committee will be—

(a) To receive moneys transmitted from England or other countries, and also moneys that may be subscribed in India for the general purposes of the Committee. The fund so created to be termed "The Indian Famine Charitable Relief Fund, 1897."

(b) to apportion these moneys between the different Provinces;

(c) to arrange, in concert with the Government, the system upon which charitable relief is to be applied.

(2) A Committee to be formed in each Province, which will receive the moneys apportioned to that Province by the Central Committee, and also any moneys subscribed specially to meet the needs of the Province, will distribute these moneys to Local Committees, and will generally direct the action of the Local Committees. The Provincial Committee will act in concert with the Local Government, and will be responsible for seeing that the money allotted by the Central Committee is spent on the declared objects of the Fund and with the approval of the Local Government.

(3) Local Committees to be formed as the Provincial Committees may determine. The detailed administration of the Relief Funds will be in the hands of these Local Committees acting in concert with the local authorities.

(4) The collection of money in England to be in the hands of a Committee or other agency which will be set on foot in such manner as the Secretary of State may deem advisable.

ENCLOSURE D.

Statement of the objects to which private subscriptions may legitimately be devoted.

GOVERNMENT fully accepts general responsibility for saving the lives of the people in tracts in which famine prevails; and it is essential that private charity, while working side by side with, should not interfere with or overlap the operations which are organised for this purpose. There is, however, ample scope for its exercise in supplementing these operations, in mitigating suffering, and in relieving distress which falls just short of absolute destitution. Especially, private contributions might usefully be expended on the following objects:—

Firstly: in supplementing the subsistence ration which alone is provided from public funds he addition of small comforts, whether of food or of clothing, for the aged or infirm, for the nts in hospitals, for children, and the like.

As guardian of the public purse, and in view of the magnitude of the calamity, Governt is obliged to limit its assistance to what is absolutely necessary for the preservation of Secondly: in providing for the maintenance of orphans.

Every famine leaves behind it a number of waifs who have lost or become separated from e who should be responsible for them and for whose maintenance it is necesary to ide till they are of an age to support themselves.

Thirdly: in relieving the numerous poor but respectable persons who will endure almost privation rather than apply for Government relief, accompanied as it must be by official iry into, and by some kind of test of the reality of the destitution which is to be relieved.

The feeling of the sacredness of the "purdah" or domestic privacy is intensely strong India; and it is most difficult for any official organisation to reach, or even to ascertain with tainty the existence of, distress of this nature.

Fourthly: in restoring to their original position, when acute distress is subsiding, those who re lost their all in the struggle, and in giving them a fresh start in life.

The peasant cultivator may often thus be saved from losing his holding, through sheer bility to cultivate it, and from sinking to the position of a day-labourer.

The imports from Chandbali were limited to 6,056 cwts. of rice and 172 cwts. of paddy, against 30,495 cwts. and 9,498 cwts., respectively, during the corresponding week last year. A supply of 5,156 cwts. of rice and 10,017 cwts. of paddy was received from Balasore, but in the previous year there were no such imports. Out of the total increase shown under gram and pulses, Cocconada in the Madras Presidency contributed 3,115 cwts.

Exports.—In the following statement the total quantity of each kind of food-grains exported by sea during the third week of January 1897 is compared with the figures for 1896 :—

The shipments of rice to foreign ports were very brisk during the week under report, the total increase amounting to 22·10 per cent., in comparison with the figures for the corresponding period of 1896. The aggregate quantity exported to Germany, Abyssinia, West Indies, and Arabia (other than Maskat) amounted to 96,222 cwts, against nil in the preceding year. There was, however, a cessation of exports to Zanzibar, Natal, Demerara, Surinam and Persia, all of which imported largely in the previous year. Muscat in Arabia received 34,567 cwts., against only 2,771 cwts. in 1896. The falling off in the exports to Ceylon amounted to 17,077 cwts., while the trade with the United Kingdom was practically unchanged. With the Indian ports, however, there was little or no trade, the total quantity shipped during the week being only 490 cwts., against 46,726 cwts. in the preceding year. Under gram and pulses the largest fluctuation occurred in the consignments to the United Kingdom, which received only 1,175 cwts., against 18,783 cwts. in 1896.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below.

The falling off under Chittagong is due to the cessation of exports to Cochin, which received 16,871 cwts. of paddy in 1896. Similarly the ports of Columbo and Mauritius, which together were supplied with 31,107 cwts. of rice from Cuttack in 1896, imported nothing during the period under report. The fluctuations in the exports from the Balasore ports are mainly due to smaller despatches of rice and paddy to Calcutta this year.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h. and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed, open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official Tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken respectively from the Munro's anemometer and a dial anemometer by L. Casella.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

, dew; d, drizzling rain.

NOTE—The daily movements of the wind from the 28th to 30th are from 8 A.M. to 8 A.M.

2. In these regulations "Health Officer" means the Health Officer of Calcutta, and includes an Assistant Health Officer and the Chief Superintendent of Conservancy.

5. When a dwelling is so overcrowded or in such an insanitary state as, in the opinion of the Health Officer, to make the inmates thereof specially liable to an attack of the bubonic plague, the Chairman may, by a notice posted on some conspicuous part of the dwelling, require the owner or the occupier, if actually residing in the dwelling, or the tenants or the actual inmates thereof, to abate the overcrowding within 24 hours by reducing the number of lodgers, tenants or other inmates of the said dwelling as prescribed in the notice, or to vacate the dwelling. The Chairman shall provide the inmates so ejected, when necessary, with temporary accommodation.

6. When the patient is a female who, by the custom of the country, does not appear in public, the Health Officer shall, if possible, depute a female doctor to examine her. When patients, of whatever sex or age, cannot be properly isolated at or in the immediate vicinity of their own houses, the Chairman may cause them to be removed to hospital. In the case of a female who by the custom of the country does not appear in public, all possible effort shall be made to preserve her purda.

Provided that when the Medical Board is satisfied that suitable and sufficient accommodation for the complete segregation of infected and suspected persons and efficient medical attendance have been provided by an association of families, it may exempt such families from the provisions of this regulation. This exemption may be withdrawn if the Health Officer reports that medical attendance and segregation are not maintained to his satisfaction.

13. The Chairman may provide and set apart special burial grounds and cremation grounds for plague patients, and it shall be unlawful to burn or bury the corpse of a plague patient in any other cremation or burial ground.

Chapter 8.—Maritime Part.—Measures to be taken in Ports.

A ship having cholera on board, or having had fresh cases of cholera on board within seven days, is an infected ship.

A ship having had cases of cholera on board at the time of departure or during the passage, but no fresh case within seven days, is a suspected ship.

A ship having had neither a death from, nor a case of, cholera on board before departure during the passage, or on arrival, even though she came from an infected port, is a healthy ship.

Infected ships are subject to the following treatment :—

1. The sick are immediately disembarked and isolated.

2. The remaining persons on board are also to be disembarked, if possible, and to be submitted to an observation, the duration of which shall vary according to the sanitary condition of the ship and the date of the last case, but such observation shall not exceed five days.

3. Dirty linen, clothing ("effets á usage") and goods belonging to the crew and passengers which, in the opinion of the Port Sanitary authority, are held to be contaminated, shall be disinfected, as well as the ship or only the part of the ship which has been contaminated.

Suspected ships are subject to the following measures:—

1. Medical inspection.

2. Disinfection; dirty linen, clothing "effets á usage" and goods belonging to the crew and passengers, which, in the opinion of the Local Sanitary authority, are held to be contaminated, shall be disinfected.

3. Evacuation of the bilge after disinfection, and substitution of good drinking-water for that which is on board.

It is recommended that the crew and the passengers should, for five days after the arrival of the ship, be subject to supervision as regards their health.

It is also recommended that the crew and passengers should not disembark except on business.

Healthy ships are immediately admitted to free pratique, whatever may be the nature of their bill of health.

The only treatment to which they may be subjected by the authorities of the port of arrival consists in the measures applicable to suspected ships (medical inspection, disinfection, evacuation of the bilge and substitution of good drinking-water for that which is (on board).

It is recommended that the crew and the passengers should, for five days after the date on which the ship left the contaminated port, be subject to supervision as regards their health.

It is also recommended that the crew and passengers should not disembark except on business.

It is understood that the competent authority of the port of arrival may require a certificate to show that no case of cholera occurred on board at the port of departure.

In applying these measures, the competent authority of the port shall make due allowance for the presence on board ships of the three above-mentioned classes of a doctor and disinfecting apparatus ("étuve").

Special measures may be taken with regard to crowded ships, particularly in the case of any ship in a bad sanitary condition.

So far as regards disinfection, prohibitions of importation, transit and quarantine, merchandize arriving by sea may not be treated otherwise than merchandize arriving by land. (See Chapter 4.)

If a ship is unwilling to submit to the obligations imposed by the authority of the port, she shall be free to put to sea again.

Such a ship may disembark her merchandize after the necessary precautions have been taken, namely:—

1. Isolation of the ship, crew, and passengers.
2. Evacuation of the bilge after disinfection.
3. Substitution of good drinking-water for the water stored on board.

She may also be allowed to disembark such passengers as asked to be disembarked, provided they submit to the measures prescribed by the local authorities.

NOTIFICATION.

TRANSFER RULES FOR MIDDLE SCHOOLS.

I.—A student before he is admitted to a middle school shall be required to produce a certificate from the head teacher of the school (primary or secondary) in which he has last been reading. Whenever possible, a parent or guardian should accompany the student. Failing this, he should provide him with a letter of application for transfer.

II.—The certificate shall run as follows:—

"Certified that , son of of village, thana, was in the class of the school, and left with a character. All sums due by him to the school have been paid. His age on this date is ascertained, so far as is possible, to be years months.

Dated Head Master."

N.B.—A correct entry of age is very important.

III.—The certificate is to be given on the day upon which the application is presented. If for any reason a certificate is refused, the grounds for refusal shall be written upon the application and signed and dated by the head-master. The application shall then be returned. Inquiries should not be made as to why the boy is required to leave the school.

IV.—A certificate shall not be granted until all sums due to the school have been paid, provided that such sums do not exceed schooling fees and fines for three months. In giving grounds for refusal (under Rule III), the amount due should be stated in detail. No transfer fee shall be charged for granting a certificate.

V.—For the purposes of the transfer certificate, the date on which a student presents his application for transfer shall, in the event of his subsequently leaving it, be regarded as the date upon which his connection with the school ceased; and no fee shall be charged to him for any subsequent month.

VI.—All questions arising between one head-master and another respecting questions coming under these rules shall be referred, with all convenient speed, to the Deputy Inspector of Schools. In the event of his decision being disputed, the matter shall be referred to the Inspector of Schools, whose decision shall be final.

VII.—If a boy be found producing a false certificate, or making a false statement, the matter shall first be inquired into by the Sub-Inspector of schools.

VIII.—Students guilty of breaches of these rules shall be punished by exclusion from examinations, by class degradation, by fine (of a greater or less amount according as his parent or guardian may be implicated in the offence or not), by corporal punishment, or in such other way as the Inspector of Schools may think fit to direct.

IX.—A student shall not, on admission to a school, be placed in a class higher than that in which he was in the school he has quitted, or if he has passed the annual examination for promotion, then the next higher class.

For the purposes of this rule, the first class of an upper primary school corresponds to the third class of a middle school, the second class to the fourth class, and so on.

X.—Wilful transgression or colourable evasion of any of these rules will render a school liable to forfeit the right of sending up candidates for the scholarship examinations, and also to the loss of any grant-in-aid which it may be receiving from public funds.

GENERAL.

NOTIFICATION.

Dated 28th December 1896.

No. 5814-Ex.-223.—Tenders in the form hereunto appended are hereby invited for the exclusive privilege of the manufacture of Arrack for the territories of Mysore, inclusive of the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, for a period of five years from 1st July 1897 to 30th June 1902.

2. The contract for the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore is included in this Notification with the permission of the Resident in Mysore.

3. The privilege for which tenders are now invited will be conceded subject to the conditions specified in paragraph 8 of this Notification, and to the Excise Laws and Rules passed by Government from time to time. It will not include the manufacture or sale of Toddy, or of "Foreign Spirits and Foreign Fermented Liquors," or of Country Beer.

4. The quantity of Arrack required is estimated to be between 46,000 and 48,000 gallons a month, the quantity actually issued from the Bangalore Distillery in the year 1895-96 having been 551,935 gallons. No quantity is, however, guaranteed to the manufacturer, who is bound by actual requirements, be the same more or less than the estimated quantity.

5. Tenderers must specify the lowest rate per gallon at which they will supply all the Arrack required, of the strength of 20° under proof, during the whole period of the contract. The rate of price thus tendered for and accepted by Government shall be the price at which Arrack of 20° under-proof will be sold by the manufacturer to retail shop-keepers and to renters of the right of retail vend, during the currency of the contract granted under this Notification. For double-distilled spirits and other special liquors of greater or lesser strength than 20° under-proof, which may be specially manufactured and issued with the approval of the Government, the manufacturer will be allowed to fix his own prices; but for single-distilled spirits of greater or lesser strength than 20° under-proof, the price chargeable by him will be according to such strength proportionately on the rate fixed for Arrack 20° under-proof in accordance with Casella's Rules.

6. Each tender must be accompanied by a deposit of Rs. 5,000 in cash, or in Government securities, duly endorsed in favour of "The Dewan of Mysore," and enclosed in a cover superscribed with the words "Tender for the exclusive privilege of the Manufacture of Arrack," and must be sent to the Excise Commissioner at Bangalore so as to reach him before noon on Tuesday, the 2nd March 1897, after which date no tender will be received. The tenders will be opened by the Excise Commissioner at his office in Bangalore at 12 o'clock noon on the 2nd March 1897, in the presence of the applicants who may be present. The final disposal of the tenders will rest with the Government, who reserve to themselves full power to reject any or all of the tenders without assigning any reason. The deposits made by the applicants whose tenders are rejected will be returned to them on their application.

7. The applicant, whose tender may be finally accepted by the Government, shall, within eight days of the acceptance of his tender being communicated to him, deposit at the Huzur Treasury, Bangalore, a further sum in cash, or in Government securities, duly endorsed in favour of 'The Dewan of Mysore," to make up with the deposit previously made the sum of one lakh of rupees; and shall execute an agreement in the prescribed form on proper stamp, binding himself to conform to the conditions hereinafter set forth, and if he fails or refuses to sign the agreement, or to make the deposit required, the deposit already made will be forfeited to Government, and the contract otherwise disposed of.

8. The contract for which tenders are now invited shall be subject to the following conditions, namely:—

I.—The contractor will be required to manufacture within the enclosure of the Government Distillery near Bangalore, or at such other place as may be approved by the Government. For the use of the Distillery buildings near Bangalore, together with the existing system of water-supply thereto, the contractor shall pay rent to Government at Rs. 500 per mensem. Such improvement or addition to the said buildings or water-supply as may be approved by the Government will be carried out at Government cost, subject to the payment by the contractor of such additional rent or rate as may be fixed by Government.

II.—The contractor will be required to have ordinarily a month's supply (46,000 gallons at the present rate of consumption) and never less than 23,000 gallons of admissible spirits in terms of 20° under-proof in store at the Distillery.

III.—The contractor will be allowed to purchase spirit from any Sugar Factory which may be established in Mysore, and which may be authorized by Government to distil Arrack. Should the contractor himself establish a Sugar Factory and distil Arrack therein, with the permission of the Government, he will be bound to keep in stock such quantities of spirit at such Factory as may be fixed by Government.

IV.—In outlying tracts where, owing to small consumption or other causes, there is reason to suspect illicit distillation, Government will be at liberty to establish out-stills, giving the contractor the first refusal of so doing.

V.—The contractor shall, upon receipt by him of price at the rate fixed by his contract, sell the spirit at the Government Distillery or other place where he may be allowed to manufacture. Such sales shall only be—

1st.—For the supply of such Bonded Depôts as Government may, from time to time, establish and maintain;

2nd.—To separate shop-keepers licensed to sell in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, in the Cities of Bangalore and Mysore and in other places to which the Separate Shop System may be extended;

3rd.—To vend-renters to whom the Government may sell the right to vend Arrack in defined tracts and

4th.—To the licensees for the wholesale and retail vend of "Foreign Spirits and Foreign Fermented Liquors" and for the sale of the same in Refreshment-rooms and in Hotels and Boarding-houses.

No spirit shall be allowed to be removed from the Government Distillery, or other authorized place of manufacture, or from a Bonded Depôt, unless the purchaser produces a Treasury receipt for the amount of duty paid therefor.

VI.—The contractor shall be bound to conform to the provisions of Act XXII of 1881 (the Excise Act), as in force in the Civil and Military Station and as introduced into Mysore with certain modifications by Regulation III of 1885, as well as to the Rules framed thereunder by Government from time to time.

VII.—The out-going contractor shall give, and the in-coming contractor shall take over, any Arrack or other Country Spirits not exceeding a month's supply, which may remain as stock in hand on the last day of the expiring contract, the latter paying the former for the same such value as may be fixed by the Excise Commissioner.

VIII.—Should the in-coming contractor so require by at least one week's previous notice in writing, the out-going contractor shall cease preparing "Wash" during the last month of the expiring contract, and vacate the buildings so as to admit of the in-coming contractor commencing operations. Should no such notice be given, the out-going contractor may continue distilling till the end of his contract, after which further distillation must cease.

IX.—Should the out-going contractor so desire, the in-coming contractor shall be bound to purchase all apparatus and stock and block belonging to the out-going contractor at the Government Central Distillery, Bangalore, at a fair and equitable price, to be fixed by the Excise Commissioner, calculating the original cost and deducting therefrom depreciation for the period of user at such average rate as may be determined by Government, and of which timely notice will be given to the out-going contractor, and to intending bidders by a Notification to be duly published in that behalf.

X.—Improvements of a permanent nature shall be retained and not be disturbed except with the approval of the Executive Engineer.

XI.—In case of a breach of any of the above conditions, Government will be at liberty to cancel the contract and to declare the deposit of one lakh of rupees forfeited and also to recover from the defaulting contractor such further loss as may be occasioned by such breach.

4. (1) If any person uses any dynamite or other explosive substance in any water with intent thereby to catch or destroy any of the fish that may be therein, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two months, or with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

(2) In sub-section (1) the word "water" includes the sea within a distance of one marine league of the sea-coast: and an offence committed under that sub-section in such sea may be tried, punished and in all respects dealt with as if it had been committed on the land abutting on such coast.

(a) the erection and use of fixed engines;

(b) the construction of weirs; and

(c) the dimension and kind of the nets to be used and the modes of using them.

(4) Such rules may also prohibit all fishing in any specified water for a period not exceeding two years.

(5) In making any rule under this section the Local Government may—

(a) direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, and, when the breach is a continuing breach, with a further fine which may extend to ten rupees for every day after the date of the first conviction during which the breach is proved to have been persisted in ; and

(b) provide for—

(i) the seizure, forfeiture and removal of fixed engines erected, or used, or nets used, in contravention of the rule, and

(ii) the forfeiture of any fish taken by means of any such fixed engine or net.

(6) The power to make rules under this section is subject to the condition that they shall be made after previous publication.

Arrest without warrant for offences under this Act.

7. STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THIS Bill does not propose to effect any change in the law. Its object, like that of the Acts it consolidates, is to shorten the language of statutory enactments and to provide for uniformity of expression in cases where there is identity of subject-matter.

2. The first enactment of the kind was Lord Brougham's Act (13 & 14 Vict., c. 21). The provisions of that Statute were adapted to India, and somewhat amplified, by the General Clauses Act (I of 1868), and the General Clauses Act (I of 1887) was a further extension of the same principle. It is obviously expedient that the legislative dictionary, as it may be called, should be contained in a single enactment, and that the two Acts above referred to should be consolidated, and it seems desirable to take the opportunity of making any additions that later experience may have suggested, and in particular to incorporate such provisions of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (52 & 53 Vict., c. 63), as are applicable to India. That Statute, like the Indian Act of 1887, was drafted by Sir C. Ilbert, and is in effect a careful revise and extension of the latter. For example, the definition of "British India" in the English Act of 1889 is merely an expansion of the definition given by the Indian Act of 1868. Its legal effect is the same, but it is more intelligible, and it avoids a reference to another Statute. The proposed measure will have this further advantage that it will tend to secure uniformity of language and construction in Indian and English legislation, in so far as both have to deal with the same subject-matter.

3. The references on the margin of the Bill indicate the origin of each provision contained therein, and the annexed Notes on Clauses furnish such further explanatory details as seem to be called for

M. D. CHALMERS.

Notes on Clauses.

Clause 3.—This clause brings together and defines sixty-two words and phrases of more or less frequent occurrence in the Indian Statute-book. The arrangement is in alphabetical order, and, in accordance with that order, as also with a view to obviating the risk of oversight, the definitions of "father" and "son" and of the cognate expressions "affidavit," "oath" and "swear" have been separated and inserted each in its proper place.

Clause 3 (7).—The definition of British India is, as mentioned in the Statement of Objects and Reasons above, taken from the Interpretation Act, 1889 [52 & 53 Vict., c. 63, s. 18 (4)].

Clause 3 (17).—The definition of "enactment" suggested by this clause is intended to remove certain doubts which have from time to time been raised as to the meaning of the word.

Clause 3 (20).—The expression "Gazette" is here defined in accordance with the prevailing usage. The definition will be useful as tending to shorten and simplify the language of the provisions of very many enactments.

Clause 3 (21).—It will be observed that this definition differs materially from that contained in the Indian Penal Code, but it is believed that it is a better, being a more equitable and reasonable, definition of the expression "good faith." It is now well established in England; for, as Lord Denman, C. J., remarked as far back as in 1836 in Goodman against Harvey (4 A. & E., at page 876), "gross negligence may be evidence of malafides, but is not the same thing. We have shaken off the last remnant of the contrary doctrine." (See also Jones v. Gordon, L. R. 2 App. Cas. 629, and Derry v. Peek, L. R. 14 App. Cas. 337). Where it is intended to afford protection only in the case of a person who acts in good faith and without negligence, it seems better to say so in terms.

Clause 3 (22).—Experience has suggested the desirability of providing a definition of the expression "Government." The present practice is to refer specifically to the "Governor General in Council" when the Government of India only is meant and to the "Local Government" when a subordinate Administration alone is in view; but it is frequently useful to refer in general terms to "the Government," as, for example, in legislation affecting public property, and the question has more than once arisen whether such phraseology includes the Local Government concerned as well as the Supreme Government. It is proposed, by introducing here the definition which is already to be found in the Code of Civil Procedure, to make it clear for the future that, unless a different intention appear from the context, it does.

Clause 3 (25).—The definition of the expression "High Court" in the General Clauses Act (I of 1868), section 2 (11), has reference only to civil proceedings. A definition in its relation to criminal proceedings, which has been taken from the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, section 4 (i), has been added.

Clause 3 (28).—This definition of "India" is taken verbatim from the Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 18 (5).

Clause 3 (47).—The phrase "used with reference to a document," and also the words "in British India," have been inserted in the existing definition of "registered" contained in section 3 (11) of the General Clauses Act (I of 1887), and the new definition is, by clause 4 (2) of the Bill, declared to govern all enactments passed since the 14th January, 1887. The additions, however, really do no more than indicate with greater precision the proper construction to be placed upon the definition of 1887, and it cannot be said that any change in the law will be effected thereby.

Clause 3 (57).—The words "with its grammatical variations and cognate expressions" have been interpolated in the definition of the word "swear" to be found in section 2 (17) of the General Clauses Act (I of 1868), but the law has no doubt always been so interpreted.

Clause 3 (58).—In this case also the definition contained in section 3 (13) of the existing Act (I of 1887) has been slightly amplified, but not, it is thought, so as to affect the substance.

Clause 3 (60).—In re-enacting the definition of "will" in section 2 (16) of the General Clauses Act (I of 1868) it has been thought expedient to substitute the word "disposition" for the word "distribution." The former would seem to express the intention more accurately than the latter.

Clause 3 (61).—The definition of "writing" given by the Interpretation Act, 1889 (52 & 53 Vict., c. 63, s. 20), is here proposed in substitution for that contained in section 3 (14) of the General Clauses Act (I of 1887). The English definition seems to be fuller and clearer than the Indian, but the latter has, it is believed, consistently been interpreted so as to be practically identical with the former.

Clause 4.—This clause is declaratory of the existing law. The first paragraph provides that all the definitions in the preceding clause which are reproduced from the General Clauses Act (I of 1868), apply also to all Acts of the Governor General in Council passed after the 3rd January, 1868 (the date on which the Governor General's assent was given to that law), and to all Regulations (as defined in clause 3) made after the 14th January, 1887 (the date on which the Governor General's assent was given to the General Clauses Act, 1887, section 10 of which should here be referred to). Paragraph 2, on the other hand, declares that the definitions in clause 3 which are at present contained in the General Clauses Act (I of 1887), apply also to all Acts of the Governor General in Council and Regulations made after the date of the coming into force of that enactment. Any alterations which have been made in the existing definitions have been referred to in the preceding notes, and the fact that the substance is in no case affected has, it is believed, been satisfactorily explained. Similar declaratory provisions have, where necessary, been added to the other clauses of the Bill.

Clause 5.—The first and second paragraphs are declaratory of the practice based upon the provisions of the existing law on the subject, while the origin of paragraph (3) is to be found in section 36 (2) of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (52 & 53 Vict., c. 63).

Clauses 6 (1) and 8.—These are borrowed from the English Act just referred to, and their utility in the direction of abbreviating the phraseology used in enactments scarcely requires demonstration. The second paragraph of clause 6 is an addition which has been suggested to meet the case of temporary Ordinances made and promulgated under section 23 of the Indian Councils Act, 1861 (24 & 25 Vict., c. 67) and of enactments, such as the Upper Burma Criminal Justice Regulation (VII of 1886), which are expressly limited to endure only for a specified period. It seems clear that the effect of the expiry of a law should be the same as that of its repeal and no more.

Clause 13.—The provisions of this clause take the form of "definitions" in the General Clauses Act (I of 1868), but they would seem to be more appropriately enacted as rules of construction.

Clause 15.—The practice hitherto observed in drafting in this country appears to have been to state explicitly in each Act that a person may be appointed "by name or by virtue of his office," if the admissibility of making ex officio appointments is contemplated. This may lead to the inference that no person can be appointed by office unless express authority to that effect is conferred by the law under which the appointment is made. It will, from an administrative point of view, be most convenient to generalize the provision in the manner here indicated.

Clause 16.—A power to appoint should ordinarily include a power to remove the person appointed. It is, however, not certain that this construction would be adopted universally by the Courts, particularly in view of the fact that it has been usual in Indian Acts expresely to take both powers. The opportunity has, therefore, been sought to establish the rule once for all for the future.

Clause 20.—It has been held that, even in the absence of any such provision as this, the rule here laid down would hold good. Nevertheless it seems advisable to follow the lead of the English Statute and to reproduce, with the necessary modifications, section 31 of the Interpretation Act, 1889. This course has already been taken by the Madras Council in the latest legislation of the kind in India, viz., the Madras General Clauses Act (I of 1891), section 10.

Clause 21.—It has been usual in Indian legislation expressly to take power to add to, amend, vary or rescind rules once made in exercise of a statutory power conferred. This has, no doubt, been done ex abundanti cautelâ, inasmuch as it would probably be held that the power exists without any such declaration, especially if provisions of section 5 of the General Clauses Act (I of 1887) be borne in mind. But the practice above referred to might give countenance to an argument to the contrary, and the opportunity is now taken to set the matter finally at rest, as has been done for Acts of the Madras Council by section 15 of Act I of 1891 of the local Legislature.

Clause 24.—The enactment of this clause will obviate the necessity for including in every repealing and re-enacting Bill, such, for instance, as the Bill which became the Pilgrim Ships Act (XIV of 1895), a transitory provision to keep any orders, warrants, schemes, rules or bye-laws issued under the law which it is proposed to supersede, in force until replaced by fresh instruments duly promulgated under the new law. It will be observed from the marginal reference that a similar provision has been enacted locally in section 18 of the Madras General Clauses Act, 1891.

Clauses 25 and 26.—These provisions have been taken from the General Clauses Acts, 1868 and 1887. In strictness, the provision reproduced in clause 25 should apply only to Acts passed after the 3rd January, 1868, and to Regulations made on or after the 14th January, 1887, while that contained in clause 26 ought to be confined to enactments passed on or after the last-mentioned date; but there seems to be no danger in recognizing them as of universal application.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 744 of 1896) that in order to avoid damage to the submarine cables, which are landed on the west side of the entrance to Hué river, about N. 64° W., distant 1,280 yards from Fort Nord flagstaff, the undermentioned four beacons have been erected to indicate the anchorage:—

Each rear beacon is a large triangular, truncated pyramid, painted white; and each front beacon a pole, surmounted by a triangle.

(1) The eastern rear beacon, 18 feet high, is situated about 22 yards northward of Fort Sud; and the eastern front beacon, 18 feet high, bears N. 10° W., distant about 209 yards from the rear one

(2) The western rear beacon, 15 feet high, is situated N. 70° W., distant 1,200 yards from Fort Nord flagstaff; and the western front beacon, 18 feet high, bears N. 40° E., distant about 98 yards from the rear one.

Approximate position, western rear beacon, lat. 16° 33′ 10″ N., long. 107° 36′ 55″ E.

The intersection of the lines of the western beacons in line and the eastern beacons in line indicates the anchorage.

Also, the undermentioned bar signals are made at the flagstaff at Fort Nord:—

(a) Four balls indicate that the bar is in good condition.
(b) Three balls indicate that it is practicable.
(c) Two balls indicate that it is practicable with difficulty.
(d) One ball indicates that it is dangerous.

Note.—The bar is subject to change, and should not be crossed without a pilot, unless previously examined.

NOTICE TO MARINERS—No. 15.

[Third Publication.]

AUSTRALIA, SOUTH—Gulf of St. Vincent.

Port Adelaide river lighted by electricity and system of buoys and light beacons re-arranged.

The President, Marine Board, Port Adelaide, has given notice (No. 6 of 1896) that on or about February 1st, 1897, the Port Adelaide river will be lighted by electricity, in consequence of which the whole system of buoys and light beacons will be re-arranged.

Light beacons Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 of the present system will be discontinued.

All buoys marking the channel will be removed, except the two outside of the light-house, two black buoys near the Old Boat Channel, and the two mooring buoys (for vessels with explosives) in Lipson Reach.

The new system will consist of five pairs of leading lights, and eight single light beacons.

The pairs of leading lights and single light beacons will in future be numbered from seaward, instead of in the opposite way, as it present; that is to say, No. 12, and the light behind it of the old system will be No. 1 of the new, and so on.

The near light of each lead will be red, and the far one white, except in the case of No. 1 lead, where the far light will be red, as at present, and the near one white; these two have not been altered because the red light of No. 1 on with No. 2 is an established lead over the Ocean Steamers' Mooring Buoy; and the white light of No. 1 on with No. 2 leads over the Bell Buoy on Wonga Shoal.

The two lights of No. 1 lead through the Outer Cutting near the light-house, as at present.

The single lights, Nos. 2 to 9 inclusive, will mark the edge of the Channel from opposite the Old Boat Channel to Mutton Cove.

Nos. 10, 11, 12, and 13 are leads, i.e., pairs.

No. 10 is placed on the shore, abreast of the two Mooring Buoys for vessels with explosives, and leads from Mutton Cove half way up Lipson Reach.

No. 11 is placed near the Torpedo Station, and leads up the other half of Lipson Reach to the North Arm.

No. 12 is placed on the Swamp south of the False Arm, and leads from the North Arm to the False Arm.

No. 13 is placed on Snowden Beach, and leads from the False Arm to Luff Point.

Sailing directions and further notice as to the exact date of the alterations will be issued in due course.

This affects Charts Nos. 2389 A. and B., plan 1750.

THE BUBONIC PLAGUE.

THE following translation of the chapter on Bubonic Plague in "The Diseases of Tropics, a Manual for Medical Men," by Dr. B. Scheube, Government Physician and Sanitary Councillor at Greiz, formerly Professor at the Medical College at Kioto, Japan, is published for general information.

DEFINITION.

While in classical times and in the middle ages the word "plague" had an indefinite pathological meaning, as it was applied according to the definition of Galen to every epidemic disease which carried off many human beings, it has latterly been confined to a distinct disease, the Bubonic Plague. This is an infectious disease, running a very acute course, which is distinguished by the appearence of inflammation of the lymphatic glands, development of carbuncles, and general high fever.

SYNONYMS.

Loimos; Pestis, Pestilentia, Febris pestilentialis, Pestis bubonica, Clades inguinaria, glandularia, Beulen-pest, Orientalische pest, Indische pest, Pal -pest Schwarzer Tod, Plague; Peste; Mahamari "the great sickness," Ghant-ka-rog "Boil-disease," Hokla-ka-rog or Tao-ka-rog "the coughing disease" (India); Yangtzu, Luentzu (China).

HISTORY AND GEOGRAPHICAL DISTRIBUTION.

The history of the bubonic plague can be traced back to the end of the second or the commencement of the third century before Christ. In one of Oribasius' medical extracts from Rufus of Ephesus, a contemporary of the Emperor Trajan (98-117) the plague-boils are described, and their occurrence in epidemic fashion in Lybia, Egypt and Syria is alluded to. The first accurate historical record, however, which exists is that of the great epidemic in the 6th century which extended over almost the whole of Europe during Justinian's reign, and is consequently ordinarily described as Justinian's plague, and which lasted for 50 to 60 years. In the following centuries Europe was frequently troubled by epidemics of plague. None, however, was more terrible or spread farther than the pandemic of the 14th century, known under the name of "The Black Death." No part of the then known world escaped it; even far-away Greenland fell a victim and was depopulated. According to Hecker's estimate, 25 millions of human beings succumbed to it in Europe, equal to about one-fourth of its population at that time. From the end of the 17th century epidemics began to occur less often in Europe, and since the middle of the 18th, Western Europe has escaped them altogether. In Germany the plague occurred for the last time in the first and second decennium of the last century. The south-eastern part of Europe, Turkey, the Caucasus, South Russia, Italy, Dalmatia, Greece and the Mediterranian Isles were, however, still visited from time to time by epidemics during the 19th century, for the last time in 1841. Since then Europe has remained free from the plague, of with the exception of a small epidemic in Astrachan (Wetljanka) in 1878-79.

All the European epidemics of plague of former centuries were probably imported from the East, as can conclusively be proved with regard to those of later times. It has always been Turkey where they originated. Egypt, which was formerly also very frequently affected by plague, played the same part for the northern coast of Africa—the Berber states of Tripoli, Tunis and Algiers—as Turkey did in regard to Europe as the starting point for epidemics. Since 1844 the plague has also altogether disappeared from Egypt.

Though Europe and Egypt have ceased to be the scene of plague epidemics, the disease has not been extinguished, but has shown itself down to the present time in several countries, particularly Asiatic ones. We have, indeed, only lately obtained cognizance of hitherto unknown centres of infection, which are probably, however, of old standing. The countries in which the plague has occurred since the middle of the present century, and where probably it must be assumed to be more or less endemic, are—

(1) Tripoli, where in 1856-59 and in 1874 sundry epidemics were observed in the country about Benghasi without any ascertained origin.

(2) Arabia, in the mountainous tract of Assir, on the West Coast, where plague epidemics occurred in 1853, 1874, 1879, 1889, 1890, 1892, 1893, and 1895.

(3) Mesopotamia, which was visited by severe epidemics in the years 1867-68, 1873-74, 1875-77, 1880-81 and 1892, after a period between 1856 and 1865, during which the disease prevailed in the milder form of bubonic fever, and less widely diffused.

(4) Persia, chiefly in the province of Aderbeijan, where the plague appeared in epidemic form in 1863-64, 1870-71, 1873-74, 1876-78, 1881-83, 1885-86, 1890-91, and 1892, (the first historically recorded epidemic both in Persia and Mesopotamia occurred at the end of the 16th century).

(5) Turkestan, where the plague, imported from Persia, showed itself in 1892.

(6) Upper India; and

(7) Southern China.

The first epidemic known in Upper India began in 1815 on the Island of Kutch, situated south-east of the mouth of the Indus, spread in the following years to Guzerat, Scindh, and the Coast of the Ran, and lasted till 1821.

Other centres of disease are the provinces of Kumaon and Gharwal, situated on the south-western slopes of the Himalayas, where outbreaks of plague occurred in the years 1823, 1834-37, 1846-53, 1876, and 1884. The plague further occurred epidemically in 1828-29 at Hansi in the district of Delhi, in 1836 round about Bareilly in Rohilkund and at Pali in Rajputana, and spread thence to Jodpore, the capital of Marwar, and to the State of Mewar, disappearing only in 1838.

In Southern China, plague has long been endemic, although the fact was only determined in 1878 by Rocher, an official of the Chinese Customs, in the mountain valleys of the province of Yunnan, and has shown itself from time to time also at Lienchau and Pak-hoi on the Gulf of Tong-king. From Pak-hoi it was carried in March 1894 to Canton, where it carried away within a few weeks 60,000 souls, and in May also extended to Hong-kong, and later on to Amoy. In Hong-kong, during three to four months, about 2,500 souls succumbed to it. In 1895 Swatau, Foochow, Macao, and other places of Southern China were visited by it.

On the southern hemisphere and in the new world the plague has never been observed.

It remains a mere matter of conjecture which of the countries in which plague has occurred ought to be regarded as its proper home. Some suspect it to be in Mesopotamia; Hirsch is inclined to place it in India. Up to the present time we are as ignorant of the disease-conditions prevailing throughout the area intervening between India and Persia as we were until recently in regard to the Chinese plague-centres. There is no doubt that a very dangerous system of transporting corpses goes on between India, Southern Turkestan, Persia and Mesopotamia in connection with the desire of every Shia to be buried in Nejef and Kerbela, where the tombs of Ali and Husein are situated, by means of which plague may readily be introduced. Thus Roux affirms that on an average 4,000 Persian corpses are imported every year into Nejef, and that in 1894, after the Persian famine, the number amounted to over 12,000.

The disease is said to have been carried from India to Southern China by way of Tibet. It is interesting that the Black Death of the 14th century was traced by contemporaries partly to Cathay, i.e., China, and partly to India.

CAUSATION.

The Bubonic Plague is caused by a specific poison. If the investigations made by Yersin and Kitasato during the latest epidemic at Hong-kong turn out to be correct, the cause of the plague has been discovered, simultaneously and independently, by these two inquirers in the form of a short, thick bacillus with rounded ends, which shows very little power of movement. It is easily coloured by aniline dyes, unless treated by Gram's method (Yersin); its ends take the colouring easier than the middle. According to Kitasato it possesses a more or less distinguishable capsule. It is found in the bubos, in the blood, in all the internal organs, and also in the intestinal canal (Kitasato). The bubos contain the bacilli in very large numbers and without intermixture. In the blood, however, they mostly occur so sparsely that, in order to discover them, one has to look over several preparations. The bacillus has been successfully cultivated artificially (in bouillon, blood serum, most favourably at 37° Celsius, agar-agar, agar-gelatine, potatoes), and on transfer to animals (mice, rats, guinea-pigs and rabbits) has produced morbid phenomena similar to those of plague.

Already in 1844, Jablonowski discovered in the bubonic pus very active bacteria which could be cultivated in meat extract. They showed the greatest vitality at 17 to 23° Reaumur, which gradually decreased at a higher temperature up to 39°.

The plague bacilli show, according to Yersin, white transparent colonies in gelatine, with iridescent edges when looked at in reflected light. The bacilli assume the form either of slender threads or of long chains. In bouillon lumps settle on the sides and at the bottom of the glass, while the fluid remains clear.

If mice, rats or guinea-pigs are inoculated with the bubonic pulp they are sure to die—mice after 1 to 3 days, guinea-pigs after 2 to 5 days, and numerous bacilli are found in the lymphatic glands, the spleen, the liver and the blood. Many of the bacilli lie in uninuclear leucocytes, but not in multinuclear ones. The site of inoculation shows widely extended light red œdema with sanguineous effusion round the adjoining lymph gland, which has become very large and is full of bacilli. The intestinal canal, kidneys and suprarenal bodies are often hyperaemic; the liver enlarged and red; the spleen very large and frequently permeated by a sort of small miliary tubercle (lymphoma?). In the pleura and peritoneal cavity there is a little fluid containing bacilli.

Transfers of the splenic pulp and of blood from one guinea-pig to another and inoculations from cultivated bacilli are also successful. Mice frequently, and rats almost invariably, succumb when fed with cultivated bacilli and with bits of spleen or liver taken from animals which have died of the plague, and at the autopsy the blood, liver and lymphatic glands are found to be filled with bacilli.

Yersin also confined healthy and inoculated mice in the same glass chamber. The latter died first, but during the following days the former succumbed as well, and contained bacilli in their organs. The existence of bacilli could also nearly always be demonstrated in rats, which during an epidemic were found in heaps in houses and in the streets, and which often showed real bubos; likewise in flies, which had died in Yersin's laboratory. The plague bacillus was also found in the soil of a house where an attempt at disinfection had been made, but it was no longer in a virulent condition; and of several animals which Kitasato inoculated with dust from houses infected with the plague, one guinea-pig died with the symptoms of the disease.

The plague bacillus is, according to Kitasato, killed if dried for four days; also in 30 minutes by heating up to 80° Celsius, in a few minutes by heating up to 100° Celsius, in one hour by 1 per cent. carbolic acid, and in two hours by 1 per cent. quick-lime.

Yersin, Calmette and Borrel succeeded in protecting animals, specially rabbits, by inoculation with cultivations sterilized by heating up to 58° Celsius, against subsequent inoculation with virulent cultivations, and the serum of the same proved to have both a protecting as well as a healing effect. Subsequently they succeeded likewise in protecting a horse by inoculation with virulent cultivations and obtained like results.

Kitasato encountered bacilli in the blood of convalescents from the plague even three four weeks after all symptoms had disappeared.

The plague, is in the opinion of most authors, a contagious disease, and this view obtains further support through Yersin's investigations. Some, among them Hirsch and Liebermeister, take it to be contagious miasmatic. The latter assumption is based on the often observed fact that medical men and the clergy, who by their avocations are brought into close contact with those who are affected with or have died of the plague, have escaped the disease, and in this view no value attaches to the positive attempt to transfer the disease by the English doctor Whyte, who in 1802 fatally infected himself by means of inunction and inoculation with bubonic pus, nor to the less disastrous results attending the inoculation of two condemned criminals in Cairo in 1835 with blood from plague patients, because these experiments were undertaken under conditions which did not exclude infection by other methods, and because the positive and negative results stand opposed to each other. According to my judgment, one must altogether agree with Greisinger, who says: In order to prove contagiousness, it is not necessary that intercourse with an infected person should be invariably followed by acquisition of the disease, but only that it should be liable to be so followed. Apparently the contagiousness differs according to the seriousness of the cases.

Infection can probably take place by the air or by touch, consequently the poison may gain access to the body by the respiratory organs or by the skin.

The time of incubation ranges from two to seven days. In particularly virulent epidemics it may take only a few hours; quite exceptionally it may last for so long as 15 days.

The poison may be spread by persons in good health as well as by lifeless objects, by personal effects which have been used by diseased persons, such as linen, clothes, bedding and the like, also by goods, and it seems to remain active for a long time (compare the conflicting results of Kitasato's investigations). A pregnant example of the transfer of the plague by infected effects is given by Hirsch from the epidemic at Wetljanka in 1878-79. The case was that of a girl ten years of age, in the house of whose parents a box of clothing had been deposited, coming from a house in which all the inhabitants had died about two months previously. The girl opened the box, which up to that time had remained untouched and was now about to be burnt. She took a piece of clothing out and set to work on it, and four days later, when the epidemic had disappeared, the first symptoms of the disease showed themselves in her. Trincavelli reports that a servant, after handling some ropes which 20 years previously had been used in the burial of plague corpses, took the disease and died of it (Netter.)

Plague is also, according to Yersin's investigations, apparently spread and transferred by animals (rats, insects, &c.) According to Jablonowski, a particular species of flies played an important part in the epidemic in Irak Arabi (Mesopotamia) in 1884, their appearance and disappearance coinciding with that of the epidemic.

The poison seems to be attached to the soil, which would account for the occurrence of the plague at the outbreak of an epidemic, in animals which live in or on the ground, as has repeatedly been observed in India and China. On the occasion of the last epidemic in Canton, the seizure of human beings was preceded for two or three weeks by a great mortality among the rats, and this repeated itself in each newly attacked quarter of the town. Moreover, women and children, chiefly girls, who generally stay indoors, as well as the occupants of ground-floors, were chiefly affected. The floating population escaped almost entirely, so that many people took to living on the river. As already stated, Yersin also found plague bacilli in the soil, but not in a virulent condition.

In the countries where the plague is epidemic, the poison is probably propagated between one epidemic and the next one by sporadic mild cases of disease, which by reason of their mildness easily escape attention.

If the plague is imported anywhere, for the first three or four weeks isolated cases occur in the neighbourhood of the imported case, and subsequently dissemination of the contagion and a general spread of the disease take place. An epidemic will at times last only a few weeks or months, but may extend over several years. The abatement generally comes rapidly, but sporadic cases will still occur at times for years, and the epidemic may break out again without a renewed importation of cases from outside. The seasons of the year and the temperature have a certain influence on the initiation and development of an epidemic. A moderate warmth in conjunction with dampness seems to be the most favourable condition for it. In the cooler parts of the East, and formerly in Europe, the epidemics occurred mostly in summer. In middle Egypt, particularly in Cairo, the epidemics used to cease in the height of summer at the time of the excessive dry heat; an epidemic never commenced at that time of the year. In Mesopotamia it appears mostly in the temperate season, and totally ceases during the hot one. In the tropics proper the disease has hitherto been comparatively seldom studied (on the Western Coast of Arabia, in the Island of Kutch, in Guzerat and Southern China); the climate is rather one of the temperate than of the hot zones. By severe cold the spread of the disease seems to be restricted, but nevertheless epidemics have occurred during the severe cold of winter (at Moscow in 1771, at Astrachan in 1878-79), as well as during the greatest summer heat (at Smyrna in 1735, in Malta in 1812, in Kumaon 1850).

Neither the geological character of the ground nor its altitude has any influence on the initiation of the disease.

On the other hand, the development and the spread of it are in a high degree favoured by bad hygienic conditions, specially connected with social misery, such as accumulation of dirt in the dwellings and on the streets, deficient removal of fœcal matters and other animal dejecta, overcrowding and insufficient ventilation of dwellings. The poorer classes of the inhabitants are always affected the most, at times even exclusively, by the disease, causing Cabiadis to describe it as "miseriæ morbus." If among the mixed population of a town or a country the different races and nationalities are affected by it in a different degree, this is to be ascribed less to race differences than to the different hygienic conditions in which they live. During the latest epidemic at Canton the foreigners living in favourable hygienic conditions with their native servants on the Island of Shamien altogether escaped the contagion, while across the river only 50 feet wide, which separates the island from the town, many Chinese were attacked. In Hong-kong, according to Ayres and Lowson, the well-housed and cleanly Europeans were attacked most rarely and comparatively lightly; the Chinese, surrounded by dirt and afraid of washing suffered the most; and between them, in respect of mortality, came the Japanese, Portuguese, Manila people and Indians. In the disappearance of the plague from Europe, the increase of cleanliness and the improvement of public and private hygiene has decidedly played an important part.

Sex is of no predisposing importance in the matter; both sexes are attacked equally. Pregnancy and lying-in afford no protection.

As regards age, those from 10 to 30 years are attacked most frequently; but younger children do not escape; and carbuncles and bubos are said to have been observed on the bodies of children prematurely born from plague-stricken mothers (Russel, Aubert-Roche). After the 50th year the disease seldom occurs.

Occupation is mostly considered as having no influence. Griesinger calls attention to the immunity of certain callings. People who have much to do with water, such as water carriers, attendants on baths, &c., and, still more, oil-carriers, dealers in oil and fat, are said to be seldom attacked.

In cases of survival of one attack the predisposition to a second usually ceases; re-infection seldom occurs, and when it does the disease usually runs a mild course.

As predisposing causes, all those evils are cited which predispose to other diseases, such as colds, bodily and mental exertion, faults of diet, fright, fear of the disease, previous sufferings, &c.

As already mentioned, the plague also occurs in animals. Besides rats and flies, buffaloes, oxen, sheep, horses, goats, pigs, dogs, deer and poultry are seized by it.

SYMPTOMS.

The features of the plague in well developed cases are extremely typical. One can often distinguish in its course four separate stages: (1) the stage of attack; (2) the stage of violent fever; (3) the stage of developed local symptoms, and (4) in case of recovery the stage of convalescence. Before the actual onset of the disease proper certain premonitory phenomena occasionally occur. They consist of loss of appetite, lassitude, depression, stiffness, racking of the limbs, slight giddiness, earache, palpitation at times, also dull pains about the groins, the axillæ, &c., where bubos subsequently appear. In most cases the disease declares itself quickly with symptoms of very severe disturbance of the general state of health and great bodily and mental weakness. Along with it exist mental delusions and heaviness of the head, violent dull headache, usually localized about the forehead and the temples, giddiness, drowsiness, or, on the other hand, unrest and sleeplessness or disturbing dreams. The face of the patient is pale and listless, the features are distorted, the eyes dull and hollow, the look staring, speech is difficult, and the walk stumbling, giving the impression of one heavily drunk. The appetite disappears; there exists a feeling of sickness, often vomiting, at times also diarrhœa occurs (the latter specially in cases ending fatally), and the patients complain of pains in the limbs and oppression of the chest. In this stage the temperature does not yet seem to rise or only inconsiderably. Also the pulse is as yet little accelerated and soft, often weak and irregular.

The stage of attack is often strongly pronounced, and may last one and even several days. In other cases, however, it is only just indicated and lasts but a few hours, and may even not occur at all, so that the high fever sets in from the commencement.

The stage of high fever is usually ushered in by one or more fits of shivering or real ague, which may continue for hours; the temperature rises to 39° and 40°, or even 41° and above, and shows irregular exacerbations and remissions. The pulse is very rapid; the beats may amount to 130° and more in a minute; respiration is also accelerated up to a rate of 40 to 50 per minnte. The skin has a burning hot and dry feeling; the face appears somewhat swollen; the eyes are suffused, bright, but staring, the pupils mostly dilated, the hearing weakened. The tongue is swollen and shows a white coating like chalk or mother-of-pearl. Subsequently it becomes dry and cracked and covered, as well as the teeth, lips and nostrils, with brownish incrustations. Violent thirst is felt, and the patients are so weak that, even when quite conscious, they are hardly able to answer a question.

Gradually stupor and quiet, more seldom wild delirium, supervene, and in serious cases the patients already on the second or third day present a condition of pronounced typhus with extreme prostration. At times, however, consciousness remains perfectly clear up to the time of death. Often a slight bronchial catarrh, or, in rare instances, pneumonia, is recognizable. Continuous violent vomiting is frequently present. At times the body appears swollen from enlargement of the liver and spleen. The renal discharge is much diminished, at times even quite suppressed.

From the second to the fifth day of the illness the localised phenomena characteristic of the plague, the bubos which have been observed in more than two-thirds of all cases, make their appearance. These develop themselves most frequently about the groins, and usually further down the thighs than venereal bubos do, two or three fingers' breadth beneath the femoral ring in the triangular space between the sartorius and adductor longus muscles. They also develop in the armpit, where, moreover, the most deeply seated glands appear to be first affected; finally on the edge of the lower jaw-bone and the neck; quite exceptionally at the elbows, in the bend of the knee or above the collar-bone. Usually a bubo appears only at one of the said places; simultaneous bubos at the groins, the shoulders and the neck very seldom occur. The glands of the neck are most frequently attacked in children; the swelling mostly comes on quickly, often suddenly and accompanied by pain. At the outset they are small, of the size of a hazelnut or a walnut, but afterwards they may attain to, or even exceed the size of a goose egg. Their surface is either smooth or tuberculate.

Oppression, pains in the lower part of the abdomen, pains across the small of the back, seem to indicate affection of internal lymphatic glands. According to Russell's statistics, in 2,700 cases of the plague inguinal bubos were present in 1841, axillary bubos in 560, and maxillary bubos in 231 cases. Inguinal bubos occurred 175 times on both sides, 729 times only on the right side, 589 times only on the left one. Axillary bubos occurred nine times on both sides, 185 times on the right, 166 times on the left side. Maxillary bubos alone occurred only 130 times, and among these 67 times in children. Cabiadis in 1,826 cases found inguinal bubos in 720, axillary bubos in 406, cervical bubos in 98, bubos in several places at the same time in 122.

Carbuncles make their appearance much seldomer than bubos, according to Lubbock only in 3 to 5 per cent. of all cases, (of Cabiadis' 1,826 cases 36 presented carbuncles) ordinarily between the first and seventh day of the illness, it may be before or after the bubos, at times also without them, and almost always preceded by the occurrence of pain and burning heat in the affected sites. The carbuncles must, according to Virchow, have a great similarity to those appearing in cases of mortification of the spleen. They begin with a small, severely burning, reddish swelling, which grows quickly, extends inwardly, and forms a protuberance with one or more small blisters on the summit, which subsequently burst. The basis of the blisters mortifies into a black scab. The swelling and the scab rapidly spread in the periphery, the extension, however, as a rule coming to an end within two days. Such carbuncles may occur in all parts of the body, with the exception of the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet; they are mostly found on the legs, the buttocks, and on the neck. They mostly occur singly; at times, however, several and even a large number may make their appearance.

With the formation of these localized phenomena, in case of a favourable development of the disease, the fever slackens coincidently with the occurrence of heavy perspiration, the pulse becomes stronger, and its frequency falls to 90 to 100 beats in a minute. The patient becomes quieter, the expression of his face more natural, the tongue becomes once more moist, and the suffusion of the eyes and the distension of the pupils decrease.

The bubos either give off pus or subside; in the former case, which is considered to be the more favourable one, the glands again swell. After a few days the abcess ripens, opens and discharges pus, blood and loosened cellular tissue, which often gives off a very offensive smell. Healing occurs after the lapse of several weeks. In rare cases the bubo remains stationary for weeks, and maturation or subsidence then occurs.

The carbuncles cease to extend, the slough, which generally has a diameter of several centimeters, is gradually detached by suppuration, and the remaining sore cicatrises. The scars often cause considerable disfigurations. Occasionally the carbuncle develops a diffuse moist blister, which spreads rapidly and may bring about gangrene of a whole limb.

In favourable cases the improvement continues, accompanied by ample secretion of perspiration and urine, and on the sixth to tenth day of the illness convalescence commences.

At times after the formation of the localised phenomena, no remission occurs, and the typhoid condition continues up to the 15th to 20th day. In another class of cases an irregular fever occurs anew after a distinct remission, while miliaria, pustules, furuncles, abcesses, mortifying erysipelas, parotitides and gangrenous inflammations of the mammary glands develop themselves. In such cases we have evidently to deal with secondary pyaemic conditions.

A hæmorrhagic diathesis frequently appears in serious cases of plague. Patechiæ appear on the skin, usually on the neck, the chest and the extremities, in the form of dots, streaks or large red, black or bluish hæmorrhages, which occasionally are so numerous that the whole skin is covered with them. Hæmorrhages may also occur from the nose, mouth, lungs, stomach, intestines, kidneys, female genital organs, and, in the case of females, often cause abortions. The hæmorrhages usually occur at the height of the disease, from the third to the seventh or eighth day. They may, however, appear even during the first stage.

Hæmorrhages of the lungs, which are generally of very rare occurrence in plague (of Cabiadis' 1,826 patients, only six had hæmoptysis), occur so frequently in particular epidemics as to have formerly given rise to the belief that one had to deal in the latter with a separate disease, very similar indeed to the plague, but specifically distinct from it, and consequently distinguished from the Oriental plague as the Indian or the Pali plague. Thus the Black Death of the 17th century, the epidemics at Guzerat and Ahmedabad (India) in 1820, in Pali 1836, Tripolis 1874, Mesopotamia 1874-77 were distinguished by hæmorrhages of the lungs. The quantities of blood which are expectorated are mostly inconsiderable, seldom amounting to more than 15 grammes, and the accompanying symptoms consist of a short dry cough, difficulty in breathing, pains in the side and behind the sternum. The appearance of hæmoptysis is generally a very unfavorable symptom; such cases generally terminate fatally on the second day of the disease and before the appearance of the buboes. Death may occur in any stage of the disease, but most frequently on the third to the fifth day. Often the immediate cause is weakness of the heart, and death ensues at times quite suddenly and unexpectedly; sometimes a very frequent, small, soft, hardly perceptible and often irregular pulse, coldness of the extremities with internal heat, occasionally cyanosis or lividity of the face, hiccough, convulsive twitching of the muscles precede the occurrence of death. In other cases death takes place after a sudden convulsion accompanied by coma, or from exhaustion in consequence of fever, or in connection with the above-mentioned pyamic conditions.

Convalescence sometimes proceeds pretty quickly; often, however, it takes a long time, particularly in the case of prolonged suppuration of the buboes, of suppuration of internal lymphatic glands, of carbuncles, parotitides, abcesses of the skin or deeper situated tissues, of pneumonia or of a persistence of the typhoid condition.

Deviations from the typical course of the plague as described above, and which are often observed in the midst of epidemics, frequently occur, and are based chiefly on variations in the virulence and duration of the disease.

Firstly, there are cases distinguished by their extremely rapid course, in which with the appearance of the greatest prostration the patients succumb within from 12 hours to two days, even before the appearance of the characteristic local symptoms and before any stronger reactive febrile phenomena have manifested themselves.

On the other hand, particularly at the commencement or towards the close of epidemics, and occasionally along with isolated severe cases, mild cases occur forming complete minor epidemics, in which without any severe general suffering, buboes are formed which either mature, or after a short existence subside. Also ambulatory cases without fever have been observed, which at times quite suddenly and unexpectedly end fatally

The duration of the disease varies between a few hours and four weeks or longer. On the average, up to the commencement of the convalescence it seems to last from 6 to 10 days. In consequence of secondary typhoid or pyæmic conditions it may, however, have a much longer duration.

The mortality is always very high. At the height of an epidemic it amounts frequently to 70 to 90 per cent. and more, and at other times it is seldom less than 60 per cent. In the hospitals at Hongkong in 1894 no less than 95 per cent. of the patients succumbed. Some epidemics form an exception, and are marked by the innocuous character of the disease. Relapses are not unfrequent, and always dangerous. Secondary diseases are not often observed There are mentioned as such, persistent suppurations of the glands and of the ears, deafness, pulmonary gangrene, great enlargement of the spleen, obstinate bleeding of the urethra, dropsy, paralysis, dumbness, mental aberrations (delirium).

Pathological Anatomy.—The corpses of those who have died of plague generally show no emaciation. Rigor morbis is usually moderate, and decomposition commences early. There are frequently small or large hæmorrhages on the skin, and these are often so numerous that the whole body acquires a black tint. (hence the name "Black Death.) Cutaneous carbuncles, furuncles, pustules, abscesses, &c., also may be present. The brain and the meninges are congested, and the latter occasionally show ecchymosis. The subarachnoid space at times contains a serous fluid, and the ventricular fluid may also be in excess. The brain itself is usually found to be normal. The membranes of the spinal cord show changes similar to those present in the cerebral membranes. Ecchymosis occur on the serous membranes, and sanguineous or serous effusions are often present within the serous cavities. The lungs are sometimes normal, at times bronchitis, hypostasis, pneumonia, apoplectic patches and hæmorrhagic infarcts are present.

The heart, particularly its right half, is strongly expanded by loosely coagulated or liquid blood; its substance is frequently pale and limp; the large veins of the thoracic and abdominal cavities are also much extended by blood.

The liver is usually slightly swollen and full of blood; the bile plentiful, dark and thick, and the walls of the gall-bladder are sometimes œdematous. The swelling of the liver, according to Virchow, is apparently to be ascribed to acute parenchymatous changes. Pruner and Bulard maintain that they have seen carbuncles on the liver, but have, according to Virchow, probably mistaken the erectile, dark-red swellings, which are known to occur in the liver, for such lesions. The spleen is swollen as a rule, often to double and quadruple its normal size, dark, full of blood and soft.

The mucous membrane of the intestines and the stomach frequently shows ecchymosis, and here and there injection and increased secretion of mucus.

In the stomach there are also at times hæmorrhagic erosions, and in the intestines near the ileocæcal valve and extending to the vermiform process, ulcers have been found.

The mesenteric glands are usually somewhat enlarged, at times injected to a deep red or affected ecchymosis. The kidneys are often, probably in consequence of acute parenchymatous changes (Virchow), swollen and full of blood, and show ecchymosis both on the surface and on the pelvic membrane. The tissues surrounding the kidneys are also often permeated by hæmorrhages. Not unfrequently coagulated blood is found in the pelvis, and continued thence into the urethra.

The urinary bladder is at times filled with bloody urine, and its mucuous membrane ecchymosed.

The most considerable, constant and characteristic changes, presented by the plague, occur in connection with the lymphatic apparatus. The exterior buboes, which may grow to the size of a goose-egg and may even attain to a weight of several pounds, specially appear, as has been already mentioned, in the glands of the groin, shoulders and neck, and frequently extend inwards, so that the groin-buboes may communicate through the inguinal ring with the glands of the sacral and lumbar plexus, and along the spine as far as the diaphragm, while the shoulder and neck buboes may communicate with each other and with the lymphatic glands in the mediastinum. The buboes are dependent on cellular hyperplasia with more or less plethora of blood and hæmorrhagic effusions (Virchow). The glandular tissue appears sometimes uniformly red, sometimes red like the dregs of wine, sometimes violet, and sometimes whitish or marbled and of marrowy, brainlike or firm, rather lardy consistency; at times it is softened to a pulp (Greisinger). The tissue surrounding the affected glands frequently shows more or less extensive hæmorrhages, and is according to Kitasato infiltrated with a reddish gelatinous exudation. Some observers (Pugnet) have detected a considerable extension of the lymphatic ducts in the vicinity of the affected glands.

Occasionally, instead of the usual buboes confined to certain localities, a generally diffused but moderate swelling of nearly all the glands of the body occurs (Aubert). Also in those cases in which the disease has ended fatally during the first days and before any buboes have developed, single glands in the usual places have, as a rule, been found in a swollen condition.

DIAGNOSIS.

The diagnosis of the plague is frequently, particularly at the commencement of epidemics, difficult. In serious cases, malignant malaria and typhus may be mistaken for it; and in milder ones, venereal buboes and other lymphatic inflammations may lead to errors in diagnosis. What is decisive for the diagnosis is epidemic occurrence, i.e., coincidence with the presence of an epidemic, the extraordinarily severe general suffering accompanied by high fever, and the buboes. Even although there may be exceptionally rapid cases in which buboes are absent, there will in any epidemic be cases of a typical nature, leaving no possible doubt in the matter of diagnosis.

From Dengue-fever, in which also slight swellings of the glands of the groins, the armpits and the neck do appear, plague is easily distinguishable by the severe pain of the joints and muscles, the peculiar eruption and the innocuous character proper to the former disease.

How far the bacteriological examination of the blood can be made available for the diagnosis of the plague, further researches must show.

PROGNOSIS.

The plague surpasses all infectious diseases in severity, and is therefore a very serious illness. The prognosis primarily depends on the character of the individual epidemic, which, as we have seen, may vary, and next on the age of the patients. Robust adults are comparatively the least endangered; young children and the aged are, on the contrary, said to succumb almost invariably. Once having withstood the disease gives a good prognosis.

An early appearance of buboes, their early inclination (on the third or fourth day of the disease) to suppurate, a distinct remission of the fever paroxysms with a natural expression of the face and intermission of stupor, spontaneous free perspiration, surviving the seventh day, constipation, full and regular pulse, are all looked upon as favourable symptoms. On the other hand, buboes on the neck, carbuncles at the back of the neck and along the spine, hæmorrhages, strong dyspnæa, violent delirium, convulsions, considerable diarrhœa, vomiting, anuria, weak and irregular pulse, cyanosis, are regarded as unfavourable symptoms.

PROPHYLACTICS.

The prophylatic of the plague consists, in the first line, of strict measures of blockade and quarantine; to these measures is to be ascribed the fact that the plague has ceased to figure of a universal disease.* As its importation may take place by water or land, a sanitary police supervision has to be exercised both at the frontiers and over the shipping whenever it threatens.

* He has already pointed out that the disappearance of the disease from Europe was coincident, not with any increment in the enforcement of quarantine measures, but with increased attention to local sanitation.

D. D. CUNNINGHAM.

At the frontier, or the customs barrier,† travellers arriving from affected districts must be medically examined. All people who are sick or suspected must be isolated, and the others subjected to quarantine, for which purpose special accommodation must be provided. As the incubation of the plague only exceptionally exceeds seven days, a quarantine of this duration should suffice. The linen, clothing and other belongings of the travellers should be disinfected: those of the sick should be burnt. The goods traffic has likewise to be watched. What goods and articles should be altogether excluded from importation from a disease-stricken country is a difficult question to answer, as every new occasion has shown. The German interdict of 29th January 1879 regarding importation from Russia extended to used clothing, body and bed linen, rags, waste-paper, fur of all kinds, hides, bladders, guts, felt, bristles, feathers, caviare, fish and sarepta-balsam. With regard to other goods, the disinfection of the coverings would appear to be desirable.

† Dr. Scheube, writing from the Continental point of view, naturally assumes the existence of a carefully guarded frontier or customs barrier, which no one can pass even in ordinary times without being stopped and searched. No such frontiers or barriers now exist in India.

H. H. RISLEY.

The disinfection of clothes, with the exception of leather goods, which should be rubbed with 5 per cent. carbolic acid, is best done by steam disinfecting apparatus, while body and bed linen should be put for three hours in a solution of 3 per cent. soft soap heated to 50° Celsius, there allowed to stand 48 hours and then washed in the ordinary manner. The coverings of goods are disinfected by rubbing or brushing with 5 per cent. carbolic solution.

Less difficult than the sanitary police supervision of the frontier traffic is that over the shipping, which must be extended to all sea-going and river vessels coming from a diseased port. Ships which have, or have had on board, people infected with the plague must undergo quarantine, and the sick must be isolated in special quarantine hospitals, while their clothing, etc., should be burnt. The belongings of the healthy crew and passengers, etc., as well as the ship, should be disinfected. For ships which have had no case of sickness on board, the quarantine may be waived; but the disinfection should take place all the same. Of particular interest in this matter is the plague regulation issued in Egypt by the International Sanitary Board in June 1894, on the occasion of the outbreak of plague in South China. It distinguishes between infected, suspected, and clean ships. Clean ships, i.e., such as come from an infected port, but have not had an ascertained or suspected case on board, are admitted to free intercourse after medical inspection. If, however, seven days should not have elapsed since departure from the infected port, that period must first be completed. Suspected ships, i.e., those on which cases of the disease have occurred, but not within the previous nine days, are to be treated in a different manner, varying as they have a medical man and a disinfecting apparatus on board or not. The former are allowed to pass the Suez Canal in quarantine and with sealed hatches; the latter only after a process of disinfection of used clothing, bedding, and other susceptible articles has been carried out at the quarantine station. Mail and line steamers, having a medical officer, though not a disinfecting apparatus, on board, are allowed free intercourse after previous disinfection of the used clothing, susceptible goods and of the ship itself, if for a fortnight previously no case of illness has occurred; if less than a fortnight has elapsed since the last case of anybody being taken ill, a quarantine of 48 hours is imposed besides.

Finally, infected ships, i.e., those which have diseased people on board, or have had such within the previous nine days, must transfer the sick to an isolated hospital. The healthy passengers must likewise disembark and be kept for seven days in quarantine, or for a shorter time, if for several days previous to arrival no more cases have originated (if the last case occurred nine days previously, then two days, and so forth); the detention is arranged in groups, in order that all may not have to be further detained if a new case should occur. The clothing and bedding of all the sick are to be burnt, and the used belongings of the healthy passengers and crew, as well as the susceptible goods and the ship itself, have to be disinfected. The latter may then, seven days having elapsed since the last case of disease observed on board, be allowed free intercourse.

As regards the disinfection of ships, it is advisable to wash the different cabins, &c., with lime-water, washing it off again after 2—3 hours, to treat all utensils according to their kind in a similar manner, or to rub them with a 5 per cent. solution of carbolic acid, to pump out the bilge water, and to disinfect the hold with lime-water. The bilge water should anyhow contain at least 2 vol. per cent. lime-water.

It is of the greatest importance, if the plague should break out in a country where it has not shown itself during the last decennial period, completely to blockade the first place where it appears by a military cordon Provided the place is small, this is quite feasible, is shown, among other cases, by the example of the town Noja in Lower Italy, 1815. It is different when the disease has already spread wider, which generally happens, as is indicated by the history of recent plague epidemics, before the disease has been properly recognized, and the fear of a diagnosis, having such far reaching consequences, has been overcome. To blockade wide tracts of country is extremely difficult, if not impossible, even in distant countries not yet in communication with the world at large, but in any case it is better to be content with an incomplete blockade than to dispense with one altogether, for anyhow a considerable portion of the infection which otherwise would spread all round will be intercepted. To do this as far as possible, besides the blockade round the infected area, additional military cordons should be established in the adjoining districts. The hotbed of the disease one must try to cut off as much as possible by isolation of the sick and of suspected cases, and by disinfection of their belongings and their dwellings. According to Kitasato's investigations, the isolation of convalescents must be carried on for one month, and disinfection has to be extended to their evacuations. The corpses of the plague-stricken must either be burnt or buried at least three metres deep. The same ought to be done with the bodies of rats, mice, &c., which have died of the plague.

Papered rooms must be disinfected by rubbing down the walls with bread, white-washed rooms done over again with lime-wash, and oil-painted ones with 5 per cent. carbolic solution or white-washed and washed again after two hours; the latter process to be applied as well to the floors; those made of hard wood, inlaid, or well-painted, are to be treated with carbolic solution, ill-kept ones with lime-water.

Furniture, doors, windows, frames, wainscotings, should be well washed with a 5 per cent carbolic solution and then rubbed dry; in the same manner metal-ware, porcelain and glass-ware are treated.

Huts should be destroyed by fire.

For the disinfection of the evacuations of the patients, lime-water is best. About an equal quantity of the disinfectant should be used, and the mixture left standing an hour before pouring it into the latrine.

Finally, much depends in the prophylaxis of plague on the improvement of sanitary conditions, for, as we have previously seen, both the origin and the development of the disease are connected with bad hygienic conditions. The latest epidemic at Canton and Hongkong further strikingly demonstrated this to be the case.

Personal prophylaxis demands a regular mode of living, the utmost cleanliness, good ventilation of dwellings, and avoidance of all contact with the diseased, their dwellings and belongings. The rubbing of the body, specially of the face and hands, with oil is recommended, based on the immunity said to be enjoyed by oil-carriers, &c., from contracting the disease.

THERAPEUTICS.

The treatment of the plague is based on symptoms; unfortunately it holds out little prospect of success. In the stage of attack stimulants, chiefly alcoholic ones, are given.

From the commencement of the disease rubbing of the skin with oil is recommended; perhaps it is its efficaciousness in lowering the fever which exercises a beneficial influence. The fever-stage demands an antipyretic treatment, cold on the head, cold baths and antifebrilia, such as quinine, antipyrin, phenacetin, &c. When a tendency to sweating arises, it ought to be encouraged by warm drinks. Later on, with declining reaction of the nervous system and typhoid conditions, stimulants, camphor, æther, &c., should again be administered. The buboes and carbuncles are treated with hot poultices, and if fluctuation occurs, are laid open by incision. In case of hæmorrhages taking place, styptics, such as liquor, ferrises, quichlorate, secale cornutum, ergotin, &c., are to be tried.

The investigations of Yersin, Calmette and Borrel, which have been already alluded to, raise well-grounded hopes that the disease may in future be successfully treated by means of serum obtained from artificially immunised animals.

The imports of rice from Burma are very rapidly increasing, the quantity received during the 10 days under review being so much as 484,456 cwts., against nil in the corresponding period last year. The consignments from Chandbali amounted to 12,611 cwts. of rice and 1,877 cwts. of paddy, against 18,072 cwts. and 9,158 cwts, respectively, in the preceding year. The receipts from Balasore also diminished, being 10,216 cwts. of rice and 3,855 cwts. of paddy, against 22,147 cwts. and 4,284 cwts., respectively, in the previous year. The increase of 23,251 cwts under gram and pulse was almost entirely due to larger imports from Coconada (15,357 cwts.) and Madras (7,413 cwts.)

Exports.—In the following statement the total quantity of each kind of food-grains exported by sea during the last 10 days of January 1897 is compared with the figures for 1896 :—

Foreign Ports.

The exports of rice to Foreign ports showed a heavy decline, viz., from 296,174 cwts to 103,104 cwts., or by 193,070 cwts., or 65·19 per cent. owing chiefly to a decrease of 50,794 cwts. to Ceylon 46,090 cwts. to the United Kingdom, and 26,056 cwts. to Germany. To Mauritius and Cape Colony there were no shipments against 28,735 cwts. and 24,056 cwts., respectively, in 1896 ; while, on the other hand the consignments to Holland, Aden, New South Wales and Victoria aggregated 10,532 cwts., against nil in the corresponding period in 1896. Under gram and pulse there was a remarkable fall, viz., from 55,522 cwts. to only 2,627 cwts., the despatches to the United Kingdom being only 367 cwts., against 34,589 cwts , in the preceding year, while Mauritius drew nothing this year, against 16,072 cwts. in 1896

Indian Ports.

The shipments of rice to the Indian ports were about one-third those of the corresponding period in 1896, viz., 12,487 cwts. against 38,887 cwts. The exports to Bombay declined from 20,383 cwts. to 10,111 cwts., while to the Madras ports only 3 cwts. were sent, against 17,740 cwts. in the last 10 days of January 1896. The despatches of gram and pulse fell from 14,230 cwts. 7,186 cwts., or by half, the chief decline being in the exports to Madras ports, which amounted to only 3,162 cwts., against 9,091 cwts. in the preceding year.

The falling off under Chittagong is due to the cessation of exports to Trinidad, which received 20,551 cwts. of rice in 1896. The export trade of Cuttack, which showed a decline of 676 cwts. during the period under report, was confined to Foreign Ports only. The falling off in the exports from the Balasore ports is chiefly due to smaller despatches of rice, paddy and gram and pulse to Calcutta this year.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

Stocks of food-grains sufficient at present.

Singhbhum.—1·02 inches of rain on the night of 7th. Prices stationary. Rice plentiful.

General Summary.—Scattered showers of rain fell in parts of the Burdwan, Presidency, and Chota Nagpur Divisions, and also in Backergunge and Noakhali, and did good to the standing crops. In Lohardaga and Palamau there was hail, which did some slight damage in the latter district. Prospects of the rabi crops continue favourable in Bihar, but in all other parts (save in portions of North Bengal and Chota Nagpur) they are generally very poor. The poppy crop promises well in Bihar, but in Patna it has slightly suffered from the late unsettled weather. Spring rice is doing well, but wants rain in some districts. Ploughing for autumn rice and jute has begun in some districts. Prices show but little change during the week. In the distressed districts the prices of the food-grains on which the relief wages are based are—Nadia (common rice) 9 seers, Khulna (common rice) 10 seers, Rajshahi (common rice) 8¼ to 11 seers, Patna (common rice) 10⅓ seers, Shahabad 10½ seers, Saran (Indian-corn) 10 seers 2 chitaks, Champaran (Indian-corn) 10 seers 2 chitaks, Muzaffarpur (Indian-corn) 10½ seers, Darbhanga (common rice) 9⅓ seers, and (makai) 11 seers. These prices show a slight tendency to fall in Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, and Darbhanga.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF JANUARY 1897.

WEATHER during January was not marked by any great peculiarity, except in the absence of rainfall. The usual number of depressions crossed the Province from the west, causing considerable pressure and temperature oscillations, and fairly general cloudy weather, but the rain which fell during their passage was both very light and very local. With the exception of Orissa, where the normal rainfall is less than ·04 inch, the normal for the large divisions varies from ·4 inch in South-West Bengal to ·66 inch in Bihar. Bihar received on an average only ·15 inch, Chota Nagpur ·33 inch, and other parts less than ·1 inch.

It will be remembered that almost general rain fell in the north of the Province on the 31st December. The light fall continued on the 1st of January, and it is owing to the amounts recorded on that date that the averages are at all comparable with the normal. The heaviest falls on the 1st were in the east of Bihar and North Bengal, and a few light showers fell in the south of the Province on the 3rd.

After this disturbance passed away, settled weather prevailed till near the middle of the month, when the first depression, properly belonging to January, gave rise to a few very light showers in Bihar, chiefly in the Champaran district. None of the amounts reported were above a tenth of an inch. Two others followed towards the end of the month. The first of these caused light showers on the 22nd and 23rd in Saran and Champaran, the heaviest being ·4 inch at Bettiah on the 22nd and at Bagaha on the 23rd. The second was on the 27th, and caused a few light scattered showers in Lower Bengal and general light rain in Palamau, the heaviest falls being about half-an-inch at Balumath and Garhwa.

If the rainfall in Saran, Champaran, and Palamau be left out of account, it may be said that after the 1st of the month the Province was practically without rain.

Though the three depressions failed to give the usual amount of general rain over the Province, they caused large oscillations of pressure and temperature. The latter especially fell rapidly; but as very hot weather for the season preceded the disturbances, the cold which followed them was not very marked, and in consequence the mean, maximum and minimum temperatures are above the normal in all districts, most so in the south-west of the Province.

At the beginning of the month pressure varied from 30·2 inches in the south-west of Bihar to 29·95 inches in the south-west of the Bay, giving a gradient considerably steeper than usual. Pressure had then recovered after the passage of the depression across the western districts, but was still falling in the east and over almost the whole of the Bay area. The cold wave following the depression was shown over Bihar and North Bengal, but mean daily temperature was still between 5° and 7° above the normal in Lower Bengal. By the 3rd the pressure distribution was more normal, being high by moderate amounts, and mean temperature was in moderate excess in part of South-West and East Bengal only. But on the 4th there was a brisk fall of temperature, which gave defect of 2° to 3° in all parts, except Orissa. A slow steady fall of pressure then set in and continued till the 9th. At the same time temperature began to recover slowly, and it was not till the 10th that weather was to any extent warmer than usual, and then only in the south-western districts. The heat wave preceding the disturbance of the 15th caused a daily increase of temperature till the 15th, when excess was 7°, except in North Bihar and North Bengal, where it was about 3°. Pressure oscillations during these days were of moderate magnitude. On the 14th, after a brisk rise, readings were below the normal by ·06 inch in the west of Bihar, Chota Nagpur, and Orissa, and by ·03 inch elsewhere. The depression was over the Province on the 15th, having caused a brisk to rapid fall of pressure at all stations. Readings were very uniform and greatest in Orissa, and a faint cyclonic circulation of winds prevailed. A rapid rise followed on the 16th in the west of Bihar, and was general on the 17th. The fall of temperature began on the 17th, and on the 18th defect varied from 1° in the south-west of the Province to 8° in the west of Bihar.

There was nothing noteworthy between the 19th and 21st, except the steady rise of temperature and the rapid rise of pressure. The latter began on the 21st and continued on the 22nd, when a slight disturbance caused cloudy weather over a great part of the Province and the light rainfall in Saran and Champaran referred to above. It was soon over, and westerly winds became general; but on the 25th they were again easterly in Bihar and the north of Chota Nagpur, owing to the approach of the third shallow depression, which was over the south of the Province on the 27th. The greatest defect on that day was ·08 inch at Krishnagar and Berhampore, and the fall during the previous 24 hours varied from ·1 to ·13 inch. Temperature was nearly 10° above the normal, except in the extreme east and north-east. Pressure began to recover on the 29th, but there was still a moderate defect at the end of the month. The fall of temperature following the disturbance was about 8°, so that means on the 30th and 31st differed from the normal by small amounts, the variation on the latter date being between excess of 2° in Orissa and Chota Nagpur and defect of 1° over the eastern half of the Province.

Pressure oscillations have been considerable during the greater part of the month, especially during the three periods of disturbed weather. As, however, readings were at times rather largely in excess, the means for the month have not been much affected by the depressions. They are practically normal in Chota Nagpur, Bihar, and North Bengal, and below the normal in the other divisions by ·01 or ·02 inch.

Temperature—Has been more frequently above than below the normal, and by larger amounts, the greatest excess in the daily means being 10° just before the commencement of disturbed weather, or during the cloudy weather to which the depressions gave rise. In consequence both maximum and minimum values are on an average above the normal over the whole area, the former by amounts varying from 4°·6 at Midnapore to 1° in North Bengal, and the latter by amounts varying from 4° in Chota Nagpur to less than half a degree in parts of East Bengal. Mean excess varies from 4° in part of South-West Bengal and Chota Nagpur to 1° in North Bengal.

In Orissa and Chota Nagpur the average excess is 3°·1, in South-West Bengal 2°·5, in Bihar and East Bengal 1°·9, and in North Bengal 1°.6.

Rainfall.—As stated above, there were four occasions on which showers fell in places, on the 1st, 15th, 22nd and 27th. The showers were almost always light, and the total fall for the month was very light, in most parts practically nil. After the 1st the districts which received general, though light, rainfall were Saran, Champaran, and Palamau. In all other districts falls were very light and very scattered.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the month of January 1897:—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2·5° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

* NOTE—The wind directions are for 14 days, as during the remaining period of the month the anemograph was under repair.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed, open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken respectively from the Munro's anemometer and a dial anemometer by L. Casella.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* The staff of the College is only given in so far as it concerns the Forest Branch.

[The arrangements hereinafter described are subject to revision under the orders of the Secretary of State for India.]

1. The Royal Indian Engineering College is primarily maintained, under the orders of the Secretary of State for India in Council, for the education of candidates for the service of Government in the India Public Works, Telegraph, and Forest Departments; but it is open, to the extent of the accommodation available, to all persons desirous of following the course of study pursued in it.

India Forest Department Appointments.

2. The examination, which is conducted by the Civil Service Commissioners, usually takes place towards the end of June; and candidates may undergo the written part of their examination in London, Edinburgh, or Dublin, or at any of the provincial centres at which the simultaneous examination of candidates for admission to the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, is to be held. A list of the probable centres may be obtained from the Civil Service Commissioners at any time after March 1897. The oral and practical parts of the examination will be held in London only.

A fee of 2*l.* is required from candidates examined in London, but when the written examination is conducted elsewhere than in London, the fee is 3*l.* Candidates examined at a college or school will probably be required to pay a local fee in addition to the fee of 3*l.* (in order to defray the expenses of superintendence), as to which they should obtain early information from the college or school authorities. The fee payable to the Civil Service Commissioners must be paid by means of stamps of the specified amount. Instructions on this point will be issued to candidates about ten days before the examination.

3. The number of candidates to be selected annually varies according to the requirements of the Forest Service in India; the figures as regards each particular year will be advertised from time to time. In 1897 there will be six appointments offered for competition.

4. Candidates for the Indian Forest Department are selected under the following arrangements:—

(a) An applicant must be a natural-born British subject, and must be above 17 and under 20 years of age on the 1st June of the year in which he competes for an appointment. He must be unmarried, and if he marries before reaching India he will forfeit his appointment.

(b) An applicant must send* to the Revenue Department of the India Office, on or before the 1st day of May of the year in which he proposes to compete—

A physical test will also be imposed, so as to ensure the selection of persons of active habits and powers of endurance.

(d) The applicants who have successfully passed the medical examination and the physical text will be required to undergo an examination before the Civil Service Commissioners in the following subjects‡ (Classes I to III), marks being assigned as follows:—

CLASS I.—OBLIGATORY SUBJECTS.§

† With a view to prevent parents and guardians from incurring the inconvenience and expense of preparing candidates who may be physically unfit for the Forest Service, it is suggested that, before any such preparation is begun, candidates be submitted to examination by the medical adviser of the family, or any other qualified medical practitioner, with regard to the following points:—

1. A weak constitution.
2. Defective vision.
3. Impaired hearing.
4. The existence of any congenital defect.

It is to be understood that this private examination is merely suggested to lessen the chances of disappointment, and that it is by no means intended to take the place of, or to influence in any way, the official examination.

On the subject of the standard of eyesight required for the Indian services, a pamphlet has been published, under the authority of the Secretary of State in Council, by Messrs. Churchill and Sons, 11, New Burlington Street.

‡ Reprints of the papers set at previous examinations, together with tables of the marks assigned to the candidates, are published by the Civil Service Commissioners, and can be obtained through any bookseller. The price of each reprint is one shilling.

14.	Geometrical Drawing	300

(e) The Secretary of State will nominate as probationers such competitors as attain the highest aggregate of marks (provided they obtain the minimum in the obligatory subjects and satisfy the requisite conditions in other respects). These probationers will then enter the College, where they will be further trained for the Forest Service of India.

(f) If the full number of competent probationers required in any year cannot be obtained from the persons so examined, the Secretary of State reserves a discretion to fill up the deficiency by selecting any other person or persons who may satisfy the authorities of the College that he or they are properly qualified to become probationers for the Forest Service.

5. The course of study for candidates for the India Forest Service extends over about three years, at present divided into seven terms, and a period of study in foreign forests. For about seven terms the candidates will prosecute their studies mainly at the College, and during the period of foreign study, which will occupy the remainder of the course, they will visit, under suitable supervision, such Continental forests as may be selected for the purpose. Excursions may also be made for purposes of instruction, both during term time and during part of the vacations.

6. Each annual session begins in September, and is divided into three terms, with vacations of about four weeks at Christmas, two weeks at Easter, and eight weeks in the summer, except at the end of the visit to the Continent, when the vacation will be shorter.

7. A charge of 61*l.* is made for each of the seven terms spent at the College; for the period of foreign study the charge is 150*l.*; the amounts must be paid terminally in advance to the Bank of England for the first seven terms, and the amount due for the period of foreign study must be paid before the period begins. Receivable orders, with full directions as to the mode of payment, will be forwarded from the India Office to the parents or guardians, shortly before the fees fall due. A student will not be allowed to come into residence or to start for his foreign study of forests until his fee has been paid.

8. A deposit of 5*l.* is required to be paid by each student on admission to the College, as caution money, to cover charges incurred by him for damage to books, instruments, etc., or any College bills outstanding on leaving the College. Any balance over and above such charges will be repaid. This deposit is to be paid with the fee for the first term, making the total payments on that occasion 66*l.*

9. The foregoing payments cover all charges for tuition, board according to the College tariff, lodging, with washing, up to a cost of 2*s.* a week, and ordinary medical attendance while in residence at the College. When students are on tour and during the course of practical instruction, whether in Great Britain or on the Continent, the Secretary of State will defray the expenses of (1) board, lodging, and washing (the aggregate maximum expenditure under these heads being 10*s.* per diem), (2) travelling expenses, and (3) fees to local Forest officers, etc.

Students are required to provide their own class books and drawing instruments, drawing paper, drawing boards, and surveying instruments are provided by the College.

* No special text-books are prescribed.

10. The prescribed course of study comprises the following subjects:—

I.—Auxiliary Subjects.

1. Geometrical Drawing.
2. Freehand Drawing.*
3. Surveying.
4. Forest Engineering.
5. Accounts.
6. German.
7. Mechanics.
8. Physics.
9. Chemistry.
10. Geology and Mineralogy.
11. Entomology.
12. Botany.
13. Drill and Gymnastics.

II.—Forestry, theoretical and practical, in all its branches.

11. Every student is required to conform to the College rules, to exhibit due diligence in his studies throughout the course, and to give evidence of satisfactory progress in such manner as may be required, failing which, or in the event of serious misconduct, he will be liable to be removed from the College, or to be sent back from the foreign study, which may entail the loss of his appointment.

12. During the course of study, the proficiency of the students will be tested by periodical examinations, and on the termination of their studies there will be a final examination. Each student may also, at the discretion of the Secretary of State for India, be required to appear before the Medical Board at the expiration of the first year of residence at the College, and should the result be unsatisfactory, he cannot claim to be allowed to complete the course.

13. The subjects enumerated in paragraph 10 are grouped in certain main branches of study,* and a fixed minimum of qualification is required in each branch and in the subjects taught during the forest tours, as well as a certain minimum for all branches taken together. Students who obtain these minima will receive the College diploma in forestry.

14. Candidates who have obtained this diploma and are found to be of sound constitution and free from physical defects which would render them unsuitable for employment in the Forest Department (the final decision on which points will rest with the Secretary of State for India), will be appointed Assistant Conservators in the Forest Department of India in the order of their standing at the end of the final examination. They will be allowed before leaving the College to state their preference in respect to the Provinces to which they desire to be allotted; but the distribution will be made to the several Provinces according to the needs of the public service, at the discretion of the Secretary of State for India after consulting the President of the College and the Principal Professor of Forestry. Officers are, however, at all times liable to be transferred from one province to another at the pleasure of the Government of India.

15. Within a month of his nomination as Assistant Conservator, each nominee must sign articles of agreement describing the terms and conditions of his appointment; he must embark for India when required to do so by the Secretary of State, and will be provided with a free passage. Failure to embark at the stated time will, in the absence of satisfactory explanation, lead to forfeiture of appointment.

16. The pay of an Assistant Conservator of Forests will begin from the date of reporting arrival in India. Probationers who acquit themselves creditably during their course at Cooper's Hill College will begin on a salary of Rs. 350 a month. It will, however, rest with the President of the College, in consultation with the Principal Professor of Forestry, to decide whether any of the probationers, though they have obtained the College diploma in Forestry, have failed to deserve that rate of initial salary. Such probationers, if any, will begin on a salary of Rs. 250 a month; and this difference of salary will continue until the first departmental examination is passed in India. Officers entering the Forest Service will be required to contribute a subscription ranging from a compulsory minimum of 5 per cent. up to a voluntary maximum of 10 per cent. of their salary to the Forest Officers' Provident Fund. Such contributions, with compound interest, will accumulate till the date of retirement, when the total sum will be paid to the contributor, or, in the event of death before retirement, to his legal representative.

17. Promotion, leave, and pension will be governed by the regulations laid down by the Government of India and made applicable to Forest officers, such regulations being subject to any modifications or alterations which may be made in them from time to time by the Government of India, and their interpretation in case of any doubt arising being left to that Government. The more favourable pension rules applicable to Public Works and Telegraph officers appointed from Cooper's Hill College have been extended to Forest officers appointed from England; and the Inspector-General of Forests and Conservators of the 1st grade are now eligible for the extra pension of Rs. 1,000 per annum admissible to an officer after at least three years of approved service as a head of a department in any province, if considered deserving of the special concession. A copy of the Regulations relative to these matters can be seen on application either at the Library or the Record Department of the India Office; the principal rules are contained in the Abstract of the Civil Service Regulations, as given in the "India List and India Office List," published by Messrs. Harrison and Sons, 59 Pall Mall, London, which can be procured through any book-seller.

18. Every candidate, before proceeding to India, will be required to furnish to the President of the College satisfactory evidence of his competency in riding.

* For details, see Royal Indian Engineering College, Calendar.

GENERAL RULES.

19. Chemical, physical, and botanical laboratories, a forestry museum, a forest nursery, a library, and gymnasium are attached to the College. Means are also provided for the practice of photography. Students making use of the laboratories are supplied with the needful apparatus.

20. The responsibility for the discipline and management of the College and for the superintendence of the studies is vested in the President, under the control of the Secretary of State for India.

21. The students are distributed in divisions, under personal charge of one of the Professors or Instructors selected by the President; such tutor being responsible for exercising the proper degree of personal supervision over each student in his division, and for conducting necessary correspondence with the student's parents or guardians.

22. Each student residing in the College is provided with a separate room, and with fuel and light, also with the necessary attendance. Furniture and bedding are supplied by the College, but students are required to provide their own towels and bed linen. Meals are taken in hall. Wine and beer are not included in the ordinary fare, but can be obtained from the College cellar at fixed prices.

23. A chapel is attached to the College, which the students residing in the College are expected to attend, unless specially exempted.

24. Every student will be required to go through a course of gymnastics and also of military exercises, including the use of the rifle.

25. Students are required to wear academical dress, under such regulations as may be prescribed from time to time.

Students not nominated for the Indian Forest Service, but desirous of obtaining a Diploma in Forestry from Cooper's Hill College.

26. Students not nominated for the Indian Forest Service may be received into the College, as far as the available accommodation permits. Such students may pass through the course of instruction prescribed for the nominees of the Indian Forest Service, as detailed above, or they may be permitted to participate in the instruction given in certain subjects only. On attaining the prescribed minima of marks in the several branches of study and in totals as laid down above, they will receive, as the case may require, either the College Diploma in Forestry or special certificates showing in what subjects they have followed the instruction, and with what result.

27. Candidates who desire to be admitted under paragraph 26 may submit the necessary application at any time, but not later than the 15th day of June of the year named for admission, except with the special permission of the President. The application must be made on the prescribed forms, which can be obtained from the Secretary of the College.

28. Candidates whose applications are found satisfactory as to character and in other respects will be required to undergo an examination, to be held at the College about the last week in June of the year, for admission. The object of the examination will be to ascertain whether the candidate is qualified to follow the course of instruction with advantage (or certain parts of it, as the case may be). Candidates who do not come up to the required standard will not be admitted to the College.

The President may dispense with the whole or any portion of this examination in the case of a candidate who produces an University diploma, or other similar certificate granted by a recognized examining body.

29. Candidates admitted to the College under paragraph 26, who propose to pass through the full prescribed course of study, will be required to pay the same fees in every respect as those paid by the nominees for the India Forest Service. Candidates who do not become resident, and are admitted only to certain subjects of study, will be required to pay the fees which may be fixed in each special case in consideration of the extent of their studies. The candidates of both classes will be required to abide by the general rules of the College.

FOREST EXAMINATION.

SYLLABUS.

Class I.

Mathematics.—The extent of the Examination will be as follows—

(a) Algebra, up to and including the binomial theorem, the theory and use of logarithms;

(b) Euclid, Books I to IV and VI;

(c) Plane Trigonometry, up to and including solution of triangles and mensuration.

English Composition.—The standard of positive merit will be looked for in logical arrangement of thought, and in accuracy and propriety of expression, but large deductions of marks will be made for faults of writing and spelling.

Candidates are also warned that, for similar faults in the use of the English language, similar deductions will be made from the marks obtained in the German papers in Class I.

German.—There will be translations of unseen passages from German into English, and from English into German; the passages for translation will be taken mainly from standard authors, and a few simple questions may be asked, on the passages set, as to the structure and character of the language, and allusions of obvious and general interest. The viva voce Examination will include Dictation.

Class II.

Any two subjects may be taken up.

Higher Mathematics.—

 In all the following subjects great importance will be attached to accuracy in numerical results.

Further questions and problems on the subjects of the Examination in Mathematics, Class I.

And in addition—

Statics: The equilibrium of forces acting in one plane and of parallel forces, the centre of gravity, the mechanical powers, and friction. (The graphical or geometrical method of treating such problems should be studied as well as the analytical. No application of the differential calculus to Statics will be required.)

Dynamics: Uniform, uniformly accelerated, and uniform circular motion, falling bodies and projectiles in vacuo, collisions and work. (Analytical methods of solution, but not the use of the differential calculus, will be involved.)

Analytical Geometry: Problems on straight line and circle.

Conic Sections: Elementary properties, with easy problems both on the analytical and geometrical methods.

French.—The passages for translation will be taken mainly from standard authors, and in other respects the examination will proceed on the same lines as in German.

Latin.—Passages selected from the authors usually read in schools will be set for translation into English. Passages from English authors will be given for translation into Latin prose and verse; but candidates will be allowed, in the place of verse composition, to answer questions of a simple character, which will test whether they possess a fundamental knowledge of the grammar of the language, and such an elementary acquaintance with Roman History as is required for the intelligent study of the books they have read.

Greek.— Passages will be set for translation into English from the authors usually read in schools, and in other respects the Examination will proceed on the same lines as in Latin.

English History.—The general paper in this subject will test whether the candidates are accurately acquainted with the facts of English History, and also possess an intelligent knowledge of the meaning of the facts. The paper on the fixed period will, of course, require from the candidates more minute knowledge than the General Paper.

Botany, Chemistry, Physics, Physical Geography and Geology.—The standard of Examination in these subjects will be such as may be reasonably expected from the education given at schools possessing appliances for practical instruction, such as a laboratory, etc. A considerable portion of the marks will be allotted for the proficiency shown in the practical part of the Examination.

Chemistry will be limited to elements of inorganic chemistry.

Physics will include elementary properties of electricity, magnetism, heat, light and sound.

Geology, chiefly economic, including the recognition of the more familiar minerals and rocks, and their properties and uses.

Class III.

Both subjects may be taken up.

Drawing, Freehand.
Drawing, Geometrical.

GENERAL.

Handwriting.—In estimating the papers of candidates, a limited number of marks, namely, 100 out of the maximum allotted to each subject, is assigned for handwriting.

It yields, at the rate of 3½ per cent. per annum, an annual net interest of Rs. 36,525, which is placed to the credit of the Institution in the Bank of Bengal.

III. Election, Vacancies, &c.—The annual election was held in the month of August as usual. For the 30 vacancies advertised, 91 applications were received, and 30 of the most deserving girls were elected as foundationers on the report of a Sub-Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sale, the Very Rev. Father Lafont, S.J., C.I.E., Mr. W. H. Ryland, and Mr. H. A. Bamford.

During the year 15 vacancies were caused by the withdrawal of children by their parents and guardians, of whom 13 had attained the age of 17 years, the limit ordinarily allowed under the rules. Two girls, who had completed their education in the Calcutta Free School, were appointed pupil-teachers in that Institution, while another girl, after passing the First Arts Examination from the Calcutta Girls' School, obtained a situation as a teacher at the Doveton Institution. There were 2 deaths during the year. At the close of the year there were 148 girls on the foundation, distributed among the various schools as follows:—

IV. Education and Maintenance.—The nature of the education afforded to the girls is that prescribed for primary and middle schools, defined under the Code of Regulations for European schools in Bengal. The end sought is to fit the girls benefitted by the Institution for a respectable and useful station in life.

The average monthly cost for the education and maintenance of each girl on the foundation amounted to Rs. 16-5-3, against Rs. 17-0-8 in the preceding year. The total amount paid under the different heads of expenditure was as follows:—

V. Inspection.—Mr. W. H. Ryland was appointed Visiting Governor for the first half, and the Very Reverend Father Lafont, S.J., C.I.E., for the second half-year. Mr. Ryland's report was on the whole satisfactory as regards both the management of the schools and the health of the children. Father Lafont's report has not yet been received, as many of the schools were in Vacation and he could not visit them. Good accounts were also generally received from the school authorities in regard to the conduct, application, progress, health, and attendance of the girls on the foundation. The Inspector of European Schools reports that all the schools in which Bruce foundationers are being educated worked satisfactorily during the year, with the exception of the Doveton Institution.

VI. Meetings.—Six meetings were called during the year, but only four were held, as no business could be done at two of the meetings for want of a quorum. Among the various resolutions passed the following may be noted:—

(1) The withdrawal of the Doveton Institution for the present from the list of approved schools in which Bruce foundationers may be educated was recently resolved upon.

(2) At a meeting held on the 12th December the following resolution appears:—

"The Governors desire to place on record their regrets that, owing to his recent illness, the well known and kindly face of Mr. W. H. Ryland has for some months been absent from their meetings. They sincerely trust that the improvement, which they rejoice to hear has taken place in his state of health, may continue, and that they may soon have the pleasure of welcoming him back amongst them, and benefiting by his mature advice upon questions connected with the administration of its funds and the general working of this important institution. They further wish to place on record their keen appreciation of the valuable assistance which they have received from him in the many years during which he has aided them in their deliberations. They also desire that expressions of condolence and sympathy may be conveyed to his family, coupled with heart-felt wishes for his speedy restoration to health."

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 11th day of August 1884.

PRESENT:

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Whereas by Order in Council made in pursuance of the Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1862, and dated the fourteenth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, Her Majesty, on the joint recommendation of the Admiralty and the Board of Trade, was pleased to direct that on and after the first day of September, one thousand eight hundred and eighty, the Regulations for preventing Collisions at Sea contained in an Order in Council dated the ninth day of January, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and the additions by an Order in Council dated the thirteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, made thereto, should be annulled, and that there should be substituted therefor the new Regulations contained in the first schedule to the said first-named Order in Council, and that the same should from and after the first day of September, one thousand eight hundred and eighty, apply to ships of the countries mentioned in the said second schedule thereto, whether within British jurisdiction or not.

And whereas by the Orders in Council dated respectively the twenty-fourth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty, the twenty-sixth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one, the eighteenth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two, the twenty-third day of August, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, and the second day of February, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, Her Majesty was pleased to direct that the operation of the Article numbered 10 of the New Regulations contained in the first schedule of the said Order in Council of the fourteenth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, should be suspended from time to time.

And whereas the Admiralty and the Board of Trade have jointly recommended to Her Majesty that, so far as regards British ships and Boats, the regulations hereinafter set forth shall be substituted for the regulations contained in the first schedule to the said Order in Council of the fourteenth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine.

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by virtue of the powers vested in Her by the said recited Act, and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council is pleased to direct that, on and after the first day of September, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four the regulations contained in the schedule, hereto shall, so far as regards British ships and boats, be substituted for the regulations contained in the first schedule to the said Order in Council of the fourteenth day of August one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine.

SCHEDULE REFERRED TO IN THIS ORDER.

Regulations for preventing Collisions at Sea.

Article 1.—In the following rules every steam ship which is under sail and not under steam is to be considered a sailing ship; and every steam ship which is under steam, whether under sail or not, is to be considered a ship under steam.

Rules concerning Lights.

Article 2.—The lights mentioned in the following Articles numbered 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11, and no others, shall be carried in all weathers, from sunset to sunrise.

Article 3.—A seagoing steam ship when under way shall carry :—

(a) On or in front of the foremast, at a height above the hull of not less than 20 feet, and if the breadth of the ship exceeds 20 feet, then at a height above the hull not less than such breadth, a bright white light, so constructed as to show an uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 20 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light 10 points on each side of the ship, viz., from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on either side, and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least five miles.

(b) On the starboard side a green light, so constructed as to show an uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the starboard side, and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least two miles.

(c) On the port side a red light, so constructed as to show an uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the port side, and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least two miles.

(d) The said green and red side lights shall be fitted with inboard screens projecting at least 3 feet forward from the light, so as to prevent these lights from being seen across the bow.

Article 4.—A steam ship, when towing another ship shall, in addition to her side lights, carry two bright white lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 3 feet apart, so as to distinguish her from other steam ships. Each of these lights shall be of the same construction and character, and shall be carried in the same position, as the white light which other steam ships are required to carry.

Article 5 (a).—A ship, whether a steam ship or a sailing ship, which from any accident is not under command, shall at night carry in the same position as the white light which steam ships are required to carry, and, if a steam ship, in place of that light, three red lights in globular lanterns, each not less than 10 inches in diameter, in a vertical line one over the other not less than three feet apart, and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night with a clear atmosphere at a distance of at least two miles; and shall by day carry in a vertical line one over the other, not less than three feet apart, in front of but not lower than her foremast head, three black balls or shapes, each two feet in diameter.

(b) A ship, whether a steam ship or sailing ship employed in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable, shall at night carry in the same position as the white light which steam ships are required to carry, and if a steam ship, in place of that light, three lights in globular lanterns each not less than 10 inches in diameter, in vertical line over one another, not less than 6 feet apart; the highest and lowest of these lights shall be red, and the middle light shall be white, and they shall be of such a character that the red lights shall be visible at the same distance as the white light. By day she shall carry in a vertical line one over the other not less than six feet apart, in front of but not lower than her foremast head, three shapes not less than two feet in diameter, of which the top and bottom shall be globular in shape and red in colour, and the middle one diamond in shape and white.

(c) The ships referred to in this Article, when not making any way through the water, shall not carry the side lights, but when making way shall carry them.

(d) The lights and shapes required to be shown by this Article are to be taken by other ships as signals that the ship showing them is not under command, and cannot therefore get out of the way. The signals to be made by ships in distress and requiring assistance are contained in Article 27.

Article 6.—A sailing ship under way or being towed shall carry the same lights as are provided by Article 3 for a steam ship under way, with the exception of the white light, which she shall never carry.

Article 7.—Whenever, as in the case of small vessels during bad weather, the green and red side lights cannot be fixed, these lights shall be kept on deck, on their respective sides of the vessel, ready for use; and shall, on the approach of or to other vessels, be exhibited on their respective sides in sufficient time to prevent collision, in such manner as to make them most visible, and so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side.

To make the use of these portable lights more certain and easy, the lanterns containing them shall each be painted outside with the colour of the light they respectively contain, and shall be provided with proper screens.

Article 8.—A ship, whether a steam ship or a sailing ship, when at anchor, shall carry, where it can best be seen, but at a height not exceeding 20 feet above the hull, a white light, in a globular lantern of not less than 8 inches in diameter, and so constructed as to show a clear uniform and unbroken light visible all round the horizon, at a distance of at least one mile.

Article 9.—A pilot vessel, when engaged on her station on pilotage duty, shall not carry the light required for other vessels, but shall carry a white light at the masthead, visible all round the horizon, and shall also exhibit a flare-up light or flare-up lights at short intervals, which shall never exceed fifteen minutes.

A pilot vessel, when not engaged on her station on pilotage duty, shall carry lights similar to those of other ships.

Article 10.—Open boats and fishing vessels of less than 20 tons net registered tonnage, when under way and when not having their nets, trawls, dredges, or lines in the water, shall not be obliged to carry the coloured side lights; but every such boat and vessel shall in lieu thereof have ready at hand a lantern with a green glass on the one side, and a red glass on the other side, and on approaching to or being approached by another vessel such lantern shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision, so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side.

The following portion of this Article applies only to fishing vessels and boats when in the sea off the coast of Europe lying north of Cape Finisterre :—

(a) All fishing vessels and fishing boats of 20 tons net registered tonnage, or upwards, when under way and when not required by the following regulations in this Article to carry and show the lights therein named shall carry and show the same lights as other vessels under way.

(b) All vessels when engaged in fishing with drift nets shall exibit two white lights from any part of the vessel where they can be best seen. Such lights shall be placed so that the vertical distance between them shall be not less than 6 feet and not more than 10 feet; and so that the horizontal distance between them measured in a line with the keel of the vessel shall be not less than 5 feet and not more than 10 feet. The lower of these two lights shall be the more forward, and both of them shall be of such a character, and contained in lanterns of such construction as to show all round the horizon, on a dark night with a clear atmosphere, for a distance of not less than three miles.

(c) A vessel employed in line fishing with her lines out shall carry the same lights as a vessel when engaged in fishing with drift nets.

(d) If a vessel when fishing becomes stationary in consequence of her gear getting fast to a rock or other obstruction, she shall show the light and make the fog signal for a vessel at anchor.

(e) Fishing vessels and open boats may at any time use a flare-up in addition to the lights which they are by this Article required to carry and show. All flare-up lights exhibited by a vessel when trawling, dredging, or fishing with any kind of drag net shall be shown at the after part of the vessel, excepting that if the vessel is hanging by the stern to her trawl, dredge, or drag net, they shall be exhibited from the bow.

(f) Every fishing vessel and every open boat when at anchor between sunset and sunrise shall exhibit a white light visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least one mile.

(g) In fog, mist, or falling snow, a drift net vessel attached to her nets and a vessel when trawling, dredging or fishing with any kind of drag net, and a vessel employed in line fishing with her lines out, shall at intervals of not more than two minutes make a blast with her fog horn and ring her bell alternately.

Article 11. A ship which is being overtaken by another shall show from her stern to such last-mentioned ship a white light or a flare-up light.

Sound signals for fog, &c.

Article 12. A steam ship shall be provided with a steam whistle or other efficient steam sound signal, so placed that the sound may not be intercepted by any obstructions, and with an efficient fog horn to be sounded by a bellows or other mechanical means, and also with an efficient bell.* A sailing ship shall be provided with a similar fog horn and bell.

In fog, mist, or falling snow, whether by day or night, the signals described in this Article shall be used as follows; that is to say,—

(a) A steam ship under way shall make with her steam whistle, or other steam sound signal, at intervals of not more than two minutes, a prolonged blast.

* In all cases where the Regulations require a bell to be used, a drum will be substituted on board Turkish vessels.

(b) A sailing ship under way shall make with her fog horn, at intervals of not more than two minutes, when on the starboard tack one blast, when on the port tack two blasts in succession, and when with the wind abaft the beam three blasts in succession.

(c) A steam ship and a sailing ship, when not under way, shall at intervals of not more than two minutes ring the bell.

Speed of ships to be moderate in fog, &c.

Article 13. Every ship, whether a sailing ship or steam ship, shall, in a fog, mist, or falling snow, go at a moderate speed.

Steering and Sailing Rules.

Article 14. When two sailing ships are approaching one another, so as to involve risk of collision, one of them shall keep out of the way of the other, as follows, viz.:—

(a) A ship which is running free shall keep out of the way of a ship which is close-hauled.

(b) A ship which is close-hauled on the port tack shall keep out of the way of a ship which is close-hauled on the starboard tack.

(c) When both are running free with the wind on different sides, the ship which has the wind on the port side shall keep out of the way of the other.

(d) When both are running free with the wind on the same side, the ship which is to windward shall keep out of the way of the ship which is to leeward.

(e) A ship which has the wind aft shall keep out of the way of the other ship.

Article 15. If two ships under steam are meeting end on, or nearly end on, so as to involve risk of collision, each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other.

This Article only applies to cases where ships are meeting end on, or nearly end on, in such a manner as to involve risk of collision, and does not apply to two ships which must, if both keep on their respective courses, pass clear of each other.

The only cases to which it does apply are, when each of the two ships is end on, or nearly end on, to the other; in other words, to cases in which, by day, each ship sees the masts of the other in a line, or nearly in a line with her own; and by night, to cases in which each ship is in such a position as to see both the side lights of the other.

It does not apply by day to cases in which a ship sees another ahead crossing her own course or by night to cases where the red light of one ship is opposed to the red light of the other or where the green light of one ship is opposed to the green light of the other, or where a red light without a green light, or a green light without a red light, is seen ahead, or where both green and red lights are seen anywhere but ahead.

Article 16. If two ships under steam are crossing so as to involve risk of collision, the ship which has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other.

Article 17. If two ships, one of which is a sailing ship and the other a steam ship, are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision, the steam ship shall keep out of the way of the sailing ship.

Article 18. Every steam ship, when approaching another ship, so as to involve risk of collision, shall slacken her speed or stop and reverse, if necessary.

Article 19. In taking any course authorised or required by these regulations, a steam ship under way may indicate that course to any other ship which she has in sight by the following signals on her steam whistle, viz.—

One short blast to mean "I am directing my course to starboard."
Two short blasts to mean "I am directing my course to port."
Three short blasts to mean "I am going full speed astern."

The use of these signals is optional, but if they are used the course of the ship must be in accordance with the signal made.

Article 20. Notwithstanding anything contained in any preceding Article, every ship, whether a sailing ship or a steam ship, overtaking any other, shall keep out of the way of the overtaken ship.

Article 21. In narrow channels every steam ship shall, when it is safe and practicable, keep to that side of the fairway or mid-channel which lies on the starboard side of such ship.

Article 22.—Where by the above rules one of two ships is to keep out of the way, the other shall keep her course.

Article 23. In obeying and construing these rules due regard shall be had to all dangers of navigation, and to any special circumstances which may render a departure from the above rules necessary in order to avoid immediate danger.

No ship under any circumstances to neglect proper precautions.

Article 24. Nothing in these rules shall exonerate any ship, or the owner, or master, or crew thereof, from the consequences of any neglect to carry lights or signals, or of any neglect to keep a proper look out, or of the neglect of any precaution which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen, or by the special circumstances of the case.

Reservation of Rules for Harbours and Inland Navigation.

Article 25. Nothing in these rules shall interfere with the operation of a special rule, duly made by local authority, relative to the navigation of any harbour, river, or inland navigation.

Special lights for Squadrons and Convoys.

Article 26. Nothing in these rules shall interfere with the operation of any special rules made by the Government of any nation with respect to additional station and signal lights for two or more ships of war or for ships sailing under convoy.

Article 27. When a ship is in distress and requires assistance from other ships or from the shore, the following shall be the signals to be used or displayed by her, either together or separately, that is to say:

In the day time—

1. A gun fired at intervals of about a minute;
2. The International Code signal of distress indicated by N C;
3. The distant signal, consisting of a square flag, having either above or below it a ball, or anything resembling a ball.

At night—

1. A gun fired at intervals of about a minute;
2. Flames on the ship (as from a burning tar barrel, oil barrel, &c.);
3. Rockets or shells, throwing stars of any colour or description, fired one at a time, at short intervals.

The 27th day of November 1896.

PRESENT:

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

And whereas the Admiralty and the Board of Trade have jointly recommended to Her Majesty that the Regulations for preventing collisions at sea contained in the Schedule to the said Order in Council, dated the 11th day of August 1884, except the Article numbered 10 in such Regulations, should, on and after the 1st day of July 1897, be annulled, and that the Regulations for Preventing Collisions at Sea contained in Schedule I hereto annexed should, on and after the last-mentioned date, be substituted therefor, with the exception aforesaid and come into operation as regards British ships and boats:

And whereas it has been made to appear to Her Majesty that it is expedient that the Regulations or Rules as to signals of distress contained in the Schedule to the said Order in Council, dated the 11th day of August 1884, should, on and after the said first day of July 1897, be annulled, and that the rules as to signals of distress contained in Schedule II hereto annexed should, on and after the last-mentioned date, be substituted therefor and come into operation as regards British ships and boats:

C. L. PEEL.

SCHEDULE I.

Preliminary.

These Rules shall be followed by all vessels upon the high seas and in all waters connected therewith, navigable by sea-going vessels.

In the following rules every steam vessel which is under sail and not under steam is to be considered a sailing vessel, and every vessel under steam, whether under sail or not, is to be considered a steam vessel.

The word "steam vessel" shall include any vessel propelled by machinery.

A vessel is "under way" within the meaning of these Rules, when she is not at anchor, or made fast to the shore or aground.

Rules concerning Lights, &c.

The word "visible" in these Rules, when applied to lights, shall mean visible on a dark night with clear atmosphere.

Article 1.—The Rules concerning lights shall be complied with in all weathers from sunset to sunrise and during such time no other lights which may be mistaken for the prescribed lights shall be exhibited.

Article 2.—A steam vessel when under way shall carry—

(a) On or in front of the foremast, or if a vessel without a foremast, then in the fore part of the vessel, at a height above the hull of not less than 20 feet, and if the breadth of the vessel exceeds 20 feet, then at a height above the hull not less than such breadth, so, however, that the light need not be carried at a greater height above the hull than 40 feet, a bright white light, so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 20 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light 10 points on each side of the vessel, viz., from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on either side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 5 miles.

(b) On the starboard side a green light so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the starboard side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 2 miles.

(c) On the port side a red light so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on the port side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 2 miles.

(d) The said green and red side-lights shall be fitted with inboard screens projecting at least 3 feet forward from the light, so as to prevent these lights from being seen across the bow.

(e) A steam vessel when under way may carry an additional white light similar in construction to the light mentioned in subdivision (a). These two lights shall be so placed in line with the keel that one shall be at least 15 feet higher than the other, and in such a position with reference to each other that the lower light shall be forward of the upper one. The vertical distance between these lights shall be less than the horizontal distance.

Article 3.—A steam vessel when towing another vessel shall, in addition to her side-lights, carry two bright white lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart, and when towing more than one vessel shall carry an additional bright white light 6 feet above or below such lights, if the length of the tow, measuring from the stern of the towing vessel to the stern of the last vessel towed exceeds 600 feet. Each of these lights shall be of the same construction and character, and shall be carried in the same position as the white light mentioned in Article 2 (a), except the additional light, which may be carried at a height of not less than 14 feet above the hull.

Such steam vessel may carry a small white light abaft the funnel or aftermast for the vessel towed to steer by, but such light shall not be visible forward of the beam.

Article 4 (a).—A vessel which from any accident is not under command shall carry at the same height as the white light mentioned in Article 2 (a), where they can best be seen, and, if a steam vessel, in lieu of that light two red lights, in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart, and of such a character as to be visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least 2 miles, and shall by day carry in a vertical line one over the other not less than 6 feet apart, where they can best be seen, two black balls or shapes each 2 feet in diameter.

(b) A vessel employed in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable shall carry in the same position as the white light mentioned in Article 2 (a), and if a steam vessel, in lieu of that light, three lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart. The highest and lowest of these lights shall be red, and the middle light shall be white, and they shall be of such a character as to be visible all round the horizon, at a distance of at least 2 miles. By day she shall carry in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart, where they can best be seen, three shapes not less than 2 feet in diameter, of which the highest and lowest shall be globular in shape and red in colour, and the middle one diamond in shape and white.

(c) The vessels referred to in this Article, when not making way through the water, shall not carry the side lights, but when making way shall carry them.

(d) The lights and shapes required to be shown by this Article are to be taken by other vessels as signal that the vessel showing them is not under command and cannot therefore get out of the way.

These signals are not signals of vessels in distress and requiring assistance. Such signals are contained in Article 31.

Article 5.—A sailing vessel under way, and any vessel being towed, shall carry the same lights as are prescribed by Article 2 for a steam vessel under way, with the exception of the white lights mentioned therein which they shall never carry.

Article 6.—Whenever, as in the case of small vessels under way during bad weather, the green and red side-lights cannot be fixed, these lights shall be kept at hand lighted and ready for use; and shall, on the approach of or to other vessels, be exhibited on their respective sides in sufficient time to prevent collision, in such manner as to make them most visible, and so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side, nor, if practicable, more than 2 points abaft the beam on their respective sides.

To make the use of these portable lights more certain and easy, the lanterns containing them shall each be painted outside with the colour of the light they respectively contain, and shall be provided with proper screens.

Article 7.—Steam vessels of less than 40, and vessels under oars or sails of less than 20, tons gross tonnage, respectively, and rowing boats, when under way, shall not be obliged to carry the lights mentioned in Article 2 (a) (b) and (c), but if they do not carry them, they shall be provided with the following lights:—

1. Steam vessels of less than 40 tons shall carry:

   (a) In the fore part of the vessel, or on or in front of the funnel where it can best be seen, and at a height above the gunwale of not less than 9 feet, a bright white light constructed and fixed as prescribed in Article 2 (a), and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 2 miles.

   (b) Green and red side-lights constructed and fixed as prescribed in Article 2 (b) and (c), and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 1 mile, or a combined lantern showing a green light and a red light from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on their respective sides. Such lantern shall be carried not less than 3 feet below the white light.

2. Small steamboats, such as are carried by sea-going vessels, may carry the white light at a less height than 9 feet above the gunwale, but it shall be carried above the combined lantern, mentioned in subdivision 1 (b).

3. Vessels under oars or sails, of less than 20 tons, shall have ready at hand a lantern with a green glass on one side and a red glass on the other, which, on the approach of or two other vessels, shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision, so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side.

4. Rowing boats, whether under oars, or sail, shall have ready at hand a lantern showing a white light, which shall be temporarily exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision.

The vessels referred to in this Article shall not be obliged to carry the lights prescribed by Article 4 (a) and Article 11, last paragraph.

Article 8.—Pilot vessels, when engaged on their station on pilotage duty shall not show the lights required for other vessels, but shall carry a white light at the masthead, visible all round the horizon, and shall also exhibit a flare-up light or flare-up lights at short intervals, which shall never exceed 15 minutes.

On the near approach of or to other vessels they shall have their side-lights lighted, ready for use, and shall flash or show them at short intervals, to indicate the direction in which they are heading, but the green light shall not be shown on the port side, nor the red light on the starboard side.

A pilot-vessel of such a class as to be obliged to go alongside of a vessel to put a pilot on board, may show the white light instead of carrying it at the masthead, and may, instead of the coloured lights above mentioned, have at hand ready for use a lantern with a green glass on the one side and a red glass on the other, to be used as prescribed above.

Pilot vessels, when not engaged on their station on pilotage duty, shall carry lights similar to those of other vessels of their tonnage.

*Article 9.

Article 10.—A vessel which is being overtaken by another shall show from her stern to such last-mentioned vessel a white light or a flare-up light.

The white light required to be shown by this Article may be fixed and carried in a lantern, but in such case the lantern shall be so constructed, fitted, and screened that it shall throw an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 12 points of the compass, viz., for 6 points from right aft on each side of the vessel, so as to be visible at a distance of at least 1 mile. Such light shall be carried as nearly as practicable on the same level as the side-lights.

Article 11.—A vessel under 150 feet in lenght, when at anchor, shall carry forward, where it can best be seen, but at a height not exceeding 20 feet above the hull, a white light in a lantern as constructed as to show a clear uniform and unbroken light visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least 1 mile.

A vessel of 150 feet or upwards in length, when at anchor, shall carry in the forward part of the vessel, at a height of not less than 20, and not exceeding 40 feet above the hull, one such light and at or near the stern of the vessel, and at such a height that it shall be not less than 15 feet lower than the forward light, another such light.

The length of a vessel shall be deemed to be the length appearing in her certificate of registry.

A vessel aground in or near a fairway shall carry the above light or lights and the two red lights prescribed by Article 4 (a).

Article 12.—Every vessel may, if necessary in order to attract attention, in addition to the lights which she is by these Rules required to carry, show a flare-up light or use any detonating signal that cannot be mistaken for a distress signal.

Article 13.—Nothing in these Rules shall interfere with the operation of any special rules made by the Government of any nation with respect to additional station and signal lights for two or more ships of war or for vessels sailing under convoy, or with the exhibition of recognition signals adopted by shipowners, which have been authorized by their respective Governments and duly registered and published.

Article 14.—A steam vessel proceeding under sail only, but having her funnel up, shall carry in daytime, forward, where it can best be seen, one black ball or shape 2 feet in diameter.

Sound-Signals for Fog, etc.

Article 15.—All signals prescribed by this Article for vessels under way shall be given :

1. By "steam vessels" on the whistle or siren.
2. By "sailing vessels and vessels towed" on the fog-horn.

The words "prolonged blast" used in this Article, shall mean a blast of from 4 to 6 seconds' duration.

A steam vessel shall be provided with an efficient whistle or siren, sounded by steam or some substitute for steam, so placed that the sound may not be intercepted by any obstruction, and with an efficient fog-horn,to be sounded by mechanical means, and also with an efficient bell.† A sailing vessel of 20 tons gross tonnage or upwards shall be provided with a similar fog-horn and bell.

In fog, mist, falling snow, or heavy rain storms, whether by day or night, the signals described in this Article shall be used as follows, viz. :—

(a) A steam vessel having way upon her, shall sound, at intervals of not more than 2 minutes, a prolonged blast.

(b) A steam vessel under way, but stopped and having no way upon her, shall sound at intervals of not more than 2 minutes, 2 prolonged blasts, with an interval of about 1 second between them.

(c) A sailing vessel under way shall sound, at intervals of not more than 1 minute, when on the starboard tack one blast, when on the port tack two blasts in succession, and when with the wind abaft the beam three blasts in succession.

(d) A vessel, when at anchor, shall, at intervals of not more than 1 minute, ring the bell rapidly for about 5 seconds.

(e) A vessel, when towing a vessel employed in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable, and a vessel under way, which is unable to get out of the way of an approaching vessel through being not under command, or unable to manœuvre as required by these Rules, shall, instead of the signals prescribed in sub-divisions (a) and (c) of the Article, at intervals of not more than 2 minutes, sound three blasts in succession, viz., one prolonged blast followed by two short blasts. A vessel towed may give this signal and she shall not give any other.

Sailing-vessels and boats of less than 20 tons gross tonnage shall not be obliged to give the above-mentioned signals, but if they do not, they shall make some other efficient sound-signal at intervals of not more than 1 minute.

* This Article will deal with regulations affecting fishing boats, and will be the subject of another Order, which will be submitted to Her Majesty for approval at a later date.

† In all cases where the Rules require a bell to be used, a drum may be substituted on board Turkish vessels, or a gong where such articles are used on board shall sea-going vessels.

Speed of Ships to be Moderate in Fog, etc.

Article 16.—Every vessel shall, in a fog, mist, falling snow, or heavy rain-storms, go at a moderate speed having careful regard to the existing circumstances and conditions.

A steam vessel hearing, apparently forward of her beam, the fog-signal of a vessel the position of which is not ascertained, shall, so far as the circumstances of the case admit, stop her engines, and then navigate with caution until danger of collision is over.

Steering and Sailing Rules.

Preliminary—Risk of Collision.

Risk of collision can, when circumstances permit, be ascertained by carefully watching the compass bearing of an approaching vessel. If the bearing does not appreciably change, such risk should be deemed to exist.

Article 17.—When two sailing vessels are approching one another, so as to involve risk of collision, one of them shall keep out of the way of the other, as follows, viz:—

(a) A vessel which is running free shall keep out of the way of a vessel which is close-hauled.

(b) A vessel which is close hauled on the port tack shall keep out of the way of a vessel which is close-hauled on the starboard tack.

(c) When both are running free, with the wind on different sides, the vessel which has the wind on the port side shall keep out of the way of the other.

(d) When both are running free, with the wind on the same side, the vessel which is to windward shall keep out of the way of the vessel which is to leeward.

(e) A vessel which has the wind aft shall keep out of the way of the other vessel.

Article 18.—When two steam vessels are meeting end on, or nearly end on, so as to involve risk of collision, each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other.

This Article only applies to cases where vessels are meeting end on, or nearly end on, in such a manner as to involve risk of collision, and does not apply to two vessels which must, if both keep on their respective courses, pass clear of each other.

The only cases to which it does apply are when each of the two vessels is end on, or nearly end on, to the other; in other words to cases in which, by day, each vessel sees the masts of the other in a line, or nearly in a line, with her own; and, by night, to cases in which each vessel is in such a position as to see both the side-lights of the other.

It does not apply, by day, to cases in which a vessel sees another ahead crossing her own course; or by night to cases where the red light of one vessel is opposed to the red light of the other, or where the green light of one vessel is opposed to the green light of the other, or where a red light without a green light, or a green light without a red light, is seen ahead, or where both green and red lights are seen any where but ahead.

Article 19.—When two steam vessels are crossing, so as to involve risk of collision, the vessel which has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other.

Article 20.—When a steam vessel and a sailing vessel are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision, the steam vessel shall keep out of the way of the sailing vessel.

Article 21.—Where by any of the Rules one of two vessels is to keep out of the way, the other shall keep her course and speed.

Note.—When, in consequence of thick weather or other causes, such vessel finds herself so close that collision cannot be avoided by the action of the giving-way vessel alone, she also shall take such action as will best aid to avert collision. (See articles 27 and 29.)

Article 22.—Every vessel which is directed by these Rules to keep out of the way of another vessel shall, if the circumstances of the case admit, avoid crossing ahead of the other.

Article 23.—Every steam vessel, which is directed by these Rules to keep out of the way of another vessel shall on approaching her, if necessary, slacken her speed or stop or reverse.

Article 24.—Notwithstanding anything contained in these Rules, every vessel, overtaking any other, shall keep out of the way of the overtaken vessel.

Every vessel coming up with another vessel from any direction more than two points abaft, her beam, i.e., in such a position, with reference to the vessel which she is overtaking, that at night she would be unable to see either of that vessel's side-lights, shall be deemed to be an overtaking vessel; and no subsequent alteration of the bearing between the two vessels shall make the overtaking vessel a crossing vessel within the meaning of these Rules, or relieve her of the duty of keeping clear of the overtaken vessel until she is finally past and clear.

As by day the overtaking vessel cannot always know with certainty whether she is forwarded of or abaft this direction from the other vessel, she should, if in doubt, assume that she is an overtaking vessel and keep out of the way.

Article 25.—In narrow channels every steam vessel shall, when it is safe and practicable, keep to that side of fair-way or mid channel which lies on the starboard side of such vessel.

Article 26.—Sailing vessels under way shall keep out of the way of sailing vessels or boats fishing with nets or lines, or trawls. This Rule shall not give to any vessel or boat engaged in fishing the right of obstructing a fairway used by vessels other than fishing-vessels or boats.

Article 27.—In obeying and construing these Rules, due regard shall be had to all dangers of navigation and collision, and to any special circumstances which may render a departure from the above rules necessary in order to avoid immediate danger.

Sound Signals for Vessels in Sight of one another.

Article 28.—The words "short blast" used in this Article shall mean a blast of about one seconds duration

When vessels are in sight of one another, a steam vessel under way, in taking any course authorized or required by these Rules, shall indicate that course by the following signals on her whistle or siren, viz.:—

One short blast to mean, "I am directing my course to starboard."
Two short blasts to mean, "I am directing my course to port."
Three short blasts to mean, "My engines are going full speed astern."

No Vessel under any Circumstances to neglect proper Precautions.

Article 29.—Nothing in these Rules shall exonerate any vessel, or the owner, or master, or crew, thereof, from the consequences of any neglect to carry lights or signals, or of any neglect to keep a proper look-out, or of the neglect of any precaution which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen, or by the special circumstances of the case.

Reservation of Rules for Harbours and Inland Navigation.

Article 30.—Nothing in these Rules shall interfere with the operation of a special rule, duly made by local authority, relative to the navigation of any harbour, river, or inland waters.

SCHEDULE II.

Distress Signals.

Article 31.—When a vessel is in distress and requires assistance from other vessels or from the shore, the following shall be the signals to be used or displayed by her, either together or separately, viz.:—

In the day time—

1. A gun or other explosive signal fired at intervals of about a minute;
2. The International Code signal of distress indicated by N C;
3. The distance signal, consisting of a square flag, having either above or below it a ball or anything resembling a ball;
4. A continuous sounding with any fog-signal apparatus.

At night—

1. A gun or other explosive signal fired at intervals of about a minute;
2. Flames on the vessel (as from a burning tar-barrel, oil-barrel, etc.);
3. Rockets or shells, throwing stars of any colour or description, fired one at a time, at short intervals;
4. A continuous sounding with any fog-signal apparatus.

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE.

WE, the Members of the Select Committee appointed to consider the Bill to amend the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1895, have the honour to submit the following report:—

Papers Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

1. We have considered the marginally-noted reports on the Bill.

2. Section 6.—We have added clauses to provide for the recovery by the certificate procedure of—

(1) fees or costs awarded by a Revenue Authority under any law or any rule having the force of law, and

(2) any sum awarded as compensation under section 2 of Bengal Act VII of 1868.

Rules made by the Board of Revenue under section 27 of the Legal Practitioners Act (XVIII of 1879) authorise Revenue Officers to award fees, and the awards in these cases are final; but the law makes no provision for the realisation of the fees. If not voluntarily paid, they can now be recovered only by a civil suit. We think it obviously desirable that fees in such cases should be recoverable under the Public Demands Recovery Act.

Section 2 of Bengal Act VII of 1868 authorises the Commissioner to annul the sale of an estate for arrears of land revenue if it appears to him that the sale was not conducted according to the provisions of the law, awarding at the same time to the purchaser compensation for his loss if the sale had been occasioned by the neglect of the proprietor. The order of the Commissioner in such cases is final, but the law makes no provision for the realisation of the award, and, if not voluntarily paid, the sum awarded can only be realised by civil suit. We think it should be recoverable under the Public Demands Recovery Act.

We have removed the words "or hereafter" from the proposed new clause (d) (new numbering) to section 7 of the Act. The object of the clause is to make the Act applicable to existing laws, and it is unnecessary to refer to future enactments.

We have inserted the words "or the Revenue Authorities" after "Court of Wards" in the clause at the end of section 7 of the Act, so as to make the clause harmonise with clause (h) (new numbering) of that section.

3. Section 7.—No amendment is, in our opinion, required in this section. Various cases have been reported in which the certificate procedure is applied to the recovery of sums ultimately payable to patwaris, witnesses, &c., but in all these cases it is the duty of the District Collector to enforce payment, and we therefore consider that the Secretary of State should in each of them be regarded as the decree-holder.

4. Section 8.—We have struck out the references to private individuals. After careful consideration we find that there are no private individuals, other than the managers of estates under the Court of Wards or the Revenue Authorities, who are entitled to make requisitions for certificates. The words "private individual" in this section are therefore unnecessary.

Section 8 of the Bill has further been altered so as to follow more precisely clause (h) (new numbering) of section 7 of the Act, and to admit of requisitions being made by the Revenue Authority referred to in that clause or by a manager appointed by such Revenue Authority. In practice, managers of encumbered estates and other estates managed by the Revenue Authorities make requisitions for certificates. The insertion of the words "Revenue Authority" makes it clear that they may continue to do so.

5. Section 10.—The amendments proposed in section 17 of the Act are necessitated by the new provision in section 6 of the Bill authorising the recovery by the certificate procedure of fees or costs awarded under rules having the force of law.

6. Section 11.—This section, and clause (4) of section 3 of the Bill, are inserted in order to get rid of the words "Assistant Commissioner" wherever they occur in the Act. The designation "Assistant Commissioner" is obsolete in Bengal.

7. Section 12.—The object of the new section 20 which it is proposed to insert in the Act is to extend sections 311 and 313 of the Code of Civil Procedure to sales made in execution of certificates. This provision was accepted by the Council when the present law was under final discussion, but by an oversight the decision of the Council was not given effect to in printing the Act.

In reproducing the existing section 19 of the Act as section 21, we have altered the wording in order to make it clear that when a sale is set aside on payment of the sums due the certificate is not in effect cancelled but is satisfied. Satisfaction of the certificate is entered upon the certificate and in the register, as directed by section 26 of the Act, and it is in this way, and not by cancellation, that the operation of the certificate is brought to an end.

We have added a proviso to section 21 (new numbering) of the Act in order to prevent a judgment-debtor from applying for an order for setting aside a sale of immoveable property on payment of the sums due after he has sought to have the sale set aside on the ground of irregularity. This brings the section into conformity in this respect with the corresponding sections of the Code of Civil Procedure (section 310A) and the Bengal Tenancy Act (section 174).

8. Section 15.—This section supplies an omission in section 26 of the Act, the intention of which is that satisfaction should be entered in the register as well as upon the certificate.

9. Section 16.—Alterations have been made in this section in order to assimilate the wording of section 27 of the Act with that of section 9 as now amended.

10. Some further amendments have been made in the Bill, but they are all of a formal character and it is unnecessary to mention them in detail.

11. In settling the Bill we have as far as possible avoided making any alteration in the wording of the Act.

12. We annex to this report a copy of the Act in which are incorporated all the modifications made by the Bill as now amended.

13. We recommend that the Bill, as now amended, be passed.

I SIGN this Report. I reserve to myself the right of raising in Council the question as to the propriety of allowing private individuals and the Court of Wards to avail themselves of the summary and coercive provisions of this Act. I am aware that this point was settled by the Council in 1895. But I trust, having regard to the importance of the principle involved, I may be permitted to re-open it.

NOTE ON THE LATE COTTON CROP IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1896-97.

Note on the late Cotton Crop in Bengal for the year 1896-97.

Explanatory.—There are two Cotton Crops in these Provinces, viz., the early crop which is sown during the monsoon rains and harvested during the cold weather, and the late crop which is usually sown at the close of the rainy season, and harvested during the hot weather, in May and June. The Report on the early Cotton Crop was published by this Department on the 2nd December 1896. The present Report furnishes estimates of the area and outturn of the late crop.

Character of the season.—The season reviewed in this Note was characterized by general dryness. The monsoon of 1896 ceased early. In October, the usual time for sowing late cotton, the rainfall was in defect in all the late cotton-growing districts. The normal area could not be sown with late cotton, because of want of moisture in the soil. In November, the rainfall was deficient in all districts except Patna, Darbhanga, and Angul. In December the rainfall was above the normal in Bihar and below the normal in all the other late cotton-growing districts. In January, showers fell only in parts of Bihar and in Manbhum.

Area sown.—The total area sown with late cotton this year appears, from the appended statement, to amount to 75,400 acres against 104,800 acres sown in 1895-96, showing a decrease of 28 per cent. in the area sown. There has, no doubt, been a contraction in this area, owing to want of rain at the time of sowing, but the decrease noted above is chiefly due to the low estimate returned for Manbhum.

Character of the crop.—Deficiency of rain is reported to have adversely affected the outturn in all the late cotton-growing districts, except Saran, Champaran, and Angul. Sixteen-anna crops are reported from Champaran and Angul, the crop in the latter district having been greatly benefited by heavy rain in November. A 13-anna crop is reported from Saran, and the outturn would have been better if the crop had not been attacked by blight.

Out of the 15 districts for which estimates have been furnished in this report, two districts, as noted above, return an average crop of 16 annas; three districts, inclusive of Saran, with an area of 40,000 acres, or more than half the area sown, return crops varying from 12 to 13 annas; five districts estimate the crop between 8 and 11 annas; and three districts between 6 and 7 annas. Two districts, viz., Bhagalpur and Puri, report 4-anna crops only.

A comparison of this year's with last year's Returns shows that two districts now return better crops, one district an equal crop and 12 districts worse crops.

The arithmetical mean of the estimates of outturn, calculated with reference to the areas sown, amounts to 11 annas, and this estimate may be put forward as the probable average outturn of the present year's crop. Last year's late cotton crop for the Province was estimated at 12 annas.

Patna—concld. ...	Champaran ...	1,000	1,000	1,000	14	16	The prospect of the cotton crop has not been seriously injured by the excessive dryness of the year like other crops.
	Muzaffarpur ...	9,000	9,000	9,000	9	8	The reduced estimated outturn of the present year is due to scanty rain during the last rainy season.
	Darbhanga ...	9,500	7,500	7,300	12	10	Owing to insufficient rainfall this year the outturn will be less than that of last year. The crop is very insignificant in this district, and I can give no opinion from personal observation. I reproduce the figures reported. They are probably too low.	The Collector has changed the figures in columns 3 and 4 from 12,900 and 10,300 acres to 9,500 and 7,500 acres respectively, without explaining the change.
Bhagalpur ...	Monghyr ...	500	500	400	14	12	Owing to in sufficient rain, both the area sown and the estimated outturn are less than that of last year.
	Bhagalpur ...	2,700	2,700	2,000	12	4	Absence of moisture in the soil, due to deficient rainfall, explains the cause of decrease in the area and outturn shown in columns 5 and 7 respectively.	The estimate of outturn of 4 annas appears very low. It is doubtful whether the want of rain can have affected the cotton crop to such an extent.
	Cuttack ..	5,700	4,100	3,300	14	11	On account of prolonged drought and want of moisture, the area and outturn this year are less than those of last year, and also less than the normal area and outturn.

Orissa ...	Puri ...	2,300	1,200	800	10	4	Probably the outturn of this year has been under-estimated. The decrease in area is due to want of rain and consequent want of moisture in the soil at the time of sowing. The "normal area" appears to require revision. The outturn is expected to be small, on account of unfavourable weather at time of sowing.
	Balasore ...	250	200	25	14	12	The decrease in area and outturn is due to want of rain.
	Angul and Khondmals.	1,400	1,200	1,800	16	16	The figures in columns 3 and 4 have been corrected. The outturn is estimated at 16 annas, as plants were well irrigated by the heavy rainfall of November, and are doing well.	The Deputy Commissioner's Return showed 12 annas in column 7, but this figure has been changed to 16 annas, with reference to his remarks in column 6.
Chota Nagpur ...	Manbhum ...	22,000	22,000	1,200	10	6	The decrease in the area sown, and in the outturn, is due to want of rain.	The decrease in the area sown this year is remarkable.
	Singhbhum ...	3,500	3,500	3,100	12	64	The decrease in the outturn and in the area sown this year is due to insufficient rainfall.
	Total ...	114,700	104,900	76,400	13	11

N.B.—Twenty annas represent a bumper crop, 16 annas, an average crop, 12 annas, three-fourths of an average crop, and so on.

PRELIMINARY NOTE ON THE WHEAT CROP OF BENGAL, 1896-97.

THE following is published for general information.

REV. DEPT., The 15th February 1897.

M. FINUCANE, Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Preliminary Note on the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1896-97.

Explanatary.—Returns have been received from all the wheat-growing districts in these Provinces except two, viz., Darjeeling and Hazaribagh. In neither of these two districts is the wheat crop of much importance. The district returns appended hereto refer to the condition of the crop in the latter part of January. The date of each forecast is noted below the district concerned in column 2 of the returns.

The districts of the Patna Division contain a little under one-half, and those of the Bhagalpur Division about a third of the total wheat-growing area in these Provinces, which may be estimated at between a million and-a-quarter and a million and-a-half of acres. The Murshidabad and Rajshahi Districts are the more important wheat-growing districts in Bengal Proper.

2. Character of the season.—The monsoon rainfall of 1896 was not only very deficient, but came to an unusually early termination in the latter part of September. The month of October and the first three weeks of November were wholly rainless. The absence of rain during this period and the short rainfall of the previous months reduced the moisture of the soil and interfered with the preparation of land and the sowings of the rabi crops generally. Some light showers of rain fell on the 23rd and 24th November in Bihar and Chota Nagpur, but except in Patna, Gaya, Shahabad, Darbhanga, Palamau and Singhbhum, the rainfall was too scanty to do much good to the standing crops. In the latter part of December and the first week of January useful showers fell in all the important wheat-growing districts of Bihar and Chota Nagpur; and between the middle and end of January slight showers fell in parts of Saran, Champaran, and Darbhanga.

3. Area sown.—In consequence of the drought which set in at the end of September, the area sown in wheat this year shows a large falling off from that of the previous year. It will be seen from the appended district returns that the total area sown in wheat in these provinces, exclusive of Darjeeling and Hazaribagh, has been estimated at 1,234,500 acres against 1,414,300 acres in 1895-96, thus showing a decrease of 179,800 acres or 12·7 per cent. on the area sown last year. The returns for the last four years give an average area of 1,441,000 acres cultivated with wheat, exclusive of the areas sown in Darjeeling and Hazaribagh. The decrease in this year's area amounts to nearly 14 per cent. on the average for the last four years. The decrease is specially noticeable in Saran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Murshidabad, Nadia, and Palamau, where it is reported that large areas could not be sown for want of moisture. On the other hand, it is observed that in a few districts, noticeably in Shahabad and Gaya, the present year's area cultivated with wheat is in excess of the previous year's. The increase is ascribed to the failure of the winter rice crop, which induced cultivators to sow wheat in lands where the rice crop had failed.

4. Estimated outturn.—According to the prospects of the crop, as they appeared about the end of January, the outturn is expected to be between 10 and 11 annas or two-thirds of the average, or much the same as was obtained last year but over a larger area. The short rainfall of the last monsoon, and the entire absence of rain during October and the greater part of November, account for the poor prospects. The crop was benefited by the rain which fell at the end of December and in January; but this rain was not sufficient to change the crop into a good one. Only one district, viz., Gaya, has returned the crop to be 16 annas; three districts, viz., Saran, Malda and Rangpur report the crop to be between 12 and 16 annas; in ten districts, viz., Shahabad, Patna, Darbhanga, Muzaffarpur, Champaran, Monghyr, Purnea, Singhbhum, Mymensingh and Faridpur, the outturn is stated to be between 8 and 12 annas; in seven districts, viz., Bhagalpur, Sonthal Parganas, Rajshahi, Pabna, Manbhum, Bankura, Birbhum between 4 and 8 annas; and in Murshidabad, Nadia, Palamau, Lohardaga, Burdwan and Cuttack under 4 annas.

Estimating by Divisions, it may be roughly reckoned that over the reduced area cultivated, the Patna Division will have a 12-anna wheat crop, the Bhagalpur Division a crop not much over 9 annas, and the other Divisions taken together not half an average crop.

		Acres.	Acres.	Acres.	Annas.	Anna
Patna.	Shahabad ... 30th January 1897.	173,000	129,800	152,800	9½	10	The increase in area under wheat as compared with last year is due to the failure of the rice crop, a good deal of the rice area being utilized this year for rabi cultivation.
	Gaya ... 18th January 1897.	157,600	125,760	153,200	8	16	The increase of area in column 5 over that in column 4 is due to the fact that a considerable area of paddy lands which were left fallow for want of sufficient rain at the time of sowing and transplanting was sown with wheat after the rainfall in November. The increase in outturn is due to timely rainfall.
	Saran ... 28th January 1897.	147,500	147,500	89,500	8	13	Owing to the absence of sufficiant moisture during the month of October, the whole of the wheat producing tracts could not be sown. The rainfall in December, however, has improved the prospects; hence the outturn is reported to be better than last year's.	The reported decrease of area cultivated is very noticeable as compared with the figures returned for other Bihar districts, and is possibly incorrect.
	Patna ... 20th January 1897.	122,500	105,600	102,000	10½	11½	The decrease in the area sown this year is owing to the wheat land being sown with oilseeds. The rainfall in December last has improved the prospects, and the outturn will be better than previous year's.
	Darbhanga ... 25th January 1897.	110,200	100,400	90,000	8	11	Decrease in area and outturn is due to deficiency of rain. Owing to insufficient rain-fall and want of moisture at the time of sowing, the area sown is less than the normal area. The figures I have received are worthless, and I have had to make a very rough guess. The area given is certainly much below the normal in Madhubani, and I do not think the crop will exceed 4 annas, taken on the whole area usually under wheat. In Samastipur, I believe, it is a 14-anna crop, if not a 16-anna one. Of course I take 16 annas as an average and not a bumper crop.

Patna—contd.	Muzaffarpur 27th January 1897.	70,000	70,000	60,000	11	11	For want of sufficient moisture, due to the scanty rainfall during the rainy season, the estimated outturn is less than normal.
	Champaran 25th January 1897.	47,000	37,700	30,000	10	11	The area is much less than usual owing to the great lack of moisture consequent on the very early cessation of the rains, and the outturn will be less for the same cause and on account of the late sowings.
	Bhagalpur 18th January 1897.	214,000	192,200	171,100	10	7¼	The estimate of normal area has been slightly reduced in consequence of a revision by the Subdivisional Officer of Madhepura. Deficient rainfall and consequent want of moisture account for the decrease in area in column 5 and in outturn in column 7.
	Monghyr 22nd January 1897.	163,000	103,200	97,200	10½	14½	The rainfall being below the normal throughout the monsoon season, a smaller area was cultivated this year.
Bhagalpur.	Malda ... 8th January 1897.	86,500	42,000	47,000	14	13	Insufficient rain in October, November and December has made the sowings below the normal, and the outturn below the average.
	Purnea ... 16th January 1897.	34,000	23,500	24,500	12	11	The increase in the area is due to the fact that more lands have been sown in the Araria subdivision with wheat in consequence of the partial failure of winter paddy. There being no rainfall during the sowing season the growth of the plant was retarded, hence the outturn is expected to be 11 annas; but if there is another shower in January a better outturn (13 annas) is expected.
	Santhal Parganas 25th January 1897.	14,900	11,700	8,100	9	7	The distribution of rainfall was not favourable, hence the area cultivated is less than that of last year. The outturn will be also less than that of last year.	The estimated normal area (column 5) has been reduced by 400 acres.
Presidency.	Murshidabad ... 20th January 1897.	150,500	129,900	93,600	8	3	The first sowing in Pakour was destroyed by caterpillers. The decrease in the area sown as well as in the estimated outturn this year, as compared with the normal and the last year's area and outturn, is due to want of rain.
	Nadia ... 16th January 1897.	27,500	17,400	4,600	7	3½	The marked decrease in the area sown and in the estimated outturn is due to the continued want of rain during the ploughing and sowing season.

RAJSHAHI.	Rajshahi ... ... 23rd January 1897.	84,500	78,500	69,400	10½	7	The decrease in area sown and in estimated outturn is due to want of moisture and seasonable rain. If there be no rain during the present quarter, the outturn will probably be less than that shown in column 7.
	Rangpur ... ... 22nd January 1897.	40,000	32,700	33,700	13	14	Up to date there is nothing to prevent a good outturn, but little importance is attached to the crop in this district, and the soil is not prepared with any care.
	Pabna ... 16th January 1897.	23,000	15,400	15,400	16	7	Owing to the entire absence of rainfall in the month of December a poor outturn is expected.
	Darjeeling ...	5,000	5,100	.....	8	...	.....	Return not received.
CHOTA NAGPUR.	Palamau ... 18th January 1897.	19,004	18,000	4,500	12	2	Owing to the, want of rain in proper time, and also to the damage done to the crop by insects, the crop will hardly be a two-anna one.
	Hazaribagh ...	9,500	8,000	. ..	11	.....	... .	Ditto.
	Manbhum ... 21st January 1897.	8,000	8,000	1,600	4	5	The decrease in the area sown and in the outturn is due to the scanty rainfall.
	Singhbhum ... 15th January 1897.	2,600	2,600	1,600	10	6	There has been less area under cultivation for want of sufficient rainfall in time.
	Lohardaga ... 1st February 1897	2,200	1,000	500	8	3	The decrease in the area sown and in the outturn this year is due to want of rain and moisture in the soil
DACCA.	Mymensingh ... 18th January 1897.	14,100	10,000	8,000	12	8	Owing to want of seasonable rainfall, a smaller area was brought under cultivation of the crop, and the probable outturn will also be less by 4 annas than that of previous years.
	Faridpur ... ... 23rd January 1897.	2,000	1,800	2,200	16	8	Owing to failure of paddy, the cultivators sowed more land with wheat, hence the increase in area in column 4. The outturn is expected to be very poor, owing to absence of rain during the growing season.

The importation of rice showed an advance of 639·27 per cent. in comparison with the preceding year. The supplies drawn from Rangoon, Moulmein, and Akyab aggregated 205,015 cwts., against merely 3 cwts. in 1896, while the quantities shipped from Balasore and Chandbali jointly showed a decrease of 15,911 cwts. In the case of paddy also, Rangoon contributed largely, namely 13,408 cwts. As regards gram and pulses, the falling off in the consignments from Chandbali was compensated for by an increase in the shipments from Coconada.

Exports.—In the following statement the total quantity of each kind of food-grains exported by sea during the first week of February 1897 is compared with the figures for 1896 :—

Foreign Ports.

As in the week ending 21st January 1897, so in this week there was a considerable increase in the supplies of rice carried to foreign ports, the total quantity exported being 307,464 cwts., against only 75,995 cwts. in the preceding year. The shipments to Mauritius, Reunion, Aden, Arabia (other than Maskat), Abyssinia, Cape Colony, and the Eastern Coast of Africa amounted altogether to 200,955 cwts. against nil in 1896; while to the United Kingdom and Ceylon there was an increase of 36,565 cwts. and 8,674 cwts. respectively. Gram and pulses also were exported in large quantities to Mauritius, Reunion, and Ceylon.

Indian Ports.

The chief feature of the trade with Indian ports is an increase of 11,731 cwts. of rice shipped for Bombay, and a complete cessation of exports to the Madras ports.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below.

Imports. The import trade of Chittagong showed a rise of 3,668 cwts., which is mainly due to the receipts of rice from Burma Ports. The falling off under Balasore is due to the cessation of exports to Mauritius and Cochin, which together were supplied with 44,954 cwts. of rice and 1,050 cwts. of paddy during the 3rd week of January 1896. The export trade of Cuttack and Puri, too, declined by 2,425 and 7,045 cwts., respectively, during the period under report, in consequence of smaller shipments to Foreign Ports.

Exports.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—
